Ian Grosvenor, Lisa Rosén Rasmussen

Remembering School Mapping Continuities In Power Subjectivity And Emotion In Stories Of School Life:

Remembering School Erica Southgate, 2003 What do people remember about their school experience What do the memories of generations of ex students have in common What do these memories tell us about the power relations and emotions produced by the institution of school What effect does school have on the formation of the self Remembering School uses a unique theoretical and methodological framework constructed from the theories of Michel Foucault and post structural feminism to explore the collective memory of school This book draws on a wide range of stories to explore memories of punishment bullying gender and race relations and pleasure Erica Southgate uses a clear often witty writing style to provide a provocative account of the enduring power relations of schooling and their lasting impact on people

Re-theorizing Discipline in Education Zsuzsa Millei (Ed), Tom G. Griffiths, Robert John Parkes, 2010 understandings that can make a difference in students lives

Critical Readings in Teacher Education, 2008-01-01 Like other fields of study teacher education defines itself both by what it includes and by what it excludes Teacher educators and researchers have spent a great deal of time seeking and attempting to eradicate the flaws in existing structures and practices but significantly less time learning to perceive the absences The premise of this book is that until we can identify and begin to address what is absent teacher education will be constrained by a perennial recycling of concerns that have characterized so much of research policy and practice to date If teacher education is to have a different future we need to ask different and difficult questions This book with contributions from theorists in Australia Canada and the United States addresses the challenges we face in establishing a more hopeful future for teacher education The authors provocative contributions identify what is missing in teacher education while providing critical counterpoints to existing frames of reference in the field In writing against the grain they open up new conceptual spaces and exciting trajectories for a different teacher education

Making Education: Material School Design and Educational Governance Ian Grosvenor, Lisa Rosén Rasmussen, 2018-12-08 This book brings together the notions of material school design and educational governance in the first such text to address this critical interrelationship in any depth In addressing the issue of governance through analysing current and historical material school designs it looks at the intersection of politics economics aesthetics and pedagogical ideas and practices More specifically it explores and unfolds educational governance as it is constituted materialized and transformed in and through material school designs It does so by studying a range of issues from the material and aesthetic language of schooling to the design of the built environment from spatial organization to the furnishing and equipment of classrooms and from technologies of regulation to the incorporation of tools of learning The book presents examples from Europe Latin and Central America and the United States and relates to the past present and future of governance and school design It focuses on design processes and on designers architects and people involved in the planning of school design as well as on school leaders teachers and pupils adopting inhabiting and re shaping them in everyday school life Furthermore the book discusses how to study governance by material school design and how to act upon governance by material design on wishful actual and ethical terms Piety and Privilege Tom A. O'Donoghue, Judith Harford, 2021 For centuries the Catholic Church ran schools around the world but by the 20th century most countries had moved to a state school system Piety and Privilege shows Ireland as an exception with the state financing schools leaving the Church to promote practices aimed at salvation of souls and at the reproduction of a loyal middle class Remembering School Erica Southgate, 2000

Children's experiences of classrooms Eleanore Hargreaves, 2017-03-20 If children are to succeed and progress at school schools and teachers need to understand how children experience the classroom What do they think How does school make them feel This book brings together the author's work on children's classroom experiences in a variety of contexts The author uses student voice to show what children think of classrooms tasks tests and exams and how this impacts their experience of schooling Can the classroom experience be transformative for children's life chances or is it a trap Schools and teachers need to take account of student perspectives in the primary school to make it the best experience possible Educational

Research: Networks and Technologies Paul Smeyers, Marc Depaepe, 2007-12-03 Does IT poison the minds of the young Must educational institutions change to serve the needs of the twenty first century This book addresses these questions and more It records the intellectual struggles of a group of scholars coming to grips with changes in knowledge production and research communication Together these authors demonstrate how philosophical and historical approaches are relevant to the practice and theory of education Rampage Violence Narratives Kathryn E. Linder, 2014-04-24 Springfield Columbine

Sandy Hook Each school shooting in the United States is followed by a series of questions Why does this happen Who are the shooters How can this be prevented Along with parents school officials media outlets and scholars popular culture has also attempted to respond to these questions through a variety of fictional portrayals of rampage violence Rampage Violence Narratives What Fictional Accounts of Rampage Violence Say about the Future of America's Youth offers a detailed look at the state of youth identity in American cultural representations of youth violence through an extended analysis of over forty primary sources of fictional narratives of urban and suburban rural school violence Representations of suburban and rural school shootings that are modeled after real life events serve to shape popular understandings of the relationship between education and American identity the liminal space between childhood and adulthood and the centrality of white heterosexual masculinity to definitions of social and political success in the United States Through a series of case studies that offer in depth examinations of fictional depictions of school shootings in film and literature it becomes clear that these stories are representative of a larger social narrative regarding the future of the United States The continuing struggle to understand youth violence is part of an ongoing conversation about what it means to raise future citizens within a cultural moment that views youth through a lens of anxiety rather than optimism Girls Becoming Teachers ,
