Making Of Britain Britain In Decline The Making Of Britain:

The Making of Consumer Culture in Modern Britain Peter Gurney, 2017-05-18 CHOICE OUTSTANDING ACADEMIC TITLE AWARD WINNER 2018 It is commonly accepted that the consumer is now centre stage in modern Britain rather than the worker or producer Consumer choice is widely regarded as the major source of self definition and identity rather than productive activity Politicians vie with each other to fashion their appeal to citizen consumers When and how did these profound changes occur Which historical alternatives were pushed to the margins in the process In what ways did the everyday consumer practices and forms of consumer organising adopted by both middle and working class men and women shape the outcomes This study of the making of consumer culture in Britain since 1800 explores these questions introduces students to major debates and cuts a distinctive path through this vibrant field It suggests that the consumer culture that emerged during this period was shaped as much by political relationships as it was by economic and social factors

Seventies British Cinema Robert Shail, 2019-07-25 Seventies British Cinema provides a comprehensive re evaluation of British film in the 1970s The decade has long been written off in critical discussions as a doldrums period in British cinema perhaps because the industry facing near economic collapse turned to unacceptable low culture genres such as sexploitation comedies or extreme horror The contributors to this new collection argue that 1970s cinema is ripe for reappraisal giving serious critical attention to populist genre films they also consider the development of a British art cinema in the work of Derek Jarman and Peter Greenaway and the beginnings of an independent sector fostered by the BFI Production Board and producers like Don Boyd A host of highly individual directors managed to produce interesting and cinematically innovative work against the odds from Nicolas Roeg to Ken Russell to Mike Hodges As well as providing a historical and cinematic context for understanding Seventies cinema the volume also features chapters addressing Hammer horror the Carry On films Bond films of the Roger Moore period Jubilee and other films that responded to Punk rock heritage cinema and case studies of key seventies films such as The Wicker Man and Straw Dogs In all the book provides the final missing piece in the rediscovery of British cinema s complex and protean history Contributors Ruth Barton James Chapman Ian Conrich Wheeler Winston Dixon Christophe Dupin Steve Gerrard Sheldon Hall I Q Hunter James Leggott Claire Monk Paul Newland Dan North Robert Shail Justin Smith and Sarah Street

Balchin,2021-07-11 Originally published in 1990 this book examines the extent to which the north south divide in the UK has been a reality in recent years It also reveals the degree to which the gap between the two parts of Britain has worsened An issue of enduring relevance particularly given the political drive to level up the regions the book focusses particularly on the 1980s a period when regional assistance became a victim of both monetarism and free market ideology The book reviews legislation and considers whether regional policy has been effective and consistent To widen the debate the author questions some common assumptions about regional imbalance and argues that intraregional disparities and the plight of Inner London were causes of concern no less serious than the problem of the north south imbalance The Empire Strikes Back? Andrew S.
