Religion And Power In Morocco:

Religion and Power in Morocco Henry Munson, 1993-01-01 In this book a well known anthropologist traces the evolution of the political role of Islam in Morocco from the seventeenth century to present times Integrating history and anthropology in a way very different from Clifford Geertz's famous study of 1968 Henry Munson organizes his book around a series of conflicts that have exemplified the myth of the righteous man of God who dares to defy an unjust sultan Grounding his book in the relevant indigenous texts and on two years of ethnographic fieldwork Munson suggests a more solidly substantiated alternative to the social history of the imagination advocated by Geertz and he illustrates the consequences of neglecting the historical and symbolic contexts of events by examining Geertz's interpretation of the conflict between the seventeenth century scholar cum saint al Yusi and the sultan Mulay Ismail Munson argues that the religious facets of power cannot be understood without reference to factors like force and fear and he suggests that anthropological analyses of sacred kingship in Morocco have often been distorted by their neglect of such matters and by their failure to distinguish between the religious rhetoric of rulers and the religious beliefs of those they rule Munson examines the social historical roots of the fundamentalist opposition to the regime of King Hassan II who has reigned since 1961 and the reasons for its relative weakness when compared with its counterparts in Iran and Algeria He shows to what extent Moroccan fundamentalism is rooted in classical Islamic notions of just rule and to what extent it represents an invented tradition similar to recent forms of politicized revivalism in other religions

Sufism in Morocco's Religious Politics John C. Thibdeau, 2023-07-25 This book outlines the role of Sufism in Moroccan politics in the twenty first century through a comparative study of contemporary Sufi organizations The author begins his analysis by highlighting the strategies employed by the Moroccan state over the past twenty years aimed at regulating and producing an authorized Moroccan Islam in the kingdom Despite these policies of spiritual security and spiritual diplomacy including the state sponsorship of Sufi organizations the author argues that this has not decreased diversity nor produced a banal interpretation of Islam but rather given rise to diverse articulations and performances of this religiosity Through a comparative analysis of three Sufi organizations based on eighteen months of fieldwork two of which have never before been studied the author brings into relief the spaces of creative enactment of Sufism as an ethical tradition Ultimately it is argued that each Sufi organization reflects a different refraction of Islam a concept emphasising the cultivation of public piety which underpins the Moroccan state's formulation of Islam Focused on both theoretical contributions to Islamic studies and topical treatments of geopolitical issues like spiritual diplomacy the Western Sahara and Morocco Algeria the book spans multiple disciplines including anthropology religious studies sociology and political science

Mirza, 2013 In 2012 the year 1433 of the Muslim calendar the Islamic population throughout the world was estimated at approximately a billion and a half representing about one fifth of humanity In geographical terms Islam occupies the center of the world stretching like a big belt across the globe from east to west P vii Guardians of Faith in Modern Times:

'Ulama' in the Middle East Meir Hatina, 2008-11-30 This collective volume provides an integrative historical and contemporary discussion of Sunni ulama in the Middle East in both an urban and a semi tribal context The various chapters reinforce a renewed interest in the position of the ulama in modern times and offer new insights as to their ideological vitality and contribution to the public discourse on moral and sociopolitical issues Understanding Women's Career

Experiences in Moroccan Businesses Mouna Izeldaden, 2024-06-27 Existing literature on women career development focuses on western industrialized countries and gives little attention to regions where patriarchy is prevailing like in North African countries The limited available research in the region takes a business oriented perspective to investigate the topic and focuses on business process optimization for an increased profitability In an attempt to close this gap the present book takes a sociological lens to investigate meanings and interpretations that skilled women in Moroccan organizations give to their experiences This project sought to understand how Moroccan professional women take decisions about their career path while taking a multi level approach to examine contextual factors In this book Bourdieu's theory of practice was used as a theoretical framework to examine the interplay of the different factors impacting the development of women career paths Using a qualitative research approach under the interpretivist paradigm and drawing on in depth interviews with 10 participants this research investigated female and male conceptualization of career and work objectives Revolutionaries and Reformers Barry Rubin, 2012-02-01 Islamist movements seeking power today are faced with difficult choices regarding strategy ranging from armed struggle to electoral efforts An emerging alternative consists of a rethinking of Islamist politics where the goal of a totally Islamic polity would be abandoned in favor of some form of Islamic oriented society In this reformulation Islamist politics would function as a pressure group to make society more Islamic reinforcing the walls of semi separate internal communities and reinterpreting Islam in more liberal ways The September 11 2001 terror attack on the United States however demonstrates that the radical approach remains attractive to many Islamists Addressing these issues the contributors look at the countries where Islamist movements have been most important Case studies of revolutionary and reformist groups are followed by chapters discussing future alternatives for Islamist politics presenting arguments both advocating and critical of a potential liberal reformist interest group Islamism
