Charlotte Rose Potts, 2015 Religious Architecture in Latium and Etruria c 900 500 BC presents the first comprehensive treatment of cult buildings in western central Italy from the Iron Age to the Archaic Period By analysing the archaeological evidence for the form of early religious buildings and their role in ancient communities it reconstructs a detailed history of early Latial and Etruscan religious architecture that brings together the buildings and the people who used them The Economy of Roman Religion Andrew Wilson, Nick Ray, Angela Trentacoste, 2023 This interdisciplinary edited volume presents twelve papers by Roman historians and archaeologists discussing the interconnected relationship between religion and the Roman economy over the period c 500 BC to AD 350 The connection between Roman religion and the economy has largely been ignored in work on the Roman economy but this volume explores the many complex ways in which economic and religious thinking and activities were interwoven from individuals to institutions The broad geographic and chronological scope of the volume engages with a notable variety of evidence epigraphic archaeological historical papyrological and zooarchaeological In addition to providing case studies that draw from the rich archaeological documentary and epigraphic evidence the volume also explores the different and sometimes divergent pictures offered by these sources from discrepancies in the cost of religious buildings to the tensions between piety and ostentatious donation The edited collection thus bridges economic social and religious themes The volume provides a view of a society in which religion had a central role in economic activity on an institutional to individual scale The volume allows an evaluation of impact of that activity from both financial and social viewpoints providing a new perspective on Roman religion a perspective to which a wide range of archaeological and documentary evidence from animal bone to coins and building costs has contributed As a result this volume not only provides new information on the economy of Roman religion it also proposes new ways of looking at existing bodies of evidence Continuity and Change in Etruscan Domestic Architecture Paul M. Miller, 2017-04-30 Etruscan architecture underwent various changes between the later Iron Age and the Archaic period This book reconsiders these changes by focusing on the building materials and techniques used in the construction of domestic structures Archiv für

Baughan,Lisa C. Pieraccini,2023-03-09 Striking similarities in Etruscan and Anatolian material culture reveal various forms of contact and exchange between these regions on opposite sides of the Mediterranean This is the first comprehensive investigation of these connections approaching both cultures as agents of artistic exchange rather than as side characters in a Greek focused narrative It synthesizes a wide range of material evidence from c 800 300 BCE from tomb architecture and furniture to painted vases terracotta reliefs and magic amulets By identifying shared practices common visual language and movements of objects and artisans from both east to west and west to east it illuminates many varied threads of the interconnected ancient Mediterranean fabric Rather than trying to account for the similarities with any one overarching theory this volume presents multiple simultaneous modes and implications of connectivity while also recognizing the distinct local identities expressed through shared artistic and cultural traditions The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2006
