Nursing The Philosophy And Science Of Caring:

Nursing Jean Watson, 1985 In the evolution of the nursing profession the phrases nursing care therapeutic care caring for others and related expressions are used by nurses to describe their professional service to others Members of our society have different thoughts and role expectations about these phrases in relation to the kind of care they receive from nurses Furthermore these expressions hold different meanings for nurses in their various care giving roles such as to individual clients families and community groups they serve Care giving and care receiving roles of nurses have different sets of expectations and behaviors It is well there that members of the nursing profession begin systematically to clarify the diverse functions and cultural values related to the concepts of care caring and nursing care The concept of care is probably one of the least understood ideas used by professional and nonprofessional people yet it is probably one of the most important concepts to be understood by human groups It is a word with multiple social usages in the American culture and has other meanings in other world cultures The terms care caring and nursing care have both symbolic and functional meanings as they are used by caregivers and care recipients Nursing care also has a general special meaning to nurses and is often taken for granted in nurses thoughts and action patterns It is time that we study the implicit and explicit meanings associated with the concepts of care and caring so that we can reduce their ambiguities Furthermore the humanistic scientific and linguistic meanings related to nursing care and caring behaviors in any culture remain a most fascinating area of study for nurses

Nursing Jean Watson, 2008-05-31 Jean Watson's first edition of Nursing now considered a classic introduced the science of human caring and quickly became one of the most widely used and respected sources of conceptual models for nursing This completely new edition offers a contemporary update and the most current perspectives on the evolution of the original philosophy and science of caring from the field's founding scholar A core concept for nurses and the professional and non professional people they interact with care is one of the field's least understood terms enshrouded in conflicting expectations and meanings Although its usages vary among cultures caring is universal and timeless at the human level transcending societies religions belief systems and geographic boundaries moving from Self to Other to community and beyond affecting all of life This new edition reflects on the universal effects of caring and connects caring with love as the primordial moral basis both for the philosophy and science of caring practices and for healing itself It introduces Caritas Processes offers centering and mediation exercises on an included audio CD and provides other energetic and reflective models to assist students and practitioners in cultivating a new level of Caritas Nursing in their work and world Unitary Caring Science

Jean Watson, 2018-07-16 Unitary Caring Science The Philosophy and Praxis of Nursing takes a profound look at conscious intentional reverential caring healing as sacred practice praxis and as a necessary turn for survival Jean Watson posits Unitary Caring Science for the evolved Caritas conscious practitioner and scholar A detailed historical discussion of the evolution from Caring Science toward Unitary Caring Science reflects the maturing of the discipline locating the nursing phenomena of wholeness within the unitary field paradigm An exploration of praxis as informed moral practice results in an expanded development of the ten Caritas processes resulting in a comprehensive value guide to critical Caritas literacy and ontological Caritas praxis Watson writes for the Caritas Conscious Nurse™ or the Caritas Conscious Scholar Practitioner Educator on the journey toward the deeper caring healing dimensions of life Unitary Caring Science offers a personal professional path of authenticity bringing universals of Love Energy Spirit Infinity of Purpose and Meaning back into nurses lives and their life s work Unitary Caring Science serves as a continuing evolving message to the next generation of nurse scholars and healing health practitioners committed to a praxis informed by mature disciplinary consciousness Individual customers will also receive a secure link to select copyrighted teaching videos and meditations on www.watsoncaringscience.org
