The History of U.S. Naval Aviation Photography and Photo-Reconnaissance Douglas E. Campbell, 2014-07-11 The first U S Navy aerial photographs were taken in 1913 in support of fleet exercises off Guantanamo Cuba Following WWI a Navy Photographic expedition went north making the first aerial mapping photos of the Alaskan territory WWII found Navy shuttermen in the Pacific theatre performing pre and post attack reconnaissance along with hitting the beach to record the war as it unfolded Shortly after Navy photographic units were in the Pacific to record early atomic bomb tests The Navy s aerial photo reconnaissance mission both at the front end with the weaponless aircrews and the output of thousands of images and photo interpretation continued to develop through the mid 20th century The last aerial photo plane in the Navy s inventory was retired after flying to the Smithsonian s Air and Space Museum Annex at Dulles International Airport in Fairfax County Virginia The 74 year odyssey of Navy and Marine Corps aerial reconnaissance photography was finished Destined for Glory Thomas Wildenberg, 2013-04-08 On 4 June 1942 three squadrons of U S Navy Dauntless dive bombers destroyed Japan s carrier force at Midway and changed the course of the Pacific war As Wildenberg demonstrates in this book the key ingredient to the Navy s success was the planning and training devoted to the tactic of dive bombing Examining how political economic technical and operational factors influenced the development of carrier airpower between 1925 and 1942 he shows why dive bombing became the Navy s weapon of choice He also pays tribute to the select group of naval aviators who drove the evolution of carrier tactics Although many books have been written about the Battle of Midway this is the first to focus on how the Navy came to develop the one aerial weapon that proved to be the decisive instrument of victory Time of the Aces Peter B. Battle of Midway John Grehan,2019-09-24 Japan s attack on Pearl Harbor in the Hawaiian Islands on 7 December 1941 had severely damaged the United States Pacific Fleet but had not destroyed it for the fleet s aircraft carrier force had been at sea when the Japanese struck This meant that despite the overwhelming success of Japanese military forces across the Pacific US carrier based aircraft could still attack Japanese targets After the Battle of the Coral Sea in early May 1942 in which both sides had lost one carrier the commander of the Japanese Combined Fleet Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto calculated that the US had only two serviceable carriers left If those remaining carriers could be lured into a battle with the Combined Fleet and destroyed nothing could stop the Japanese achieving complete control of the South Pacific It would take the United States many months even with its massive industrial muscle to rebuild its carrier fleet if it was destroyed by which time Japan would be able to secure the raw materials needed to keep its war machine functioning and to build all the bases it required across the Pacific which would enable its aircraft to dominate the entire region Aware of the sensitivity of the Americans towards Hawaii after the Battle of Pearl Harbor Yamamoto believed that if he attacked there again the US commander Admiral Nimitz would be certain to commit all his strength to its defence Yamamoto selected the furthest point of the Hawaiian Islands the Naval Air Station on the Midway Atoll for his attack which was beyond the range of most US land based aircraft Yamamoto launched his attack on 4 June 1942 But the US had intercepted and deciphered Japanese signals and Nimitz with three not two aircraft carriers knew exactly Yamamoto's plans Yamamoto had hoped to draw the US carriers into his trap but instead he sailed into an ambush The four day battle resulted in the loss of all four Japanese aircraft carriers the US losing only one The Japanese were never able to recover from these losses and it was the Americans who were able to take control of the Pacific The Battle of Midway unquestionably marked the turning point in the war against Japan

Florida Warbird Survivors 2002 Harold A. Skaarup, 2001-10-28 The purpose of this handbook is to provide aviation enthusiasts with a simple checklist on where to find the surviving retired military aircraft that are preserved in the state of Florida The museum staffs and volunteer organizations in Florida have done a particularly good job of preserving the great variety of American combat veteran aircraft illustrated here Hopefully as more aircraft are recovered from their crash sites in the bush and restored traded or brought back from private owners that they too will be added to the record The book lists the aircraft alphabetically by manufacturer number and type This list is also appended with a brief summary of the aircraft presently on display within the state and a bit of its history in the US military Vought F4U Corsair James
