Religious Guide To Europe:

A Religious Guide to Europe Daniel M. Madden, 1975-01-01 Religions, Beliefs and Education in the European Court of Human Rights Nigel Fancourt, 2024-02-20 This book represents an exposition of judicial pedagogies as a new concept and discusses juridical educational issues in detail through an analysis of the educational claims and assumptions of judges decisions in the European Court of Human Rights ECtHR It sheds light on how within courtrooms around the world judges are increasingly being asked to decide upon issues of religion and belief in schooling whether about admissions policies curriculum planning or pupils and teachers dress and jewellery With key human rights principles at stake these proceedings are often fraught clashing with strong opinions about education and schooling Focusing on decisions made in the European Court of Human Rights ECtHR the author considers how the supranational court looks at these issues and considers the ECtHR s role within the European Education space Drawing upon research and scholarship surrounding these questions the book surveys a series of educational issues including curriculum and assessment and takes a comparative approach in the discussion of case studies to demonstrate the variety and depth of judges thinking Thus rather than considering the national or supranational legal principles and questions as jurisprudential issues typically about religion or human rights it reviews them from an educational perspective as folk theories of teaching and learning Finally it considers the implications of a theory of judicial pedagogy for the courts educational competence in deciding on these matters for education and educational policy research the European education space legal scholarship and for legal and judicial education Developing a novel and innovative approach to the pedagogies at play in a courtroom and providing fresh insights into the courts as agents of social change it will appeal to scholars and researchers working across the disciplines of education law and religious studies

Religion in Modern Europe Grace Davie, 2000-08-03 Religion in Modern Europe examines religion as a form of collective memory This is a memory held in place by Europe s institutional churches educational systems and the mass media all of which are themselves responding to rapid social and economic change Europe s religious memory is approached in the following ways as vicarious a particularly European characteristic as precarious especially among young people and as it is portrayed by the media The memory may fragment be disputed and in extreme cases disappear Alternatives may emerge The challenge for European societies is to affirm healthy mutations in religious memory and discourage others The book also examines the increasing diversity of Europe s religious life European Societies Series Series Editor Colin Crouch Very few of the existing sociological texts which compare different European societies on specific topics are accessible to a broad range of scholars and students The European Societies series will help fill this gap in the literature and attempt to answer questions such as Is there really such a thing as a European model of society Do the economic and political integration processes of the European Union also imply convergence in more general aspects of social life like family or religious behaviour What do the societies of Western Europe have in common with those further to the east This series will cover the main social institutions

although not every author will cover the full range of European countries As well as surveying existing knowledge in a way that will be useful to students each book will also seek to contribute to our growing knowledge of what remains in many respects a sociologically unknown continent

Christian Pilgrimage in Modern Western Europe Mary Lee Nolan, Sidney Nolan, 2018-06-15 Christian Pilgrimage in Modern Western Europe is a commanding exploration of the importance of religious shrines in modern Roman Catholicism By analyzing more than 6 000 active shrines and contemporary patterns of pilgrimage to them the authors establish the cultural significance of a religious tradition that today touches the lives of millions of people Roman Catholic pilgrimage sites in Western Europe range from obscure chapels and holy wells that draw visitors only from their immediate vicinity to the world famous often thronged shrines at Rome Lourdes and Fatima These shrines generate at least 70 million religiously motivated visits each year with total annual visitation exceeding 100 million Substantial numbers of pilgrims at major shrines come from the Americas and other areas outside Western Europe Mary Lee Nolan and Sidney Nolan describe and interpret the dimensions of Western European pilgrimage in time and space a cultural geographic approach that reveals regional variations in types of shrines and pilgrimages in the sixteen countries of Western Europe They examine numerous legends and historical accounts associated with cult images and shrines showing how these reflect ideas about humanity divinity and environment The Nolans demonstrate that the dynamic fluctuations in Christian pilgrimage activities over the past 2 000 years reflect socioeconomic changes and technological transformations as well as shifting intellectual orientations Increases and decreases in the number of shrines established coincide with major turning points in European history for pilgrimage no less than wars revolutions and the advent of urban industrial society is an integral part of that history Pilgrimage traditions have been influenced by and have influenced science literature philosophy and the arts Christian Pilgrimage in Modern Western Europe is based on ten years of research The Nolans collected information on 6 150 shrines from published material correspondence with bishops and shrine administrators and interviews They visited 852 Western European shrines in person Their book will be of interest to many general readers and of special value to historians cultural geographers students of comparative religion anthropologists social psychologists and shrine administrators

The European Wars of Religion Wolfgang Palaver, Harriet Rudolph, Dietmar Regensburger, 2016-12-05 In recent years religion has resurfaced amongst academics in many ways replacing class as the key to understanding Europe's historical development. This has resulted in an explosion of studies revisiting issues of religious change, confessional violence and holy war during the early modern period. But the interpretation of the European wars of religion still remains largely defined by national boundaries tied to specific processes of state building as well as nation building. In order to more thoroughly interrogate these concepts and assumptions, this volume focusses on terms repeatedly used and misused in public debates such as religious violence and holy warfare within the context of military conflicts commonly labelled religious wars. The chapters not only focus on the role of religion but also on the emerging state as a driver of the escalation of violence in the so-called age of religious war. By using different methodological and theoretical approaches, historians, philosophers and theologians engage in an interdisciplinary debate that contributes to a better understanding of the religious-political situation of early modern Europe and the interpretation of violent conflicts interpreted as religious conflicts today. By adopting a multi-disciplinary approach, new and innovative perspectives are opened up that question if in fact religion was a primary driving force behind these conflicts.

Integrative Religious Education in Europe Wanda Alberts, 2012-02-14. This book is a contribution to the development of the young discipline of the didactics of the Study of Religions (Religionswissenschaft) in international perspective. Integrative religious education refers to education about different religions in classrooms with children of various religious and non-religious backgrounds. Cornerstones of recent debates about theory and methodology in the academic study of religions and in education are discussed in the first chapter. They form the basis of the following analysis and evaluation of current approaches to integrative religious education in Europe with a special focus on England and Sweden. Particular attention is paid to the different underlying concepts of religion education and ways of representing religious plurality in these approaches. Building on a discussion of the current situation of teaching and learning about religions in schools in Europe in the context of wider cultural, social and political debates, the book concludes with the suggestion of a framework for integrative religious education in Europe from a perspective that combines insights from the study of religions and education.

The Routledge Handbook of Religion and Politics in Europe Effie Fokas, Alberta Giorgi, 2025-12-30. The Routledge Handbook of Religion and Politics in Europe is an outstanding reference source to this engaging subject area. A number of developments at the intersection between religion and politics in Europe, including the terrorist attacks echoing that of 9/11, the rise of the far right and populism linked to anti-Islamic rhetoric in the context of migration of Muslims into Europe and a series of controversies to do with free speech and hate speech, have served as a catalyst for a surge in interdisciplinary scholarship. The relationships between religion and politics are increasingly recognised as central to our understanding of contemporary European life and are investigated from a growing variety of approaches and perspectives. Comprising 31 chapters by a team of international contributors, this handbook is divided into three parts: Theoretical underpinnings and methodological perspectives; Actors, policies and institutions; Emerging themes and current debates. Within these sections central issues debates and problems to religion and politics are examined including migration religion in the city digital religion environmentalism humour celebrity and leadership activism authority citizenship mediatisation secularism judicialisation marketisation political economy security European parliament human rights party politics populism feminism political violence hate speech bioethics pandemics and health cults race equality and inequality The Routledge Handbook of Religion and Politics in Europe is essential reading for students and researchers in religious studies and politics This handbook will also be very useful for those in related fields such as cultural studies media studies anthropology and sociology

Representing Religion in the European Union Lucian Leuștean, 2013 Religious actors are becoming part of the EU bureaucratic system and their mobilisation in Brussels and Strasbourg in the last decade has increased dramatically This book explores the mechanism and impact of religious representation by examining relations between religious practitioners and politicians in the European Union from the Second World War until today This book seeks to answer the following questions How do trans national religious groups enter into contact with European institutions What are the rationale and the mechanisms of religious representation in the European Union How are religious values transposed into political strategies What impact has relations between religious practitioners EU officials and politicians on the construction of the European Union Examining religious representation at the state transnational and institutional levels this volume demonstrates that faith is becoming an increasingly important element of the decision making process It includes chapters written by both academics and religious practitioners in dialogue with European institutions and will be of great interest to students and scholars of European politics history sociology of religion law and international relations taming fear and insecurity It shows how this largely correlates with how meticulous providentialism the belief that God governs history has been supplanted by general providentialism the belief that God does not intervene in history in the religious cultures of the two regions This shift corresponds to the degree of control individuals feel they have over their history and destiny which typically aligns with their actual social affordances At the heart of these discussions is the notion that the authenticity of the theoretical foundations of political visions is conditioned by society's view of the divine which ultimately determines the capacity of these visions potential to impact history Religion and Politics in Europe and Latin America is a useful resource for students and academics interested in Latin American and European history politics and culture Europäisches und Globales Christentum / European and Global Christianity Katharina Kunter, Jens Holger Schjørring, 2011-10-06

The historical study of Protestantism is often limited to internal or national discussions Yet a broader international look means also studying the major upheavals that occurred throughout the world such as wars and globalisation This volume first reviews the history of the church in the 20th century from an international and interdisciplinary vantage point and takes a look at the most important themes and conflicts that marked that often tension filled time among others the two world wars globalisation the broad number of continuities and discontinuities the influence of the 1960s on social life and the debate on the role of gender in the history of Christianity With contributions by H Lehmann H McLeod A V T nessen U stergaard M Greschat N Hope M Tomka H Oelke K J Hummel D Thorkildsen K Koschorke K Ward E Gebremedhin and V Mortensen Religious Communities and Civil Society in Europe Rupert Graf

Strachwitz, 2019-08-19 The seemingly vitalizing impact of religiosity on civil society is a research topic that has been extensively looked into not only in the USA but increasingly also in a European context What is missing is an evaluation of the role of institutionalized religious communities and of circumstances that facilitate or impede their status as civil society organisations This anthology in two volumes aims at closing this gap by providing case studies regarding political legal and historical aspects in various European countries Vol I provides an introduction and looks at cases in Greece Italy the Netherlands Sweden and Bosnia and Herzegovina as well as chapters on legal issues and data and comprehensive bibliography Freedom of Religion or Belief in the European Convention on Human Rights Caroline K.

Roberts, 2023-11-23 The right to freedom of thought conscience and religion in Article 9 of the European Convention on Human Rights ECHR has become increasingly significant and contested Through an examination of ECHR Article 9 its drafting history and the related jurisprudence of the European Court of Human Rights ECtHR Caroline K Roberts challenges the classic approach to this right in the literature Roberts argues that claims that there is or should be a clear binary and hierarchical distinction between the absolutely protected internal realm and the qualified external realm in this right are not founded textually or jurisprudentially Rather the primary materials suggest that the internal and external aspects are deeply interrelated and this is reflected in the ECtHR's nuanced and holistic approach to ECHR Article 9 protection This comprehensive rigorous and up to date reappraisal of ECHR Article 9 and the related ECtHR jurisprudence will be essential reading for academics and practitioners
