Regional Innovation Knowledge And Global Change:

Regional Innovation, Knowledge and Global Change Zoltan Acs, 2013-12-19 First Published in 1999 The process of globalization is shaped and reinforced by a rapidly changing knowledge environment As economies become less constrained national frontiers they become more geographically specialized Thus important elements of the innovation process tend to become regional rather than national In this new environment large corporations are weakening their links with their home country spreading their innovation activities to source different regional systems of innovation Regional networks of forms are creating new forms of learning and production The aim of this book is to broaden both conceptually and empirically the national systems of innovation approach developed by Lundvall Freeman Nelson and others While recognizing the creative nature of economic adjustment in a turbulent world and the highly uneven distribution of economic growth the national systems approach lacks a mechanism by which to understand innovation when realistic unit of analysis is no longer the nation state Written by leading scholars in the field this book provides a ground breaking examination of sub regional systems of innovation in an interconnected global economy Regional Innovation, Knowledge and Global Change Zoltan Acs, 2013-12-19 First Published in 1999 The process of globalization is shaped and reinforced by a rapidly changing knowledge environment As economies become less constrained national frontiers they become more geographically specialized Thus important elements of the innovation process tend to become regional rather than national In this new environment large corporations are weakening their links with their home country spreading their innovation activities to source different regional systems of innovation Regional networks of forms are creating new forms of learning and production The aim of this book is to broaden both conceptually and empirically the national systems of innovation approach developed by Lundvall Freeman Nelson and others While recognizing the creative nature of economic adjustment in a turbulent world and the highly uneven distribution of economic growth the national systems approach lacks a mechanism by which to understand innovation when realistic unit of analysis is no longer the nation state Written by leading scholars in the field this book provides a ground breaking examination of sub regional systems of innovation in an interconnected global economy Proceedings of the Ninth International Conference on Management Science and Engineering Management Jiuping Xu, Stefan Nickel, Virgilio Cruz Machado, Asaf Hajiyev, 2015-05-20 This is the Proceedings of the Ninth International Conference on Management Science and Engineering Management ICMSEM held from July 21 23 2015 at Karlsruhe Germany The goals of the conference are to foster international research collaborations in Management Science and Engineering Management as well as to provide a forum to present current findings These proceedings cover various areas in management science and engineering management It focuses on the identification of management science problems in engineering and innovatively using management theory and methods to solve engineering problems effectively It also establishes a new management theory and methods based on experience of new management issues in engineering Readers

Knowledge, Complexity and Innovation Systems Manfred M. Fischer, Josef Fröhlich, 2013-11-27 In recent years there has been growing scientific interest in the triangular relationship between knowledge complexity and innovation systems The concept of innovation systems carries the idea that innovations do not originate as isolated discrete phenomena but are generated through the interaction of a number of actors or agents This set of actors and interactions possess certain specific characteristics that tend to remain over time Such characteristics are also shared by national regional sectoral and technological interaction systems They can all be represented as sets of institutional actors and interactions whose ultimate goal is the production and diffusion of knowledge The major theoretical and policy problem posed by these systems is that knowledge is generated not only by individuals and organisations but also by the often complex pattern of interaction between them To understand how organisations create new products new production techniques and new organisational forms is important An even more fundamental need is to understand how organisations create new knowledge if this knowledge creation lies in the mobilisation and conversion of tacit knowledge Although much has been written about the importance of knowledge in management little attention has been paid to how knowledge is created and how the knowledge creation process is managed The third component of the research triangle concerns complexity

Broadening Our Knowledge on Cluster Evolution Dirk Fornahl, Robert Hassink, Max-Peter Menzel, 2018-02-02 Although clusters are regarded as important elements in economic development the strong focus in the literature on the way clusters function is contrasted with a disregard for their evolutionary development how clusters actually become clusters how and why they decline and how they shift into new fields and transform over time Although recently new cluster life cycle approaches emerged both empirical evidence and theoretical contributions on this topic are still limited This book therefore contributes to broadening our knowledge on the life cycle and evolution of clusters both empirically and theoretically It contains chapters on inter firm relations as drivers of cluster transformation as well as chapters on the heterogeneity of firms and firm capabilities during cluster evolution and on the role of institutions in stimulating the emergence and growth of clusters Case studies stem from different industries and technologies such as biogas film and television new media and medical technologies and from different countries such as Sweden Austria Switzerland and South Korea All chapters underline that cluster evolution does not only depend on internal dynamics but that external relations are an integral part of cluster dynamics This book was previously published as a special issue of European Planning Studies Regional Innovation Systems Philip N. Cooke, Martin Heidenreich, Hans-Joachim Braczyk, 2004 Since the first edition was published in 1998 there has been a worldwide innovation led boom subsequent slump This new edition registers this change offers an interesting test of the robustness of the original arguments

Regional Innovation Systems Hans-Joachim Braczyk, Philip Cooke, Martin Heidenreich, 2003-09-02 First published in 1998 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company De-coding New Regionalism Professor James W. Scott, 2012-11-28 Bringing together comparative case studies from Central Europe and South America this book focuses on new regions regions created as political projects of modernization and re scaling Through this approach it de codes New Regionalism in terms of its contributions to institutional change while acknowledging its contested nature and contradictions It questions whether these regions are merely a strategy of neo liberal adjustment to changing political and economic conditions or whether they are indicative of true reform greater citizen participation and empowerment It assesses whether these regions are really representing something new or whether they are a reconfiguration of traditional power relationships It provides a timely critical analysis of region building and the extent to which national processes of decentralization and sub national processes of regionalism can enhance the effectiveness and responsiveness of governance De-coding New Regionalism James W. Scott, 2016-05-13 Bringing together comparative case studies from Central Europe and South America this book focuses on new regions regions created as political projects of modernization and re scaling Through this approach it de codes New Regionalism in terms of its contributions to institutional change while acknowledging its contested nature and contradictions It questions whether these regions are merely a strategy of neo liberal adjustment to changing political and economic conditions or whether they are indicative of true reform greater citizen participation and empowerment It assesses whether these regions are really representing something new or whether they are a reconfiguration of traditional power relationships It provides a timely critical analysis of region building and the extent to which national processes of decentralization and sub national processes of regionalism can enhance the effectiveness and responsiveness of governance

commercialization and valorization of knowledge can lead to higher levels of innovation and economic development from an international perspective is also provided This thought provoking book will prove a stimulating read for academics students and researchers with an interest in regional economics regional studies and knowledge management Regional Development in the Knowledge Economy Philip Cooke, Andrea Piccaluga, 2006-09-27 International contributors provide the first examination of the growing subject of regional knowledge economy development Illustrated by data and stylized accounts the international contributors chart the evolution of knowledge economies questioning the way in which they work and criticize accepted theories and inform how places can cope in the knowledge economy Based in concept on Cooke's Knowledge Economies Routledge 2002 Regional Development in the Knowledge Economy is a well grounded work exploring this increasingly important theme with relevance to innovation systems and related economic development literature

Innovation, Networks, and Knowledge Spillovers Manfred M. Fischer, 2006-12-02 Our understanding of innovation processes has dramatically changed over the past decades Interactive models of innovation differing significantly from the linear approach now emphasize both the importance of networking activities both within and across firms and the centrality of knowledge spillovers which lie at the root of the formation of networks The study of knowledge spillovers has become a major focus of research on innovative networks in recent years Part of this research tradition can be traced back to the early work of Alfred Marshall on external economies through which industrial districts as he termed them were integrated This book brings together a collection of articles and book chapters which present an overview and synthesis of current knowledge in the Economics of Innovation It both reviews what is known and accepted as the best thinking on selected topics in the field and provides research findings that offer valuable insights into the nature and process of innovation network formation and network activities knowledge generation and spillovers from a regional perspective By presenting the articles and book chapters as a whole this collection is a novel combination It is being published simultaneously with Spatial Analysis and GeoComputation Selected Essays Innovation Networks and Knowledge Spillovers is essentially a multi product undertaking in the sense that the various contributions are largely multi authored publications All these co authors deserve the full credit for this volume as they have been the scientific source of the research contributions included in the present volume

Regional Disparities in Small Countries Daniel Felsenstein, Boris A. Portnov, 2005-12-28 1 2 Daniel Felsenstein and Boris A Portnov 1 Department of Geography Hebrew University of Jerusalem Israel 2 Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Management University of Haifa Israel During the Candiot War of 1645 1669 the Ottoman Sultan Ibrahim I ordered his chief admiral to attack Malta Fearing imminent defeat by the superior Venetian forces stationed on the island the admiral decided to trick the sultan out of the idea As the story goes he placed a candle on his naval map allowing the wax to drip on the tiny island until it was completely covered Then he exclaimed in false surprise Malta Yok There is no Malta and convinced the sultan to sail his fleet to the Island of Crete instead Although Malta is not featured in this volume most of the countries it covers are of wax drip size Intuitively it may be expected that everything in small countries is diminutive distances population economies and even regional inequalities Thus at a symposium on The Challenge of Development convened in Israel in 1957 to mark the inauguration of a new building for the Department of Economics at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem the eminent US economist Simon Kuznets stated that developed small states seem to have succeeded in spreading the fruits of economic growth more widely among their populations than the larger states at comparable levels of income per capita

Services and the Knowledge-Based Economy Mark Boden, Ian Miles, 2019-07-23 First published in 2000 Over the past two decades the service sector have increased dramatically and now occupy the largest share of the economy of advanced industrial societies Certain business services are regularly cited as evidence for the emergence of a knowledge economy In this pioneering book leading researchers in the fields of service industries and innovation studies investigate the reasons for the growth of the service sectors and this emergent knowledge economy Drawing on material as diverse as macroeconomic statistics and firm level case studies the contributors demonstrate that services are often important innovators in their own right as well as contributing to innovation and economic performance in their user industries The question of how far services are special cases and what specific processes and trajectories characterize their innovative activity is treated systematically Additionally a variety of original analyses and information resources are presented This book should be of value to the student of the modern industrial society to those seeking to forge policies appropriate to the new context of economic development and to researchers who are confronting the challenges of the knowledge economy

Digital Innovation: Innovation Processes In Virtual Clusters And Digital Regions Valerio Elia, Tommaso Massari, Giuseppina Passiante, 2003-09-19 This book presents The results of an empirical analysis of the new phenomenon of virtual clusters VCs which highlight the dynamics of these emerging innovation networks in the digital economy the challenges that this dynamics represents for the conventional theories which are unable to define a comprehensive framework that supports the development of these networks An overview of the most significant theoretical approaches to innovation networks and their rethinking in the digital economy scenario Following a neo Schumpeterian approach a particular focus is on the opportunity to integrate the economic benefits coming from the geographical proximity with the advantages related to the organisational proximity allowed by the ICT networks The constituent points of a strategy aimed at sustaining the developing processes of a VC in a drawback region and a description of the e Salento project an application of this strategy to an Italian drawback region the Salento Some general implications of the project for theory and practice are also discussed The architecture and the master plan of two initiatives within the e Salento project concerning the agribusiness and tourism sectors A model of leadership to guide innovation in an organisation competing in the digital economy including both firms and regions The perspective advanced in this book addresses issues concerned with VC growth and regions economic development processes that are common to both the regional studies and the innovation management literature the book represents an important empirically grounded contribution to them Furthermore several scholars argue that new development models are emerging for firms and regions There is a lack of published work that provides empirical grounding and or analytical models of firms and regions development processes in the Net Economy

The Capacity to Innovate Sarah Giest, 2021-04-07 In The Capacity to Innovate Sarah Giest provides insight into the collaborative and absorptive capacities needed to provide public support to local innovation through cluster organizations The book offers a detailed view of the vertical multi level and horizontal dynamics in clusters and cluster policy and addresses how they are managed and supported Using the biotechnology field as an example Giest highlights challenges in the collaborative efforts of public bodies private companies and research institutes to establish a successful ecosystem of innovation in this sector The book argues that cluster policy in collaboration with cluster organizations should focus on absorptive and collaborative capacity elements missing in the cluster context in order to improve performance Currently governments operate at different levels from the local to the supranational in order to support clusters and cluster policies are often pursued alongside other programs leading to uncoordinated efforts and ineffective cluster strategies The Capacity to Innovate advocates for a coordinated effort by government and cluster organizations to support capacity elements lacking within the specific cluster context
