Reinventing Gender Eva Kolinsky, Hildegard Maria Nickel, 2003 Since the unification of the DDR and the GDR women living in the former East Germany have lost many of the advantages that came with a planned economy This collection of essays examines the reinvented meaning of gender and the experience of East German women since unification     Gender Inequality in the Eastern European Labour Market Giovanni Razzu, 2016-10-26 Under communism there was in the countries of Eastern Europe a high level of gender equality in the labour market particularly in terms of high participation rates by women The transition from communism has upset this situation with different impacts in the different countries This book presents a comprehensive overview of gender and the labour market since the fall of communism in a wide range of Eastern European countries Each country chapter describes the nature of inequality in the particular country and goes on to examine the factors responsible for this including government policies changing social attitudes levels of educational attainment and the impact of motherhood Overall the book provides an interesting comparison to the situation in Western developed countries outlining differences and similarities No one single Eastern European model emerges while as in Western developed countries a range of experiences and trends is the norm     After the Fall of the Wall Martin Diwald, Anne Goedicke, Karl Mayer, 2006-09-26 The fall of the Berlin Wall in 1989 was the beginning of one of the most interesting natural experiments in recent history The East German transition from a Communist state to part of the Federal Republic of Germany abruptly created a new social order as old institutions were abolished and new counterparts imported This unique situation provides an exceptional opportunity to examine the central tenets of life course sociology The empirical chapters of this book draw a comprehensive picture of life course transformation demonstrating how the combination of life course dynamics coupled with an extraordinary pace of system change affect individual lives How much turbulence was created by the transition and how much stability was preserved How did the qualifications and resources acquired before 1989 influence the fortunes in the restructured economy How did the privatization and reorganization of firms impact individuals Did the transformation experiences differ by age cohort and gender How stable were social networks at work and in the family Were personality characteristics important mediators of post 1989 success or failure or were they rather changed by them How specific were the East German life trajectories in comparison with Poland and West Germany     Women and Politics around the World Joyce Gelb, Marian Lief Palley, 2009-03-30 A unique two volume examination of the progress women have made in achieving political equality Women and Politics around the World addresses both transnational and gender related issues as well as specific conditions in more than 20 countries Women and Politics around the World A Comparative History and Survey is an exploration of the role of women in political systems worldwide as well as an examination of how government actions in various countries have an impact on the lives of the female population Women and Politics around the World divides its coverage into two volumes The first looks at such crucial issues facing women today as health policy civil rights and education comparing conditions around the world The second volume profiles 22 different countries representing a broad range of governments economies and cultures Each profile looks at the history and current state of women's political and economic participation in a particular country and includes an in depth look at a representative policy The result is a resource unlike any other one that gives students researchers and other interested readers a fresh new way of investigating a truly global issue

Migration and the Construction of German Identities, 1949-2004 Bethany Erin

Hicks, 2023-10-24 Migration in its many forms has often been found at the center of public and private discourse surrounding German nationalism and identity significantly influencing how both states construct conceptions of what it means to be German at any given place and time The attempt at constructing an ethnically homogeneous Third Reich was shattered by the movement of refugees expellees and soldiers in the aftermath of the Second World War and the contracting of foreign nationals as Gastarbeiter in the Federal Republic and Vertragsarbeiter in the German Democratic Republic in the 1960s and 70s diversified the ethnic landscape of both Cold War German states during the latter half of the Cold War Bethany Hicks shows how the regional migration of East Germans into the western federal states both during and after German unification challenged essential Cold War assumptions concerning the ability to integrate two very different German populations

Living Gender after Communism Janet Elise Johnson, Jean C. Robinson, 2006-12-12 How has the collapse of communism across Europe and Eurasia changed gender In addition to acknowledging the huge costs that fell heavily on women Living Gender after Communism suggests that moving away from communism in Europe and Eurasia has provided an opportunity for gender to multiply from varieties of neo traditionalism to feminisms from overt negotiation of femininity to denials of gender This development in turn has enabled some women in the region to construct their own gendered identities for their own political economic or social purposes Beginning with an understanding of gender as both a society wide institution that regulates people's lives and a cultural toolkit which individuals and groups may use to subvert or transvalue the sex gender system the contributors to this volume provide detailed case studies from Belarus Bosnia the Czech Republic Poland Romania Russia and Ukraine This collaboration between young scholars most from postcommunist states and experts in the fields of gender studies and postcommunism combines intimate knowledge of the area with sophisticated gender analysis to examine just how much gender realities have shifted in the region Contributors are Anna Brzozowska Karen Dawisha Nanette Funk Ewa Grigar Azra Hromadzic Janet Elise Johnson Anne Marie Kramer Tania Rands Lyon Jean C Robinson Iulia Shevchenko Svitlana Taraban and Shannon Woodcock and political sociology Slavic Review      Understanding the Transformation of Germany's CDU Simon Green, Ed Turner, 2016-02-05 This book analyses the Christian Democratic Union of Germany CDU one of Europe's most successful and influential political parties The CDU might have been expected to struggle in the circumstances of a more diverse secular reunified Germany yet it has prospered to an extent almost unparalleled in western Europe Chapters consider the CDU's policies the factors driving them their variation across Germany the relationship to women and the welfare state its organisational development and change and its position within the party system Contributors particularly emphasise the diversity of the CDU and the way it varies across Germany's regions The CDU is compared to other Christian Democratic parties and special consideration is given to the CDU's Bavarian sister party the Christian Social Union CSU This book was published as a special issue of German Politics      Becoming Madam Chancellor Joyce Marie Mushaben, 2017-08-07 Since 2005 Angela Merkel has transformed not only the way Germans see themselves but also the way that politicians worldwide male and female perceive women in power The East German daughter of a Protestant pastor this physicist turned politician has deployed her life experiences to cultivate a unique set of leadership skills Her pragmatic data driven and future oriented approach to politics grounded in a commitment to democratic pluralism human rights and personal responsibility has produced extraordinary paradigm shifts in many national policies in the wake of major crises As the first English language scholarly book to provide an in depth account of her career and influence Becoming Madam Chancellor examines Merkel's achievements across six key policy domains contextualizes these within broader German history before and after reunification and uncovers the personal and political factors that have contributed to Chancellor Merkel's hard earned status as the world's most powerful woman      Mothers, Comrades, and Outcasts in East German Women's Films Jennifer L. Creech, 2016-08-08 Mothers Comrades and Outcasts in East German Women's Film merges feminist film theory and cultural history in an investigation of women's films that span the last two decades of the former East Germany Jennifer L Creech explores the ways in which these films functioned as an alternative public sphere where official ideologies of socialist progress and utopian collectivism could be resisted Emerging after the infamous cultural freeze of 1965 these women's films reveal a shift from overt political critique to a covert politics located in the intimate problem rich experiences of everyday life under socialism Through an analysis of films that focus on what were perceived as women's concerns marital problems motherhood emancipation and residual patriarchy Creech argues that the female protagonist served as a crystallization of socialist contradictions By framing their politics in terms of women's concerns these films used women's desire and agency to contest the more general problems of social alienation and collectivism and to re imagine the possibilities of self fulfillment under socialism      United and Divided Mike Dennis, Eva Kolinsky, 2004-03-01 The system transformation after German unification in 1990 constituted an experiment on an unprecedented scale At no point in history had one state attempted to redesign another without conquest bloodshed or coercion but by treaties public policy and bureaucratic processes

Unification was achieved by erasing the eastern political and economic model. However in the meantime it has become clear that the same cannot be said about social transformation. On the contrary social and cultural attitudes and differentiation have continued and resulted in deep divisions between West and East Germany. After unification the injustices of politics seemed to have been replaced in the eyes of most former GDR citizens by unexpected injustices in the personal spheres of ordinary people who lost their jobs and faced unknown realities of deprivation and social exclusion. These are the main concerns of the contributors to this volume. Incorporating new research findings and published data they focus on key aspects of economic political and social transformation in eastern Germany and compare through case studies each area with developments in the west.

"Landscape Imagery, Politics, and Identity in a Divided Germany, 1968-1989" Catherine Wilkins, 2017-07-05. Landscape Imagery Politics and Identity in a Divided Germany 1968-1989 explores the communicative relationship between German landscape painting and the viewing public that developed in the wake of the student revolutions of the late 1960s. The book demonstrates that contrary to some historical thinking more similarities than differences characterized the sociopolitical concerns of East and West Germans during the late Cold War Era and that it was these shared issues that were reflected in the revival of the Romantic painting genre. Catherine Wilkins focuses on recovering the agency of the individual artist and in revising historiography with sensitivity to narration from below. Interdisciplinary in nature art historians can benefit from the study's analysis of images and artists not widely known outside of Germany. Additionally the consolidation of statistics and data regarding German postwar cultural policy are relevant for political and cultural historians. The author contributes to the ongoing multidisciplinary debates regarding Histoire Crois in arguing that a clear dichotomy between East Germany and West Germany did not exist but rather that the residents of both nations shared a concern over some of the same issues of the period and memory studies by using images as primary historical sources able to be employed in the recovery of potentially subversive memory and identity. Issues related to gender relations environmentalism and spiritual belief are addressed by Wilkins with appeal for scholars working with those particular themes. Poststructuralist and literary theorists as well can find arguments supporting an alternative means of writing history through artworks and private memories.

Making Motherhood Work Caitlyn Collins, 2020-05-05. The work family conflict that mothers experience today is a national crisis. Women struggle to balance breadwinning with the bulk of parenting and social policies aren't helping. Of all Western industrialized countries the United States ranks dead last for supportive work family policies. Can American women look to Europe for solutions? Making Motherhood Work draws on interviews that Caitlyn Collins conducted over five years with 135 middle class working mothers in Sweden Germany Italy and the United States. She explores how women navigate work and family given the different policy supports available in each country Taking readers into women s homes neighborhoods and workplaces Collins shows that mothers expectations depend on context and that policies alone cannot solve women s struggles With women held to unrealistic standards the best solutions demand that we redefine motherhood work and family

A Dramatic Reinvention Stewart Anderson,2020-04-09 Following World War II Germany was faced not only with the practical tasks of reconstruction and denazification but also with the longer term mission of morally re civilizing its citizens a goal that persisted through the nation s 1949 split One of the most important mediums for effecting reeducation was television whose strengths were particularly evident in the thousands of television plays that were broadcast in both Germanys in the 1950s and 1960s This book shows how TV dramas transcended state boundaries and notwithstanding the ideological differences between East and West addressed shared issues and themes helping to ease viewers into confronting uncomfortable moral topics
