National Identity in Serbia Vassilis Petsinis,2019-12-12 The autonomous province of Vojvodina in Serbia is little known in the English speaking world even though it is a territory of high significance for the development of Serbian national identity Vojvodina s multi ethnic composition and historical experience has also encouraged the formation of a distinct regional identity This book analyses the evolution of Vojvodina's identity over time and the unique pattern of ethnic relations in the province Although approximately 25 ethnic communities live in Vojvodina it is by no means a divided society Intercultural cohabitation has been a living reality in the province for centuries and this largely accounts for the lack of ethnic conflict Vassilis Petsinis explores Vojvodina's intercultural society and shows how this has facilitated the introduction of flexible and regionalized legal models for the management of ethnic relations in Serbia since the 2000s He also discusses recent developments in the region most notably the arrival of refugees from Syria and Iraq and measures the impact that these changes have had on social stability and inter group relations in the province

The Political Economy of the Eurozone in Central and Eastern Europe

Krisztina Arató,Boglarka Koller,Anita Pelle,2021-06-30 The idea for this volume came from the enigma that some Central and Eastern European CEE European Union EU member states have been keen to join the Eurozone while others have shown persistent reluctance Moreover the attitudes towards joining have seemingly not correlated with either the level of economic development or the time spent as part of the EU nor with any other rational reason such as the level of integration into the EU real economy or the level of trust in the EU on the part of the public Therefore at first sight the answer to the question why in why out remains rather unclear The attractiveness of the currency union has nevertheless not disappeared for the CEE countries Despite the Eurozone crisis of 2010-13 it was during that time that the Baltic states introduced the euro Then after a few years of inactivity Croatia and Bulgaria successfully applied for membership of the exchange rate mechanism in July 2020 amid the economic crisis caused by the coronavirus COVID-19 pandemic At the same time the three Visegrad countries still using their national currencies Poland Czechia and Hungary no longer have a target date to join the monetary union This volume aims to discuss these issues from horizontal aspects and through country studies with contributions from expert authors from or closely related to the CEE region

Religion as Securitization in Central and Eastern Europe András Máté-Tóth,Kinga Povedák,2024-09-18 Religion as Securitization in Central and Eastern Europe examines the significance of securitization theory as a reference point in understanding current religious socio cultural and political processes in Central and Eastern Europe CEE It explores contemporary social processes and discourses on security linked to religion and religious institutions CEE has experienced many confluences of security issues with religious interpretations and world views For instance the international refugee and migration crisis could not be separated from the counterpoint between Christianity and Islam in political discussions

Similarly the debates on LGBT family recognition and the traditional family model are inseparable from the Christian family as a reference point. The security needs of the region are particularly acute trigger points which can be instrumentalized by political power. In other words the threat sensitivities of collective identity make the region particularly well suited to being a focus of securitization both from the host side and from the discourses that are enforced from above. In this volume the authors approach the validity of securitization in relation to religion and religion itself as securitization from a broader perspective. They show not only what religious facts and aspects have become threatening in the process of securitization but also that the function of religion in the CEE region can be described and understood primarily as securitization. This unique collection of studies offers a comprehensive theoretical and methodological approach while the case studies are drawn from more than seven countries in the region by leading scholars. The book will be of interest to scholars from a wide range of disciplines including political science history anthropology and religious studies. It will also function as an important introductory work for students to this specific area of research.

Social and Economic Development in Central and Eastern Europe Grzegorz Gorzelak, 2019-08-13. The integration of post socialist Central and Eastern Europe into the EU is one of the success stories of European development. The region has seen significant economic convergence dramatic changes in socio economic indicators and improvements in the natural environment. However some challenges remain such as political divergence public governance issues and population demographics. This book identifies and analyses the key post 1990 developments across the New Member States at the sub national and national levels with frequent country level and regional comparisons. Careful attention is paid to drawing out commonalities in development trajectories while appreciating each country's unique context. Drawing on the academic literature and illuminating empirical material the broad range of topics discussed in the book paints a detailed picture of both change and stability in Central and Eastern Europe. The (Not So) Surprising Longevity of Identity Politics Timofey Agarin, 2022-04-27. This book assesses the underpinning role references to identity played and continue to play as the powerful mobilising force in domestic politics across the East European region stretching from Estonia to Bulgaria. The EU membership of postcommunist states was to ensure stability prevent conflict and eventually guarantee equality of all citizens regardless of their political preferences or ethnic identities. However the promotion of such norms and values has been secondary to consolidation of state institutions and the societies they serve around ethnocentric narratives of states core ethnic groups. The sequel of financial then refugee crises has further dented the appeal of the EU's norms across the region. Even the rhetoric commitment to respect cultural diversity and human rights has been promptly replaced with references to identity and interests of politically relevant groups. Yet nativist and populist rhetoric has been the staple of politics since before the EU accession. The chapters in this edited volume zoom in on politics which forge and live off their societies preoccupation with ethnocentric narratives vesting national identity with persistent relevance and considerable weight across the postcommunist region The chapters in this book were originally published in the journal East European Politics

Central and Eastern European Economies Marcus Goncalves, Erika Cornelius Smith, 2016-07-25 Nearly seven decades ago six countries in Western Europe Belgium France West Germany Italy Luxembourg and the Netherlands decided to take economic cooperation to the next level The vision of the EU founding states epitomized by the Schuman Declaration in 1950 was to tie their economies so closely together that war would become impossible Robert Schuman author of the plan believed Europe could not be made all at once or according to a single plan It would have to be built through concrete achievements which first create a de facto solidarity The countries within the European Community benefited enormously from free trade and common economic policies in particular structural funds designed to foster convergence by funding infrastructure and investments in poorer regions This book examines how similar transitions and integration into the European Union are experienced in individual central and eastern European states through the use of country scans in the regional blocks of CEE SEE and CIS Forging Architectural Tradition Dragan Damjanović, Aleksander Łupienko, 2022-03-11 During the nineteenth century a change developed in the way architectural objects from the distant past were viewed by contemporaries Such edifices be they churches castles chapels or various other buildings were not only admired for their aesthetic values but also for the role they played in ancient times and their role as reminders of important events from the national past Architectural heritage often was and still is an important element of nation building Authors address the process of building national myths around certain architectural objects National narratives are questioned as is the position architectural heritage played in the nineteenth and the early twentieth centuries
