Keyes, 1990-09-28 This catalogue accompanying a travelling exhibition presents 17th century Dutch marine art and stresses its relationship with Dutch history commerce and ship design It includes biographies of marine artists and essays aimed at explaining the works within a larger historical context Mirror of Empire ,1990 Mirror of Empire George S. Keyes, 1990 Mirror of Empire ,1990 The Ashgate Research Companion to Dutch Art of the Seventeenth Century Wayne Franits, 2017-07-05 Despite the tremendous number of studies produced annually in the field of Dutch art over the last 30 years or so and the strong contemporary market for works by Dutch masters of the period as well as the public's ongoing fascination with some of its most beloved painters until now there has been no comprehensive study assessing the state of research in the field As the first study of its kind this book is a useful resource for scholars and advanced students of seventeenth century Dutch art and also serves as a springboard for further research Its 19 chapters divided into three sections and written by a team of internationally renowned art historians address a wide variety of topics ranging from those that might be considered traditional to others that have only drawn scholarly attention comparatively recently Jacob Van Ruisdael Seymour Slive, 2001-01-01 If you know the 26 letters of the alphabet and can count to 99 or are just learning you'll love Tana Hoban's brilliant creation This innovative concept book is two books in one A Companion to Renaissance and Baroque Art Babette Bohn, James M. Saslow, 2012-01-02 A Companion to Renaissance and Baroque Art provides a diverse fresh collection of accessible comprehensive essays addressing key issues for European art produced between 1300 and 1700 a period that might be termed the beginning of modern history Presents a collection of original in depth essays from art experts that address various aspects of European visual arts produced from circa 1300 to 1700 Divided into five broad conceptual headings Social Historical Factors in Artistic Production Creative Process and Social Stature of the Artist The Object Art as Material Culture The Message Subjects and Meanings and The Viewer the Critic and the Historian Reception and Interpretation as Cultural Discourse Covers many topics not typically included in collections of this nature such as Judaism and the arts architectural treatises the global Renaissance in arts the new natural sciences and the arts art and religion and gender and sexuality Features essays on the arts of the domestic life sexuality and gender and the art and production of tapestries conservation technology and the metaphor of theater Focuses on Western and Central Europe and that territory's interactions with neighboring civilizations and distant discoveries Includes illustrations as well as links to images not included in the book Dutch Art Sheila D. Muller, 2013-07-04 An illustrated feast for the eye and intellect Dutch Art explores developments in art art history art criticism and cultural history of the Netherlands from the artists workshops for the Utrecht Dom in 1475 to the latest movements of the 1990s it is lavishly illustrated with 147 black and white photographs and 16 pages in full color More than 100 internationally recognized scholars museum professionals artists and art critics contributed signed essays to this monumental work including historians sociologists and literary historians The Art of the Dutch Republic, 1585-1718 Mariët Westermann, 2004 The art of the Dutch republic in the seventeenth century includes some of the most familiar and best loved examples of European painting exquisite still life studies tranquil interiors robust portraits and rowdy tavern scenes In this account Mariët Westermann describes this art as it was experienced by the people of the period and as it appears to us today She examines the major themes of Dutch art including the growth and expression of national identity the celebration and examination of the individual through portraiture and the changing status of artists themselves BOOK JACKET Dutch Paintings of the Seventeenth Century in the Rijksmuseum Amsterdam Jonathan Bikker, 2007 The Routledge Companion to Art and the Formation of Empire Emily C. Burns, Alice M. Rudy Price, 2025-05-30 This companion comprises essays that analyze interactions between art and global imperial relationships from 1800 to World War II The essays in this volume expose and add to historical layers of meaning in their discussions of art and empire Found across much of the globe sites of sedimentary rock allegorize the dynamics of art and empire and frame the section structure for this book Twenty two authors unpack imperial layers in a variety of global and historical contexts through case studies that center art and visual and material culture The authors show how art and aesthetics have operated as tools of empire Interpreting a comprehensive array of media as well as inter media dialogues they analyze and intervene in how we remember and examine entwinements between empire and aesthetic practices In this volume s attention to the role of art in imperial formation as well as the legacy of colonization the essays disentangle sediments of culture as they are moved and shaped by homogenizing forces of empire showing that the aesthetics of empire inflect not only individuals makers and economies but also practices of circulation and collecting The book will be of interest to graduate students researchers and professors and may be used in classes focused on art history imperialism and colonialism The Shame and the Sorrow Donna Merwick, 2013-03-01 The Dutch through the directors of the West India Company purchased Manhattan Island in 1625 They had come to the New World as traders not expecting to assume responsibility as the sovereign possessor of a conquered New Netherland They did not intend to make war on the native peoples around Manhattan Island but they did they did not intend to help destroy native cultures but they did they intended to be overseas the tolerant pluralistic and antimilitaristic people they thought themselves to be and in so many respects were at home but they were not For the Dutch intruders establishing a settled presence away from the homeland meant the destabilization of the adventurers values and self regard They found that the initially peaceful encounters with the indigenous people soon took on the alarming overtones of an insurgency as the influx of the Dutch led to a complete upheaval and eventual disintegration of the social and political worlds of the natives How are the Dutch to be judged Donna Merwick in The Shame and the Sorrow asks this question She points to a betrayal both of their own values and of the native peoples She also directs us to the self delusion of hegemonic control Her work belongs alongside the best of today's postcolonial studies in the description of cross cultural violence and subtle questioning of the nature of writing its history

Dutch Paintings in the Metropolitan Museum of Art Walter A. Liedtke, Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), 2007 Presents a catalog that surveys the Dutch paintings found in the Metropolitan Museum of Art

Piracy and Privateering in the Golden Age Netherlands V. Lunsford, 2005-06-03 This exciting scholarly work examines Dutch maritime violence in the seventeenth century With its flourishing maritime trade and lucrative colonial possessions the young Dutch Republic enjoyed a cultural and economic pre eminence becoming the leading commercial power in the world Dutch seamen plied the world's waters trading exploring and colonizing Many also took up pillaging terrorizing their victims on the high seas and on European waterways Surprisingly this story of Dutch freebooters and their depredations remains almost entirely untold until now Piracy and Privateering in the Golden Age Netherlands presents new data and understandings of early modern piracy generally and also sheds important new light on Dutch and European history as well such as the history of national identity and state formation and the history of crime and criminality

The Unending Frontier John F. Richards, 2003-05-15 John F. "Prints in Translation, 1450-1750" Edward H. Wouk, 2017-07-05 Printed artworks were often ephemeral but in the early modern period exchanges between print and other media were common setting off chain reactions of images and objects that endured Paintings sculpture decorative arts musical or scientific instruments and armor exerted their own influence on prints while prints provided artists with paper veneers templates and sources of adaptable images This interdisciplinary collection unites scholars from different fields of art history who elucidate the agency of prints on more traditionally valued media and vice versa Contributors explore how after translations across traditional geographic temporal and material boundaries original meanings may be lost reconfigured or subverted in surprising ways whether a Netherlandish motif graces a cabinet in Italy or the print itself colored or copied is integrated into the calligraphic scheme of a Persian royal album These intertwined relationships yield unexpected yet surprisingly prevalent modes of perception Andrea Mantegna's 1470-1500 Battle of the Sea Gods an engraving that emulates the properties of sculpted relief was in fact reborn as relief sculpture and fabrics based on print designs were reapplied to prints returning color and tactility to the very objects from which they derived Together the essays in this volume witness a methodological shift in the study of print from examining the printed image as an index of an absent invention in another medium a painting sculpture or drawing to considering its role as a generative active agent driving modes of invention and perception far beyond the locus of its production

Praise of Ships and the Sea Jeroen Giltaij, Jan Kelch, 1996

Changing Representations of Nature and the City Gabriel N. Gee, Alison Vogelaar, 2018-07-04 The turn of the 1960s-70s characterized by the rapid acceleration of globalization prompted a radical transformation in the perception of urban and natural environments The urban revolution and related prospect of the total urbanisation of the planet in concert with rapid population growth and resource exploitation instigated a surge in environmental awareness and activism One implication of this moment is a growing recognition of the integration and interconnection of natural and urban entities The present collection is an interdisciplinary inquiry into the changing modes of representation of nature in the city beginning from the turn of the 1960s 70s Bringing together a number of different disciplinary approaches including architectural studies and aesthetics heritage studies and economics environmental science and communication the collection reflects upon the changing perception of socio natures in the context of increasing urban expansion and global interconnectedness as they are were manifest in specific representations Using cases studies from around the globe the collection offers a historical and theoretical understanding of a paradigmatic shift whose material and symbolic legacies are still accompanying us in the early 21st century
