Reducing Animal Use in Carcinogenicity Testing Joseph Manuppello, Jan Willem Van Der Laan, Federica Madia, 2024-12-31 Carcinogenicity to rats and mice is evaluated for substances to which humans are exposed including pharmaceuticals agrochemicals and industrial chemicals For pharmaceuticals recent efforts to reduce animal use in long term studies include an addendum to the International Council for Harmonisation ICH guideline S1B R1 that prioritizes short term studies in transgenic mice and recommends assessing the weight of evidence available to first determine whether a long term study in rats would add value For other sectors an expert group of the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development OECD is developing an Integrated Approach to the Testing and Assessment IATA of non genotoxic carcinogens based on common hallmarks of cancers and on key characteristics of carcinogens Within current regulations animal use could be reduced by evaluating toxicokinetics in main study animals with microsampling methods by including only one negative control group and by genotyping transgenic mice instead of using positive control groups in each study

Review of EPA's Integrated Risk Information System (IRIS) Process National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Environmental Studies and Toxicology, Committee to Review the IRIS Process, 2014-06-25 The Integrated Risk Information System IRIS is a program within the US Environmental Protection Agency EPA that is responsible for developing toxicologic assessments of environmental contaminants An IRIS assessment contains hazard identifications and dose response assessments of various chemicals related to cancer and noncancer outcomes Although the program was created to increase consistency among toxicologic assessments within the agency federal state and international agencies and other organizations have come to rely on IRIS assessments for setting regulatory standards establishing exposure guidelines and estimating risks to exposed populations Over the last decade the National Research

Council NRC has been asked to review some of the more complex and challenging IRIS assessments including those of formaldehyde dioxin and tetrachloroethylene In 2011 an NRC committee released its review of the IRIS formaldehyde assessment Like other NRC committees that had reviewed IRIS assessments the formaldehyde committee identified deficiencies in the specific assessment and more broadly in some of EPA s general approaches and specific methods Although the committee focused on evaluating the IRIS formaldehyde assessment it provided suggestions for improving the IRIS process and a roadmap for its revision in case EPA decided to move forward with changes to the process Congress directed EPA to implement the report s recommendations and then asked the National Research Council to review the changes that EPA was making or proposing to make in response to the recommendations Review of EPA s Integrated Risk Information System IRIS Process provides an overview of some general issues associated with IRIS assessments This report then addresses evidence identification and evaluation for IRIS assessments and discusses evidence integration for hazard evaluation and methods for calculating reference values and unit risks The report makes recommendations and considerations for future directions Overall Review of EPA s Integrated Risk Information System Process finds that substantial improvements in the IRIS process have been made and it is clear that EPA has embraced and is acting on the recommendations in the NRC formaldehyde report The recommendations of this report should be seen as building on the progress that EPA has already made IARC Monographs on the Evaluation of Carcinogenic Risks to Humans ,1988

Risk assessment and risk management in regulatory decision-making United States. Presidential/Congressional Commission on Risk Assessment and Risk Management,1997 Scientific Evaluation of Health Effects , Cancer Risk Assessment Peter G. Shields,2005-05-24 The assessment of cancer risk is a complex process that requires the examination of etiological agents real world environments and individual rates of exposure This reference offers practical approaches to determine cancer risk in individuals groups of exposed persons and the general public in relation to individual genetic and acquired suscep Environmental Health Perspectives ,2004-07 Fruit and Vegetables IARC Working Group on the Evaluation of Cancer-Preventive Strategies,2003 This handbook shows that approximately one in ten cancers in western populations is due to an insufficient intake of fruit and vegetables a finding that should encourage all organizations as well as governments to continue efforts to increase or maintain fruit and vegetable intake as an important objective of programs to improve nutrition to reduce the burden of cancer and other chronic diseases The clearest evidence of a cancer protective effect of eating more fruits is for stomach and esophageal cancers Similarly a higher intake of vegetables probably reduces the incidence of cancer of esophagus and colon rectum Fruit and vegetables contain many nutrients they also contain other bioactive compounds that may influence many aspects of human biology and related disease processes Hazards in the European Rubber Industry Conference ,1999 Principles of Toxicology Stephen M. Roberts,Robert C. James,Phillip L. Williams,2022-04-05 Principles of Toxicology concisely and efficiently presents the scientific basis for toxicology as it applies to the workplace and the environment covering diverse chemical hazards encountered in modern workplaces and natural environments and providing a practical understanding of these hazards for those concerned with protecting the health of humans and ecosystems The work presents not only theory but also practical information regarding chemical hazards to give the student and new professional a working knowledge of the practice of toxicology and the ability to solve problems in environmental and industrial settings Case histories and examples from industrial and environmental exposures to chemicals are included to demonstrate the application of toxicological principles To allow for seamless reader comprehension and further exploration of covered topics the work is supplemented with numerous illustrations to clarify and summarize key points as well as annotated bibliographies In the 4th edition all chapters and references have been updated to account for the latest scientific thinking and new color figures have been added New topics covered in 4th Edition of Principles of Toxicology include Regulatory toxicology including the key regulatory framework in which much of the field of toxicology operates Alternative methods in toxicology including cutting edge approaches to developing new information on the toxicity of drugs and chemicals The dilemma of selecting safe exposure limits guiding readers through practical considerations and pitfalls in developing and using safe exposure limits Ecological risk assessment with detailed discussion of methods and considerations when evaluating the effects of contaminants on plants and animals Providing information on the principles of toxicology and the application of those principles to solve problems in environmental and industrial settings Principles of Toxicology serves as an excellent textbook resource for advanced undergraduate graduate and professional students in a range of environmental and health fields It is also valuable to health professionals who need toxicological information and assistance beyond what is found in an introductory text to general toxicology
