Making Myself at Home in a Nursing Home Sandra J. Gaffney, 2021-04-30 Sandra Gaffney entered her first nursing home for long term care at the unusually young age of fifty Fourteen years earlier she had been diagnosed with amyotrophic lateral sclerosis ALS also known as Lou Gehrig s disease Over the next sixteen years Gaffney lived in nursing homes in Florida Virginia and Minnesota as the ways she could be close to family changed She describes her situation in these words As a nursing home resident I require total or maximum care I have limited use of my hands and arms With special splints I am able to turn the pages of my books use the telephone and TV VCR FM radio remote control When my cup is positioned properly I can drink independently I am able to walk with a platform walker and the help of two nursing assistants My walking is not functional it is only for exercise After I moved into my third nursing home I learned to operate a power wheelchair by using an adaptive switch between my knees All other areas of physical care have to be done for me My speech is impaired If people listen carefully they can understand what I am saying I am able to eat regular food and breathe on my own Gaffney became an acute observer and strategist about how to live in a nursing home Her first person account dictated to family members and assistants covers making the decision to enter a nursing home choosing the right one and understanding its culture She talks about how to furnish your room and about all the issues that arise in a resident s typical day She has much to say about communication with staff and family about how to help others help me

Gaffney's daughters Amy and Bridget and her friend Ellen Potter provide additional perspectives on the caregiving experience

Transitions Theory Afaf Meleis, Afaf I. Meleis, 2010-02-17 It is very exciting to see all of these studies compiled in one book. It can be read sequentially or just for certain transitions. It also can be used as a template for compilation of other concepts central to nursing and can serve as a resource for further studies in transitions. It is an excellent addition to the nursing literature. Score 95 4 Stars

Doody's Understanding and recognizing transitions are at the heart of health care reform and this current edition with its numerous clinical examples and descriptions of nursing interventions provides important lessons that can and should be incorporated into health policy. It is a brilliant book and an important contribution to nursing theory.

Kathleen Dracup RN DNSc Dean and Professor School of Nursing University of California San Francisco Afaf Meleis the dean of the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing presents for the first time in a single volume her original transitions theory that integrates middle range theory to assist nurses in facilitating positive transitions for patients families and communities. Nurses are consistently relied on to coach and support patients going through major life transitions such as illness recovery pregnancy old age and many more. A collection of over 50 articles published from 1975 through 2007 and five newly commissioned articles. Transitions Theory covers developmental situational health and illness organizational and therapeutic transitions. Each section includes an introduction written by Dr Meleis in which she offers her historical and practical perspective on transitions. Many of the articles consider the transitional experiences of ethnically diverse patients women the elderly and other minority populations.

Key Topics Discussed Situational transitions including discharge and relocation transitions hospital to home stroke recovery and immigration transitions psychological adaptation and impact of migration on family health Educational transitions including professional transitions from RN to BSN and student to professional Health and illness transitions including self care post heart failure living with chronic illness living with early dementia and accepting palliative care Organization transitions including role transitions from acute care to collaborative practice and hospital to community practice Nursing therapeutics models of transition including role supplementation models and debriefing models
