actors entities or territorial units can be identified as important forces underlying and shaping regional change This volume provides further illumination contextualization and interpretation of the spatiality of the economic reality in Industrializing Asia as well as the role played by and the implications for different actors The objectives of this book are 1 to outline the processes of regional change linked to responses in the form of restructuring and integrative and regionalization tendencies as well as the realignment of the global regional local divide in production systems complexes and the operation of firms associated with reorganization of production in the process of maintaining and reconfiguring comparative advantage 2 to highlight the wide scope of the process by considering differential units of analysis linked to the agents and manifestations of regional change and the role of scale in terms of the spatial units involved 3 to highlight the implications as to the current and future position or role of differential actors agents particularly nation state in shaping the new economic reality in the region and as a corollary its positioning in the global economic order Globalization, Regionalization and Cross-Border Regions M. Perkmann, N. Sum, 2002-07-12 Cross border regions are newly emerging social spaces stretching across national borders Globalization makes national borders more permeable and leads to a rearrangement of economic and political interactions This is particularly pronounced within supra regional blocs featuring specific internal border regimes The ensuing opportunities are increasingly seized to create border spanning discourses and institutions This is illustrated in the book by a range of experts analyzing cross border regions in Europe America East Asia and Africa The Legal Framework for International Economic Relations Paul J. Davidson, Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, 1997 International economic law on the one hand and national economic laws and policies on the other form the borderlines of the playing ground within which the design for closer economic cooperation can be drawn Before anything can be done it is of utmost importance to know and study these borderlines This book is an attempt to set out the borderlines not only for intra ASEAN economic cooperation but also for economic cooperation between that region and Canada by considering the legal framework for international economic relations within ASEAN and between ASEAN and Canada The SIJORI Cross-Border Region Francis E Hutchinson, Terence Chong, 2016-06-14 Twenty five years ago the governments of Singapore Malaysia and Indonesia agreed to jointly promote the city state the state of Johor in Malaysia and the Riau Islands in Indonesia Facilitated by common cultural references a more distant shared history and complementary attributes interactions between the three territories developed quickly Logistics networks have proliferated and production chains link firms based in one location with affiliates or transport facilities in the other territories These cross border links have enabled all three locations to develop their economies and enjoy rising standards of living Initially economic in nature the interactions between Singapore Johor and the Riau Islands have multiplied and grown deeper Today people cross the borders to work go to school or avail of an increasing range of goods and services New political social and cultural phenomena have developed Policymakers in the various territories now need to reconcile economic imperatives and issues of identity and sovereignty Enabled by their proximity and increasing opportunities families have also begun to straddle borders with resulting questions about citizenship and belonging Using the Cross Border Region framework which seeks to analyse these three territories as one entity simultaneously divided and bound together by its borders this book brings together scholars from a range of disciplines Its 18 chapters and more than 20 maps examine the interaction between Singapore Johor and the Riau Islands over the past quarter century and seek to shed light on how these territories could develop in the future Regionalization and Labour Market Interdependence in East and Southeast Asia Duncan Campbell, Asma Lateef, Aurelio Parisotto, Anil Verma, 2016-01-06 How can we account for the dynamic growth of East and Southeast Asian countries Much of the debate has turned on the question of the state versus the market as exclusive and often competing explanations of the successful performance of individual countries This book explores the distinctively interdependent nature of the East and Southeast Asian experience As firms create a regional organization of production the growing interdependence of national labour markets is one major outcome
