(théologien.), 1976 The Study of Religion in an Age of Global Dialogue Leonard J. Swidler, Paul Mojzes, 2000

Religion is the most fundamental comprehensive of all human activities it tries to make sense out of not simply one or another aspect of human life but of all aspects of human experience At the core of every civilization lies its religion which both reflects and shapes it Thus if we wish to understand human life in general and our specific culture and history we need to understand religion What is religion Religion is an explanation of the ultimate meaning of life and how to live accordingly based on a notion of the Transcendent Normally it contains the four C s Creed Code Cult Community structure CREED refers To The cognitive aspect of a religion it is everything that goes into the explanation of the ultimate meaning of life CODE OF BEHAVIOR or ethics includes all the rules and customs of action that somehow follow from one aspect or another of the Creed CULT means all the ritual activities that relate the follower to one aspect or another of the Transcendent either directly or indirectly prayer being an example of the former and certain formal behavior toward representatives of the Transcendent such as priests of the latter COMMUNITY STRUCTURE refers To The relationships among the followers this can vary widely from a very egalitarian relationship As among Quakers through a republican structure as Presbyterians have To a monarchical one As with some Hasidic Jews have with their Rebbe THE TRANSCENDENT As the roots of the word indicate means that which goes beyond the everyday The ordinary The surface experience of reality it can mean spirits gods a Personal God An Impersonal God Emptiness etc This volume looks at the ways we humans have developed to study religion However a new age in human consciousness is now dawning The Age of Global Dialogue a radically new consciousness which fundamentally shifts the ways we understand everything in life including religion This global dialogical way of understanding life does not lead to one global religion but it does lead toward a consciously acknowledged common set of ethical principles a Global Ethic The book looks at these two movements the Age of Global Dialogue and inchoative Global Ethic in order to help readers understand what is going on around them So they might make informed intelligent decisions about the meaning of life and how to live it Author note Leonard Swidler is Professor of Religion at Temple University Paul Mojzesis Academic Dean and Professor of Religious Studies at Rosemount College Paths to the Divine Vensus A. George, 2008 Primal Religion and the Bible Gillian M. Bediako, 1997-08-01 This important study of the published and unpublished writings of Scotland s most brilliant and controversial nineteenth century theologian focuses on his concern to situate biblical religion within the context of the primal religions of Israel s neighbours The book explores the implications of the relationship between the Christian faith and primal religion Robertson Smith has still a contribution to make to contemporary discussion of the phenomenology of the Christian faith and Christian responses to religious pluralism Primitive Religion Robert Harry Lowie,1925 Classical Approaches to the Study of Religion Jacques Waardenburg,2017-01-23 Waardenburg's magisterial essay traces the rise and development of the academic study of religion from the mid nineteenth to the mid twentieth century outlining the establishment of the discipline its connections with other fields religion as a subject of research and perspectives on a phenomenological study of religion Furthermore a second part comprises an anthology of texts from 41 scholars whose work was programmatic in the evolution of the academic study of religion Each chapter presents a particular approach theory and method relevant to the study of religion The pieces selected for this volume were taken from the discipline of religious studies as well as from related fields such as anthropology sociology and psychology to name a few

A Primal Perspective on the Philosophy of Religion Arvind Sharma,2006-09-09 What am I trying to accomplish through the exercise which I have undertaken namely to examine the philosophy of religion in the light of primal religions If to choose someone else's expression to characterize one's own intellectual endeavour is an indication of one's own lack of imagination then I must plead guilty to that charge but not to that of lack of gratitude for I have to thank Robin Horton for describing better than I can what I have attempted in the book It is an exercise in what he calls translational understanding I quote him now By translational understanding I mean the kind of understanding of a particular thought system that results from the successful translation of the language and conceptual system that embody it into terms of a language and conceptual system that currently enjoy world status In talking of translation of course I am not just talking of the provision of dictionary equivalents for individual words or sentences I am talking about finding a world language equivalent for a whole realm of discourse and of showing in world language terms what the point of that realm of discourse is in the life of the people who use it Translation in this broader sense can be very arduous There may be no realm of discourse in the world language that exactly fits the bill We may have to bend and refashion existing realms and even redefine their guiding intentions

Theories of Religion Seth Daniel Kunin,Jonathan Miles-Watson,2006 This book provides a comprehensive selection of readings that relate to and explore the definition of religion The texts come from a wide range of approaches unified both by the questions they are addressing and their broadly social scientific perspective The disciplines covered include anthropology phenomenology psychology and sociology The editors have also included some key texts relating to the feminist approach to and critique of religion The first section of the book includes some of the foundational texts such as materials by Marx Freud and Durkheim The remaining sections look at more recent discussions of the issues from the different disciplinary perspectives Each reading is introduced by a biographical sketch of the author The book also includes introductory discussions to each section that both raise the key issues developed in a particular discipline and address the disciplinary approaches from a more critical stance Theories of Religion A Reader is an invaluable critical resource accessible to a broad audience as well as students of theology and religious studies The Mystery-religions Samuel Angus,2011-11-02

This classic study offers an understanding of the ancient religious cults exploring their appeal and eventual failure in the face of Christianity Topics include the Eleusinian mysteries of ancient Greece Asiatic cults of Cybele the Magna Mater and Attis Dionysian groups Orphics Egyptian devotees of Isis and Osiris Mithraism and others

Religion and Global Culture

Jennifer I. M. Reid,2003-01-01 Religion and Global Culture draws together the work of a group of historians of religion who are concerned with situating the contemporary study of religion within the cultural complexity of the modern world The writing of each of the volume s contributors relates to the work of leading historian of religion Charles H Long who has identified religious meanings in the contacts and exchanges of the colonial and postcolonial periods Together with Long these scholars explore religious practices in a variety of globalized contexts chapters consider such varied subjects as the rituals of African immigrant communities in the United States the making of Mohawk sweet grass and black ash baskets the religious experience of prisoners in the Nazi holding camp of Westerbork and the regional repercussions of contemporary multi national business By locating religion in the conflicted and cooperative relationships of the colonial and postcolonial periods Religion and Global Culture calls on scholars of religion to reconfigure their interpretive stances from the perspective of the material structures of the modern globalized world

The Invention of World Religions

Tomoko Masuzawa,2005-05-15 The idea of world religions expresses a vague commitment to multiculturalism Not merely a descriptive concept world religions is actually a particular ethos a pluralist ideology a logic of classification and a form of knowledge that has shaped the study of religion and infiltrated ordinary language In this ambitious study Tomoko Masuzawa examines the emergence of world religions in modern European thought Devoting particular attention to the relation between the comparative study of language and the nascent science of religion she demonstrates how new classifications of language and race caused Buddhism and Islam to gain special significance as these religions came to be seen in opposing terms Aryan on one hand and Semitic on the other Masuzawa also explores the complex relation of world religions to Protestant theology from the hierarchical ordering of religions typical of the Christian supremacists of the nineteenth century to the aspirations of early twentieth century theologian Ernst Troeltsch who embraced the pluralist logic of world religions and by so doing sought to reclaim the universalist destiny of European modernity

Religion in Primitive Culture

Edward Burnett Tylor,1970 The author argues that religion had been used to explain things that occurred in the world He saw that it was important for religions to have the ability to explain why and for what reason things occurred in the world For example God or the divine gave us sun to keep us warm and give us light He argues that animism is the essential foundation of all religions Animism is the belief in spirits inhabiting and animating beings or souls existing in things To the author the fact that 19th century religious practitioners continued to believe in spirits showed that they were no more advanced than primitive societies For him this implied that religious practitioners do not understand the ways of the universe and how life truly works because they have excluded science from their understanding of the world By excluding scientific explanation he asserts that contemporary religious practitioners are rudimentary He perceived the modern religious belief in God as a survival of primitive ignorance However he did not believe that atheism was the logical end of cultural and religious development but instead a highly minimalist form of monotheist deism He therefore posited an anthropological description of the gradual elimination of paganism and disenchantment but not secularization Adapted from Wikipedia

Introduction to Missiology Alan Richard Tippett, 1987 While teaching at Fuller School of World Mission Tippett inspired and challenged the founding generation of great commission or church growth missiologists This collection brings together almost 40 of his best writings In a style that is both academic and personal he deals first with missiological theory then with anthropological and historical dimensions of missiology He then treats a number of specific missiological problems from these perspectives including seminal material on power encounters

Wilderness in Mythology and Religion Laura Feldt, 2012-10-01 Wilderness is one of the most abiding creations in the history of religions It has a long and seminal history and is of contemporary relevance in wildlife preservation and climate discourses Yet it has not previously been subject to scrutiny or theorising from a cross cultural study of religions perspective What are the specific relations between the world's religions and imagined and real wilderness areas The wilderness is often understood as a domain void of humans opposed to civilization but the analyses in this book complicate and question the dualism of previous theoretical grids and offer new perspectives on the interesting multiplicity of the wilderness and religion nexus This book thus addresses the need for cross cultural anthropological and history of religions analyses by offering in depth case studies of the use and functions of wilderness spaces in a diverse range of contexts including but not limited to ancient Greece early Christian asceticism Old Norse religion the shamanism Buddhism encounter in Mongolia contemporary paganism and wilderness spirituality in the US It advances research on religious spatialities cosmologies and ideas of wild nature and brings new understanding of the role of religion in human interaction with the world

A Guide to the Phenomenology of Religion James L. Cox, 2006-06-15 The phenomenological method in the study of religions has provided the linchpin supporting the argument that Religious Studies constitutes an academic discipline in its own right and thus that it is irreducible either to theology or to the social sciences This book examines the figures whom the author regards as having been most influential in creating a phenomenology of religion Background factors drawn from philosophy theology and the social sciences are traced before examining the thinking of scholars within the Dutch British and North American schools of religious phenomenology

Early Modern Social Theory Murray E. G. Smith, 1998 Early Modern Social Theory Selected Interpretive Readings is a collection of essays that illuminates the course of development of modern social thought from the Enlightenment to the 1920s The essays focus on the most prominent social theorists including Smith Durkheim Marx and Engels and Weber Each essay has been chosen to provide the main contributions of the theorist and the political and economic context in which he worked The editor a noted scholar in the field has written clear concise introductions to each section and provided a glossary of frequently used philosophical terms The collection includes two famous feminist critiques of the literature by Rosalind Sydie and Lise Vogel as well as papers by Tom Bottomorw on Max Weber Anthony Giddens on the division of labour and essays by Mandel and Trotsky on Marx
