Regional Development in Europe Jürgen Allesch, 1989 Regional Innovation Systems - An Analysis of Innovation Policy Instruments Michael Bison, 2007-02-01 Inhaltsangabe Abstract Innovation is essential for the competitiveness of companies within the globalised knowledge economy In the actual situation of high unemployment rates in most western countries public economy support works thereby actively on the improvement of innovation activity conditions The regional level is for this attempt the most interesting spatial entity because of its high significance in global economic mechanisms The questions motivating this master thesis are how regional innovation policy can improve a regional innovation system and which of the possible policy instruments the most effective ones are to combat unemployment Innovations are the new combination of recent or established knowledge whose implementation had a noticeable effect on the performance of the organisation it was implemented in This includes product process organisational and people innovations Innovations are not anymore an individual effort but a process which involves many actors and institutions The basis for the exploration of how to support the development and implementation of these innovations is the regional innovation system approach It divides the innovation process into phases and their linkages and allows identifying analytically the evolved actors and the weaknesses of the innovation process The analysis of innovation policy instruments assigns each weakness within the innovation process an instrument which is explained and analysed in detail The examined instruments are competence centres start up centres science parks networks regional knowledge management and diffusion agencies Each instrument s function and its main characteristics get described together with a best practice example which leads to a conclusion on its effects on innovation and employment The result of the analysis is that competence centres start up centres and science parks are central instruments and have the highest potential for employment effects Networks regional knowledge management and diffusion agencies are more supporting measures that improve the performance of the first three For the success of all instruments their combination with each other and the utilisation of synergies and dependencies between them is essential A holistic concept including all instruments is the most effective way to support regional innovation processes These findings get transferred to the case study region Bonn where as an example for an Regional Development in Europe Jürgen Allesch, 2012-10-25 No detailed description available for Regional Development in Europe Regional Development Strategies Jeremy Alden, Philip Boland, 2013-10-18 Regional development strategies have become the focus of attention in many countries in the 1990s This textbook provides a conceptual theoretical and empirical analysis of regional development strategies within a European context It examines the various regional development strategies which are currently being pursued within the regions of Europe defined in its loosest term to include East and West The book describes how many different European regions are attempting to reduce regional disparities by engaging themselves in coherent and focused regional development strategies and there is also private sector approach to regional economic development There are many case studies from Europe and from other parts of the world including Japan thereby providing lessons that different countries and regions can learn from each other Protected Areas and Regional Development in Europe Ingo Mose,2016-04-15

While originally created as reserves for beautiful landscapes and endangered species protected areas in Europe were subsequently used as a means to preserve whole ecosystems with restrictions on human activities and impacts More recently protected areas are also being considered as instruments for regional development particularly in marginal regions facing severe economic and socio cultural problems Contrary to previous conservation focused policies new approaches aim to blend conservation and development functions making protected areas real living landscapes and integrating activities such as agriculture forestry handicrafts tourism and education with the conservation and sustainability aspects The past decade has seen a marked increase in these innovative and dynamic types of protected areas However the policies of individual European countries are very varied This volume provides a comprehensive overview of the relationship between protected areas and regional development policies both in theory and practice Illustrated with a wide range of case studies from across Europe it compares the different concepts strategies and instruments being used In conclusion it suggests the most innovative and successful ways to use protected areas for regeneration and sustainable regional development Local

Development and Economic Policy: a European Forum Maurizio Baussola,Enrico Ciciotti,2005 Regional Behaviour Dimitrios C. Christopoulos,2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2001 In the framework of the EU a number of policies have been devised for regions in order to facilitate their balanced economic development The author argues that the focus on regional planners and their actions in academic literature has obscured the importance of regional elites in this process The author compares Western Scotland and the west of Crete focusing on the wider regional political and business elites within these regions and attempting a comparison of elite attitudes within regions and between regions The Regions and the New Europe Martin Rhodes,1995 The contributors argue that some regions such as Emilia Romagna Baden Wurttemberg and Rhone Alpes have been highly successful in launching regional development strategies Others such as the English and certain southern European regions lack the economic resources and institutional structures to follow these examples The book analyses the reasons for success and failure and considers the strategic development options open to the less developed European regions A Modern Guide to National Urban Policies in Europe Karsten Zimmermann,Valeria

Fedeli,2021-04-30 Written in a clear and concise style this Modern Guide provide a timely overview and comparison of urban challenges and national urban policies in 13 European countries addressing key issues such as housing urban regeneration and climate change A team of international contributors explore the gap between the rise of international urban agendas and variegated national urban policies examining whether a more bespoke approach is better than the traditional one size fits all

Regional Development Agencies in Europe Charlotte Damborg,Mike Danson,Henrik Halkier,2017-09-29 In the past decade Europe has seen much change and at the same time the importance of the regional perspectives has significantly increased Regional Development Agencies in Europe brings together experiences of Regional and Development Agencies throughout Europe to provide material for the first major comparative study of bottom up regional policy across the continent Using an analytical framework developed by editors the contributors evaluate the long term potential and limitations of the RDAs in terms of promoting regional and economic development Institutional and other preconditions for successful regional policies are identified and combined with a broad analytical and geographical coverage that includes Eastern Europe a clearer picture of the relevance of the RDAs emerges Re-framing Regional Development Philip Cooke,2013-01-17

Turbulence characterises the current global scene This book uses complementary theoretical approaches to understand and help prescribe policies to re frame the regional development problem in turbulent times These approaches are evolutionary complexity evolutionary economic geography emergence theory and resilience theory From below they address the four major crises creating a perfect storm for societies and economics involving the climate change crisis the energy crisis the banking and financial crisis and the global economic crisis This book analyses and proposes ways in which regional economies in particular are having to be reframed to address these crises First many must evolve in new ways possibly moving back from the service economy towards a new greener form of manufacturing of goods as well as services Accordingly regional economies are innovating in new ways Amongst these are the quest for relatedness within their own regional orbits and promoting modularity as a mode of analysis and a policy stance to stimulate innovation across industry and geographical borders Finally regional economies and societies are discovering that from a resilience perspective they must find answers to the higher levels of governance with which they increasingly struggle In this respect regional economies are in transition and regional processes are emergent The transition seeks to address the four crises involving re balancing re directing and re framing future policy and practice This book describes many of the novel framings involved in understanding the new ways in which this major task is being addressed in theory policy and everyday practice

Governance, Institutional Change and Regional Development Mike Danson,Henrick Halkier,Greta Cameron,2024-11-01 This title was first published in 2000 This volume addresses the prominent role given to institution building institutional change and governance in the regional development strategies and policies The establishment of the Scottish Parliament Welsh and Northern Ireland Assemblies and the arrival of regional development agencies in England highlighted the need to put the initiatives into some context drawing on experience from across Europe on the critical factors in the determination of the potential and success of regions Central to the discussions presented here by a group of European experts are the question of governance how does an ongoing process of institution building affect the ways in which regions and localities are governed including questions of democracy participation regional self determination public private partnerships networks and accountability and the consequences of new modes of governance and institutional change for regional development strategies and policies particularly in the context of large scale industrial restructuring and city region and urban regeneration Local Economic and Employment Development (LEED) Local Governance and the Drivers of Growth OECD,2005-12-01 Innovation skills entrepreneurship and social cohesion are key drivers of growth Each has a strong governance component which is analysed in this OECD book International Books in Print, 1995 Barbara Hopkinson,[Anonymus AC01401231],1995 Multiregionalism and Multilateralism Sebastian Bersick,Paul van der Velde,Wim Stokhof,2025-10-01 The Asia Europe Meeting ASEM est 1996 is an interregional forum which consists of the members of the European Union and the Association of Southeast Asian Nations and China Japan and South Korea The main components of the ASEM process include political dialogue economy education and culture Multiregionalism and Multilateralism focuses on the institutionalisation of intra regional and inter regional cooperation in the international system with emphasis on the changing relationship between the EU China and India The role of ASEM in this relationship is growing more important because of the growth of multilateralism as cornerstone of the international system Urban Regeneration in Europe Uwe Altröck,Detlef Kurth,2024-11-25 We understand urban regeneration as all efforts managed funded or at least guided to some extent by public authorities that aim at improving stabilizing or revitalizing existing neighborhoods This comprises area based strategies improvements of public infrastructure and interventions into the physical structure of the built environment Their strategies may be redevelopment renewal careful regeneration socially integrative management and others Those efforts aim at dealing with reurbanization trends recently challenged by new suburbanization due to overheated development sharp increases in house prices and more and more professionals working from home The major objective of the book is to give an overview of the variety of approaches applied in European countries Therefore it takes a particular look at the systems of urban regeneration that build upon an interplay of specific legal frameworks policies public funding schemes physical planning tools partnerships and governance arrangements applied with the intention of solving urban problems For this purpose chapters present case studies of those national or regional systems or outstanding examples of long term efforts by major cities Urban Change and Regional Development at the Margins of Europe Ignazio Vinci,Paula Russell,2022-07-28 Since the beginning of the 1990s regions and urban areas have become a primary target of EU Cohesion Policy For a number of European cities especially in the less developed regions this has resulted in a unique opportunity for the implementation of extensive development projects as well as delivering innovations in urban policy and local governance Through the detailed observation of planning processes which took place in four European cities Porto PT Malaga ES Palermo IT and Thessaloniki EL this book explores the different ways that EU intervention can affect the policy process locally from the regeneration of decayed neighbourhoods and the creation of key services for improving the quality of life to the establishment of new governance relations and increasing the institutional capacity in local government The book also provides a critical reflection on the impact of EU urban policy in reducing regional disparities and the extent to which Cohesion Policy has helped cities to open new pathways for local development

With a special focus on the EU's marginal regions this book is a guide to understanding how EU policy has affected urban change and local development across Europe. The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Urban Research Practice. Asymmetries in Regional Integration and Local Development Paolo Giordano, Francesco Lanzafame, Jörg Meyer-Stamer, 2005. Technological Change and Regional Development in Europe Ludwig Schätzl, Javier Revilla Diez, 2012-12-06. This book presents the findings of the extensive research programme funded by the Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft (German Research Council) and entitled Technological Change and Regional Development in Europe. The goal of this programme was to carry out research by means of empirical surveys into the relationship between technological change and regional development. Over a period of six years a total of 50 research projects have been undertaken in three phases, each lasting two years. This research programme has succeeded in actively involving leading German regional scientists from many universities as well as non-university research institutions. In addition, numerous research projects were carried out in close co-operation with internationally renowned partners. We should like to express our gratitude for the support provided by the Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft. Without their financial backing of the research programme it would not have been possible to undertake such an ambitious project. Thanks also go to the contributors of this volume for their willingness to participate in our joint project. We wish in addition to acknowledge the contribution of Prof. Dr Philip Cooke whose refereeing of the chapters has enhanced the quality of the work presented here. Finally, our thanks go to Angela Spence for her expert editorial assistance, linguistic editing and the preparation of the Index, and also Franco Vaio for taking care of the technical aspects and production of the final copy. Their combined efforts have been crucial for successfully bringing together contributions from so many different authors in a single volume. Smart, Resilient and Transition Cities Adriana Galderisi, Angela Colucci, 2018-07-17. Smart, Resilient and Transition Cities: Emerging Approaches and Tools for Climate Sensitive Urban Development starts with a presentation of three widespread Urban Metaphors which are gaining increasing attention from urban planners and decision makers: Smart City, Resilient City and Transition Towns, being all of them focused on the need for enhancing cities' capacities to cope with the multiple and heterogeneous challenges threatening contemporary cities and their future development, and above all with climate issues. Then the Authors provide an overview of current large scale and urban strategies to counterbalance climate change so far undertaken in different geographical contexts Europe United States China Africa and Australia shedding light on the different approaches on the different weights assigned to mitigation and adaptation issues as well as on the main barriers hindering their effectiveness and translation into measurable outcomes Opportunities and criticalities arising from the rich sprawled and blurred landscape of current strategies and initiatives in the face of climate change pave the way to a discussion on the lessons learnt from current initiatives and provide new hints for developing integrated climate strategies capable to guide planners and decision makers towards a climate sensitive urban development Smart Resilient and Transition Cities Emerging Approaches and Tools for Climate Sensitive Urban Development merges a scientific approach with a pragmatic one Through a case study approach the Authors explore strengths and weaknesses of institutional and informal practices to foreshadow innovative paths for an adaptive process of urban governance in the face of climate change The book guides the reader along new governance paths characterized by continuous learning and close cooperation and communication among different actors and stakeholders and in so doing helps them to overcome current siloed approaches to climate issues Links resilience smart growth low carbon urbanism climate friendly cities sustainable development and transition cities being all these concepts crucial to improve effective climate policies Includes a number of case studies showing how cities different in size geographical cultural and economic contexts are currently dealing with climate issues grasping synergies and commonalities arising from current institutional practices and transition initiatives Provides strategic and operative guidelines to overcome barriers and critical issues emerging from current practices promoting cross sectoral approaches to counterbalance climate change
