Diagnosing Literary Genius Irina Sirotkina, 2003-04-30 Winner of the Aldo and Jeanne Scaglione Prize for Studies in Slavic Languages and Literatures from the Modern Language Association The vital place of literature and the figure of the writer in Russian society and history have been extensively studied but their role in the evolution of psychiatry is less well known In Diagnosing Literary Genius A Cultural History of Psychiatry in Russia 1880 1930 Irina Sirotkina explores the transformations of Russian psychiatric practice through its relationship to literature During this period psychiatrists began to view literature as both an indicator of the nation's mental health and an integral part of its well being By aligning themselves with writers psychiatrists argued that the aim of their science was not dissimilar to the literary project of exploring the human soul and reflecting on the psychological ailments of the age Through the writing of pathographies medical biographies psychiatrists strengthened their social standing debated political issues under the guise of literary criticism and asserted moral as well as professional claims By examining the psychiatric engagement with the works of Fyodor Dostoevsky Nikolai Gogol Leo Tolstoy and the decadents and revolutionaries Sirotkina provides a rich account of Russia's medical and literary history during this turbulent revolutionary period Mallarmé in the Twentieth Century Robert Cohn, Gerald historiography Winner of the Aldo and Jeanne Scaglione Prize for Studies in Slavic Languages and Literatures by the Modern Language Association The writing and teaching of Russian literary and cultural history have changed little since the 1980s In In Search of Russian Modernism challenges the basic premises of Russian modernist studies removing the aura of certainty surrounding the analytical tools at our disposal and suggesting audacious alternatives to the conventional ways of thinking and speaking about Russian and transnational modernism Drawing on methodological breakthroughs in Anglo American new modernist studies Leonid Livak explores Russian and transnational modernism as a story of a self identified and self conscious interpretive community that bestows a range of meanings on human experience Livak's approach opens modernist studies to integrative and interdisciplinary analysis including the extension of scholarly inquiry beyond traditional artistic media in order to account for modernism's socioeconomic and institutional history Writing with a student audience in mind Livak presents Russian modernism as a minority culture coexisting with other cultural formations while addressing thorny issues that regularly come up when discussing modernist artifacts Aiming to open an overdue debate about the academic fields of Russian and transnational modernist studies this book is also intended for an audience of scholars in comparative literary and cultural studies specialists in Russian and transnational modernism and researchers engaged with European cultural historiography Slavistic printings and reprintings, 1973 M.A. Voloshin, Artist-poet Cynthia Marsh, 1983
