Reinventing Human Services Community And Family Centered Practice:

Reinventing Human Services Kristine Nelson, Paul Adams, 2011-12-31 Dissatisfaction with a human services system that is unresponsive, stigmatizing and ineffective has led to a ferment of experimentation in recent years. Reinventing Human Services examines the historical and economic context of current efforts to reinvent human services, showing the urgency and the difficulty of the task. It draws on successful examples in Britain, Canada and the United States to develop a new paradigm for social work practice, one that integrates individual, family and community levels of practice and reconceptualizes professional community relations. The interdisciplinary team of authors includes scholars, researchers and practitioners from the disciplines of economics, urban planning, communications, criminal justice, psychology, marriage and family therapy, education and social work.

Reinventing Human Services Benjamin Higgins, 2017-07-05 Dissatisfaction with a human services system that is unresponsive, stigmatizing and ineffective has led to a ferment of experimentation in recent years. Reinventing Human Services examines the historical and economic context of current efforts to reinvent human services, showing the urgency and the difficulty of the task. Human Services Integration Michael J. Austin, 2014-01-02 Addressing the multiple meanings of service integration, Human Services Integration analyzes how motivations and expectations for social service integration differ significantly among different players in the service system. In a period of major budget cutbacks and welfare reform, however, it is important that service providers collaborate to reduce or eliminate boundaries between categorically defined and provided services. This book tells you about the efforts being made to provide existing services more efficiently while avoiding duplication and waste. As you will quickly see, developing consensus for service integration efforts at the administrative, community and staff levels will result in the ability to set achievable goals and objectives and secure cooperation at all levels. Human Services Integration covers practice principles for managing organizational and community change and offers strategies for organizing human service agencies and overcoming fragmented service integration in communities with complex problems and needs. To also help you identify specific service integration activities that are relevant in the context of unique communities, it discusses specifications for conducting a self-assessment of progress at the local level toward social service integration goals. Georgia's Family Connection, a statewide human services initiative, interweaving formal and informal systems of care in a community-centered approach to service integration, a children's initiative, collaborative social science theory pertinent to service integration, gathering support from elected officials such as boards of supervisors, city leaders and local elected boards. Human Services Integration will help you understand why service integration cannot be defined by a particular service model or outcome Its insight will also help you understand why involving service users and community members in the design and delivery of services is fundamental to developing an integrated service system that is culturally competent empowering and responsive to its neighborhood and community context The Partnership Model in Human Services Rosalyn Benjamin Darling,2005-12-11 This book provides students and practitioners with a theoretical and methodological foundation for implementing client and family centered partnership approaches in human services Unlike other texts in the field the author integrates the principles and practices of sociology with applied work in the helping professions and shows how key sociological concepts can be used to explain the nature of clients perspectives and expand client opportunities The Handbook of Community Practice Marie Weil,Michael Reisch,2005 Encompassing community development organizing planning and social change as well as globalisation this book is grounded in participatory and empowerment practice The 36 chapters assess practice theory and research methods

Maluccio, 2017-11-30 In this collective portrait editors and authors do not attempt to draw systematic country by country comparisons Given the magnitude of the issues they believed that it would be inappropriate to paint with too broad a stroke What they have accomplished however is to codify and identify what the participants repeatedly noted in regard to issues and difficulties inherent in conducting outcome evaluation These include varying definitions of outcome complexities in measuring outcomes of particular interventions with different groups of consumers and documenting the effectiveness of the intervention the tendency to focus on evaluation of process more than outcome the challenge of involving practitioners in the evaluation task in part because its value is unclear to them or perceived as distant or untrustworthy the typical inadequacy of resources available for systematic evaluation and the need to inject rigor into the design and execution of evaluation projects The authors demonstrate strong conviction about sharing research expertise across national boundaries learning through each other how to cope with organizational impediments to cross national collaboration and strengthening the interaction between practice and research Their contributions suggest that there is wide interest in pursuing cross national collaboration In recent years largely in response to demands by their funding sources for accountability assessment of performance and cost effectiveness researchers in human services have been devoting increased attention to outcome evaluation Limited attention however has been given to the findings of evaluation studies conducted in different countries The present volume has been organized and edited to address the task of learning from outcome research across the world Its goal an extension of a major goal of the human services in any one country is to improve life chances of vulnerable children and youth Handbook of Applied Developmental Science Richard M. HIV, AIDS, and the Law Donald Dickson, 2017-09-04 Although morbidity among HIV AIDS victims has decreased the rate of new infections has remained steady for several years substantially increasing the likelihood that this epidemic will continue and expand as a concern for social workers and their clientele both of whom will need to be kept informed of the complex laws governing the milieu and the consequences of the disease This is certainly the case with its spread throughout Asia and Africa In this new work the author draws upon statutes and court decisions from across the United States to provide a comprehensive and current picture of the many facets of HIV AIDS law including health policy confidentiality privacy bioethics the workplace and criminal law and corrections The volume of legal medical social science and popular literature pertaining to HIV AIDS that has been published over the past two decades is staggering Hence any addition to this collection needs some justification What Dickson offers is different from what has preceded Rather than one more contribution to the extensive legal or social science literature this book attempts to integrate the perspectives from two fields law and social work The hope is that this will give social workers practitioners and teachers a better understanding of one of the major issues that may face them in their work with patients and clients every day To date although there is extensive HIV and AIDS related literature in social work and the social sciences it is primarily focused on social work practice issues Where law has been introduced in these works it often is narrow in focus and given the rapid changes in the field no longer up to date This book does not purport to discuss all legal issues in all jurisdictions relating to HIV AIDS but rather to choose selectively those that have particular relevance for social work and social policy The author has placed reliance on those published medical works cited with approval in the legal and

Person-Environment Practice Susan P. Kemp,James K. Whittaker,Elizabeth M. Tracy,2024-11-01 Person Environment Practice addresses a core but long neglected dimension in social work and human services practice accurate environmental assessment and strategic environmental intervention Despite the centrality of person environment as a key construct in direct practice the domain of environmental assessment intervention has received relatively little systematic attention in the practice literature For a variety of reasons the core focus of direct practice assessment and change strategies has centered more on person than environment This book seeks to redress that imbalance Ironically the relative lack of attention to environmentally oriented practice persists even as current demands of practice fall increasingly under the rubric of what we here call environmental intervention defined as both action in the environment and the process of transforming individual and collective perspectives through critical analysis of the impact of environmental conditions The authors argue that the ability to understand environment from the client's perspective and to function effectively in the environmental domain is central to many emergent areas of practice such as practice with extended families and personal networks practice from a strengths perspective and culturally competent practice In Person Environment Practice the authors offer a coherent critique and overview of environmental assessment and intervention congruent with the demands of both newly emerging and established interpersonal helping approaches within social work's domain Robert Halpern of the Erikson Institute for Advanced Studies in Child Development described the book as as clear thoughtful and subtle a discussion of how to consider the environment in interpersonal helping as I have seen in the literature and Anthony Maluccio of Boston College called the book a timely and exciting contribution with appreciation and respect for social work practices and qualities of inspiration as well as intellectual stimulation Susan P Kemp is assistant professor School of Social Work The University of Washington Seattle James K Whittaker is professor School of Social Work The University of Washington Seattle Elizabeth M Tracy is associate professor Mandel School of Applied Social Sciences Case Western Reserve University Cleveland Ohio Child Mental Health John Y Powell, David Dosser, Dorothea Handron, Susan Mccammon, Sandra A. Spencer, 2018-10-24 Use these system of care concepts to better serve children with serious emotional problems and their families Providing services to children with emotional problems and their families continues to be a major challenge for social workers family therapists child mental health advocates and psychologists in the new century This valuable book addresses that challenge detailing theory principles and application issues from the vantage points of both consumers and service providers System of care values and practices were developed to address these concerns and meet the needs of these children and families who tend to receive either no services at all or services that are far too restrictive at a large cost to the organization providing the services Child Mental Health Exploring Systems of Care in the New Millennium identifies salient issues and offers suggestions for addressing the complexities of providing services for these troubled families It also provides hope and encouragement for family members and professionals by identifying roles and practices that are effective in building collaborative community based services This book takes an incisive look at the benefits and difficulties of partnering between practitioners and families the need for and benefits of partnering between practitioners of various disciplines within the system of care a working model of a wraparound process the hallmark of the system of care barriers that prevent effective wraparound services and what causes them the need to help social workers learn parent partnering skills the roles that families can play in the system of care the need for specialized training so that practitioners can learn to assess understand and integrate a family's spiritual beliefs into the system of care the development of an interdisciplinary collaborative practice course at East Carolina University experiential training and shared classroom experiences for students Child Mental Health Exploring Systems of Care in the New Millennium is a tool that will aid practitioners and consumers alike as they shift their point of view from the provider as expert paradigm to one of building partnerships Effective
