Regional Science Perspectives For The Fu:

Regional Science: Perspectives for the Future Manas Chatterji, 2016-07-27 This book contains up to date original contributions by some of the world's best known experts in the area of urban and regional science. Regional science provides the theoretical basis of urban and regional planning. The subject covers such topics as regional development, regional accounts, spatial price computation, regional and interregional knowledge networks and measurement of regional quality of life. A considerable amount of change has taken place in the spatial pattern of socio-economic activities and their interactions over the last half of the century leading to the need for more advanced tools of analysis in regional science. This book fulfils this need.

Tourism in South and Southeast Asia C. Michael Hall, Stephen Page, 2012-10-12 Tourism in South and South East Asia is a comprehensive and solid introduction to tourism in South and South East Asia with a specific appeal both to institutions in the region and other institutions who wish to expose students to one of the most dynamic tourism regions in the world. Despite downturns in outbound tourism due to the current economic crisis, inbound tourism from outside the region has continued to increase with governments placing more emphasis on the economic significance of tourism than ever. Tourism in South and South East Asia is the first tourism book to deal comprehensively with the implications of the Asian economic crisis for tourism. With South and South East Asia set to be the fastest growing area of tourism activity in the world well into the next century, Tourism in South and South East Asia is an essential text for students both within and outside of this region. Dealing with concepts, themes and issues which are pertinent to tourism development, planning, marketing and management, these two internationally known authors have produced an authoritative text that covers all aspects of this topic through the use of illustrative and relevant case studies.

Spatial Economic Science Aura Reggiani, 2012-12-06 With the dawn of the twenty-first century comes the awareness that current rapid political, economic, social and technological transformations will affect our way of living by producing new forms of information, communications, common way, market, work style and leisure. In this context, human behaviour will certainly change its fixed parameters. It is likely that the relationships between internal structures and external influences, between individual components and collective behaviour, as well as between multi-scale networks and interrelated dynamics, will show spatio-temporal patterns which will be difficult to predict by means of our usual tools. As a consequence, academic research is increasingly being required to play an active role in addressing new ways of understanding and forecasting the sets of interacting structures ranging from the technical to the organizational and from the social to the economic and political levels while at the same time incorporating concerns about the new economy, environment, society, information and technology. It is now evident that social science, especially spatial and economic science, needs innovative paths together with continuous cross-fertilization among the many disciplines involved. In order to investigate these intriguing perspectives, we seem to have embarked on an era of methodological reflections rather than developing strong theoretical foundations. This volume aims to provide an overview of these new insights and frontiers.
