Papageorgiou, David Pines, 2012-12-06 Over the past thirty years urban economic theory has been one of the most active areas of urban and regional economic research Just as static general equilibrium theory is at the core of modern microeconomics so is the topic of this book the static allocation of resources within a city and between cities at the core of urban economic theory An Essay on Urban Economic Theory well reflects the state of the field Part I provides an elegant coherent and rigorous presentation of several variants of the monocentric city model as the centerpiece of urban economic theory treating equilibrium optimum and comparative statistics Part II explores less familiar and even some uncharted territory The monocentric model looks at a single city in isolation taking as given a central business district surrounded by residences Part II in contrast makes the intra urban location of residential and non residential activity the outcome of the fundamental tradeoff between the propensity to interact and the aversion to crowding the resulting pattern of agglomeration may be polycentric Part II also develops models of an urbanized economy with trade between specialized cities and examines how the market determined size distribution of cities differs from the optimum This book launches a new series Advances in Urban and Regional Economics The series aims to provide an outlet for longer scholarly works dealing with topics in urban and regional economics The Oxford Handbook of Urban Economics and Planning Nancy Brooks, Kieran Donaghy, Gerrit-Jan Knaap, 2012-01-12 This volume embodies a problem driven and theoretically informed approach to bridging frontier research in urban economics and urban regional planning The authors focus on the interface between these two subdisciplines that have historically had an uneasy relationship Although economists were among the early contributors to the literature on urban planning many economists have been dismissive of a discipline whose leading scholars frequently favor regulations over market institutions equity over efficiency and normative prescriptions over positive analysis Planners meanwhile even as they draw upon economic principles often view the work of economists as abstract not sensitive to institutional contexts and communicated in a formal language spoken by few with decision making authority Not surprisingly papers in the leading economic journals rarely cite clearly pertinent papers in planning journals and vice versa Despite the historical divergence in perspectives and methods urban economics and urban planning share an intense interest in many topic areas the nature of cities the prosperity of urban economies the efficient provision of urban services efficient systems of transportation and the proper allocation of land between urban and environmental uses In bridging this gap the book highlights the best scholarship in planning and economics that address the most pressing urban problems of our day and stimulates further dialog between scholars in urban planning and urban economics

Regional and Urban Economics Richard Arnott, 1996 A collection of the first section of the Fundamentals of Pure and Applied Economics series Regional and Urban Economics Parts One and Two is an encyclopaedia containing eight titles This volume highlights original contributions in regional and urban economics concentrating mainly on urban economic theory The contributions focus on the treatment of space in economic theory Drawing on the body of literature developed by Von Thunen Christaller and Losch these chapters explore empirical theoretical and applied aspects of urban and regional economics which can be divided into the following areas Location Theory Jean Jaskold Gabszewicz Jacques Francois Thisse Masahisa Fujita and Urs Schwiezer Urban Public Finance David E Wildasin Urban Dynamics and Urban Externalities Takahiro Miyao and Yoshitsugu Kanemoto Systems of Cities and Facility Location

Quality and Inequality in Regional and Urban Systems Karima Kourtiti, Peter Nijkamp, Roger Stough, 2019-11-25 In the aftermath of both ongoing globalisation with both widening and deepening effects on countries regions and cities and structural changes resulting from the 2008 economic recession regions and cities in our world are confronted with a different arena of players performances and institutions The challenges are formidable and numerous Many regions and cities seem to resort to their indigenous strength without much regard to other players in the field This has enormous consequences for the competitive behaviour and profile of regional and urban actors but has at the same time deep impacts on the distribution of wealth income and employment over and within countries regions and cities There is indeed much evidence that disparities among regions and in cities are increasing in this new force field This special issue of REGION makes a solid scientific attempt i to map out the spatial consequences of recent transitions in growth trajectories of countries or regions and ii to trace policy strategies and design effective policy information to cope adequately with these new challenges The present special issue does so by highlighting the new force field of regional and urban dynamics from three angles in the context of spatial quality and inequality These will be briefly sketched below

The New Urban Economics H.W. Richardson, 2013-04-15 This book was first published in 1977 Urban economics is a relatively young field of economics hardly existing except perhaps in real estate and land economics curricula before the 1960s Within the last few years especially after 1971 there has been a growth of interest in urban economic theory strong enough even to attract the attention of general economic theorists These new theoretical writings have been named the New Urban Economics NUE for short The aim of this monograph is to survey and assess NUE to evaluate its contribution to urban economics to offer a few extensions and to say something about the future direction of the subfield

Changes in the Field of Transport Studies
J.B. Polak, J.B. van der Kamp, 2012-12-06 This liber amicorum honours Professor Jan Tissot van Patot as a scholar referring in particular to his concern with transport economics The significance of his work grew out of his influence within Netherlands Railways as with the passage of the years he dedicated himself increasingly to the vastly wider field of transport economics I would emphasize however that his theoretical knowledge and views in wider contexts have also been of great value to Netherlands Railways and I greatly appreciate this opportunity of referring to this aspect in a few personal words It is characteristic both of his person and his attitude that his work was often the occasion for contacts of a more personal nature contacts which were profoundly marked by his philosophy and convictions Our relations date from more than thirty seven years ago when he asked me for a contribution for a magazine which he helped to edit at that time and which was concerned with the same field as I was We became colleagues when he entered the service of NS the Netherlands Railways His sphere of work at that time was such that he was consulted more and more frequently by others His particular value to NS has been the increased dimension of transport policy and decision making he added to the company's existing policy and decision making
