Colonial India in Children's Literature Supriya Goswami, 2012-07-26 Colonial India in Children's Literature is the first book length study to explore the intersections of children's literature and defining historical moments in colonial India Engaging with important theoretical and critical literature that deals with colonialism hegemony and marginalization in children's literature Goswami proposes that British Anglo Indian and Bengali children's literature respond to five key historical events the missionary debates preceding the Charter Act of 1813 the defeat of Tipu Sultan the Mutiny of 1857 the birth of Indian nationalism and the Swadeshi movement resulting from the Partition of Bengal in 1905 Through a study of works by Mary Sherwood 1775 1851 Barbara Hofland 1770 1844 Sara Jeanette Duncan 1861 1922 Rudyard Kipling 1865 1936 Upendrakishore Ray 1863 1915 and Sukumar Ray 1887 1923 Goswami examines how children's literature negotiates and represents these momentous historical forces that unsettled Britain's imperial ambitions in India Goswami argues that nineteenth century British and Anglo Indian children's texts reflect two distinct moods in Britain's colonial enterprise in India Sherwood and Hofland writing before 1857 use the tropes of conversion and captivity as a means of awakening children to the dangers of India whereas Duncan and Kipling shift the emphasis to martial prowess adaptability and empirical knowledge as defining qualities in British and Anglo Indian children Furthermore Goswami's analysis of early nineteenth century children's texts written by women authors redresses the preoccupation with male authors and boys adventure stories that have largely informed discussions of juvenility in the context of colonial India This groundbreaking book also seeks to open up the canon by examining early twentieth century Bengali children's texts that not only draw literary inspiration from nineteenth century British children's literature but whose themes are equally shaped by empire

Handbook of Twentieth-Century Literatures of India Nalini Natarajan, 1996-09-09 India has a rich literary assemblage produced by its many different regional traditions religious faiths ethnic subcultures and linguistic groups The published literature of the 20th century is a particularly interesting subject and is the focus of this book as it represents the provocative conjuncture of the transitions of Indian modernity This reference book surveys the major regional literatures of contemporary India in the context of the country's diversity and heterogeneity Chapters are devoted to particular regions and the arrangement of the work invites comparisons of literary traditions Chapters provide extensive bibliographies of primary works thus documenting the creative achievement of numerous contemporary Indian authors Some chapters cite secondary works as well and the volume concludes with a list of general works providing further information An introductory essay overviews theoretical concerns ideological and aesthetic considerations developments in various genres and the history of publishing in regional literatures The introduction provides a context for approaching the chapters that follow each of which is devoted to the literature of a particular region Each chapter begins with a concise introductory section The body of each chapter is structured according to social and historical events literary forms or broad descriptive or analytic trends depending on the particular subject matter Each chapter then closes with an extensive bibliography of primary works thus documenting the rich literary tradition of the region Some chapters also cite secondary sources as an aid to the reader The final chapters of the book address special topics such as sub cultural literatures or the interplay between literature and film A list of additional sources of general information concludes the volume

Children's Literature and Intergenerational Relationships Justyna

Deszcz-Tryhubczak, Irena Barbara Kalla, 2021-04-23 Children's Literature and Intergenerational Relationships Encounters of the Playful Kind explores ways in which children's literature becomes the object and catalyst of play that brings younger and older generations closer to one another Providing examples from diverse cultural and historical contexts this collection argues that children's texts promote intergenerational play through the use of literary devices and graphic formats and that they may prompt joint play practices in the real world The book offers a distinctive contribution to children's literature scholarship by shifting critical attention away from the difference and conflict between children and adults to the exploration of inter age interdependencies as equally crucial aspects of human life presenting a new perspective for all who research and work with children's culture in times of global aging

The Rays before Satyajit Chandak Sengoopta, 2016-05-04

In the history of Indian cinema the name of Satyajit Ray needs no introduction However what remains unvoiced is the contribution of his forebears and their tryst with Indian modernity Be it in art advertising and printing technology or in nationalism feminism and cultural reform the earlier Rays attempted to create forms of the modern that were uniquely Indian and cosmopolitan at the same time Some of the Rays especially Upendrakishore and his son Sukumar are iconic figures in Bengal But even Bengali historiography is almost exclusively concerned with the family's contributions to children's literature However as this study highlights the family also played an important role in engaging with new forms of cultural modernity Apart from producing literary works of enduring significance they engaged in diverse reformist endeavours The first comprehensive work in English on the pre Satyajit generations The Rays before Satyajit is more than a collective biography of an extraordinary family It interweaves the Ray saga with the larger history of Indian modernity

The Literary Utopias of Cultural Communities, 1790-1910 Margu rite Corporaal, Evert Jan van Leeuwen, 2010 This volume of essays by scholars in the field of English and American studies brings together a variety of perspectives on the utopian literature originating from cultural communities from 1790 1910 Ranging from the Lunar society to the Nationalist movement and from the Transcendentalists to the Indian Monday Club the fifteen peer reviewed articles examine a wide range of contexts in which utopian literature was written and will be of interest to scholars in the field of cultural and literary studies alike Moreover the volume presents the reader with a unique overview of developments in Utopian thinking and literature throughout the long nineteenth century Specific attention is paid to the transatlantic nature of cultural communities in which utopian writings were produced and read as well as to the colonial contexts of nineteenth century utopian literature As such the collection offers a novel approach to a tradition of utopian writing that was essentially transcultural Margu rite Corporaal Radboud University Nijmegen and Evert Jan van Leeuwen Leiden University are lecturers in English and American literature in the Netherlands

Translation as Growth Udaya Narayana Singh, 2010

Sudden Genius? Andrew Robinson, 2010-09-16 Genius and breakthroughs appear to involve something magical Andrew Robinson looks at what science does and does not know about exceptional creativity and applied it to the stories of ten breakthroughs in the arts and sciences including Curie s discovery of radium and Mozart s composing of The Marriage of Figaro

Sukumar Ray Subhadra Sen Gupta, 2003 Sukumar Ray was the first humorist in Bengali literature His witty poems anarchic plays and hilarious stories have enchanted many generations of readers Many phrases invented by him have become a part of the Bengali language Sukumar Ray introduced humour to Indian Literature and his irrepressible voice still fills our lives with an innocent insanity and the unadulterated joy of laughter

Art and Nationalism in Colonial India, 1850-1922 Partha Mitter, 1994 Partha Mitter s book is a pioneering study of the history of modern art on the Indian subcontinent from 1850 to 1922 The author tells the story of Indian art during the Raj set against the interplay of colonialism and nationalism The work addresses the tensions and contradictions that attended the advent of European naturalism in India as part of the imperial design for the westernisation of the elite and traces the artistic evolution from unquestioning westernisation to the construction of Hindu national identity Through a wide range of literary and pictorial sources Art and Nationalism in Colonial India balances the study of colonial cultural institutions and networks with the ideologies of the nationalist and intellectual movements which followed The result is a book of immense significance both in the context of South Asian history and in the wider context of art history

Imagination and Art: Explorations in Contemporary Theory Keith Moser, Ananta Ch. Sukla, 2020-07-27 This transdisciplinary project represents the most comprehensive study of imagination to date The eclectic group of international scholars who comprise this volume propose bold and innovative theoretical frameworks for re conceptualizing imagination in all of its divergent forms Imagination and Art Explorations in Contemporary Theory explores the complex nuances paradoxes and aporias related to the plethora of artistic mediums in which the human imagination manifests itself As a fundamental attribute of our species which other organisms also seem to possess with varying degrees of sophistication imagination is the very fabric of what it means to be human into which everything is woven This edited collection demonstrates that imagination is the resin that binds human civilization together for better or worse
