Scattering Time Turkana Responses To Colonial Rule:

The Scattering Time John Lamphear, 1992 This book studies the armed resistance of the Turkana people of north western Kenya to British colonial administration in the early twentieth century From their first encounters with the colonial vanguard in the 1890s to the final surrender of the Great Diviner Lloolel Kokoi in 1926 the Turkana resisted imperial conquest Even after the imposition of colonial rule they continued to oppose the administration through a variety of strategies The first full study of the pastoral Turkana people this book explores their responses to European colonialism and examines the nature of their resistance making extensive use of oral sources as well as archival and published material His analysis takes full account of the military history of the period and addresses the fundamental question of why some African societies met the European advance with armed resistance while others did not Colonial Kenya Observed S. H. Fazan, 2014-11-14 The coast of East Africa was considered a strategically invaluable region for the establishment of trading ports both for Arab and Persian merchants long prior to invasion and conquest by Europeans In the initial stages of the scramble for Africa in the 18th century control of the area was an aspiration for every colonial nation in Europe but it was not until 1895 that it was finally dominated by a sole power and proclaimed The Protectorate of British East Africa In the early 20th century the coast was brimming with vitality as immigrants colonisers and missionaries from Arabia India and Europe poured in to take advantage of growing commercial opportunities including the prospect of enslaving millions of native Africans The development of Kenya is an exceptional tale within the history of British rule in perhaps no other colony did nationalistic feeling evolve in conditions of such extensive social and political change In 1911 S H Fazan sailed to what later became the Republic of Kenya to work for the colonial government Immersing himself in knowledge of traditional language and law he recorded the vast changes to local culture that he encountered after decades of working with both the British administration and the Kenyan people This work charts the sweeping tide of social change that occurred through his career with the clarity and insight that comes with a total intimacy of a country His memoirs examine the fascinating complexity of interaction between the colonial and native courts commercial land reform and the revolutionised dynamic of labour relations By further unearthing the political tensions that climaxed with the Mau Mau Revolt of 1952 1960 this invaluable work on the European colonial period paints a comprehensive and revealing firsthand account for anyone with an interest in British and African history Fazan s story provides a quite unparalleled view of colonial Africa and the conduct of Empire across half a century A Military History of Africa Timothy J. Stapleton, 2013-10-21 A detailed and thorough chronological overview of the history of warfare and military structures in Africa covering ancient times to the present day A Military History of Africa achieves a daunting task it synthesizes decades of specialized academic research and literature including the most recent material to offer an accessible survey of Africa s military history from the earliest times to the present day The first volume examines the precolonial period beginning with warfare in ancient North Africa including ancient Egypt and Carthage and continues through the cavalry based Muslim empires of the trans Sahara trade and the wars of the slave trade in West and East Africa The second volume focuses on the wars of European colonial conquest and African resistance during the late 19th century African participation in both world wars and the early violent struggles for independence from the 1950s and early 1960s The third volume explores warfare in postcolonial Africa including coverage of the impact of the global Cold War conflicts in Southern Africa from the 1960s to 1980s the development of postcolonial African armed forces and civil wars sparked by the discovery of precious resources such as diamonds in Sierra Leone Readers of this three volume work will understand how warfare and military structures have been consistently central to the development of African societies

Scorched Earth Emmanuel Kreike, 2022-10-25 A global history of environmental warfare and the case for why it should be a crime The environmental infrastructure that sustains human societies has been a target and instrument of war for centuries resulting in famine and disease displaced populations and the devastation of people's livelihoods and ways of life Scorched Earth traces the history of scorched earth military inundations and armies living off the land from the sixteenth to the twentieth century arguing that the resulting deliberate destruction of the environment environcide constitutes total war and is a crime against humanity and nature In this sweeping global history Emmanuel Kreike shows how religious war in Europe transformed Holland into a desolate swamp where hunger and the black death ruled He describes how Spanish conquistadores exploited the irrigation works and expansive agricultural terraces of the Aztecs and Incas triggering a humanitarian crisis of catastrophic proportions Kreike demonstrates how environmental warfare has continued unabated into the modern era His panoramic narrative takes readers from the Thirty Years War to the wars of France's Sun King and from the Dutch colonial wars in North America and Indonesia to the early twentieth century colonial conquest of southwestern Africa Shedding light on the premodern origins and the lasting consequences of total war Scorched Earth explains why ecocide and genocide are not separate phenomena and why international law must recognize environmental warfare as a violation of human rights

The Unknown God Thomas G. Grenham, 2005 This book explores the idea of religious and theological interculturalism from a Christian perspective as an approach to evangelisation It explores aspects of culture and pluralism as these have been interpreted in post Vatican II approaches to mission and evaluates interculturalism from a number of perspectives including language symbol and metaphor It draws insight from two New Testament encounters of Jesus with women in Samaria John and in Tyre Matthew and Mark and goes on to explore some historical sources of interculturalism in the missionary endeavours of the Jesuit Matteo Ricci A particular case study is made of the contemporary experience of an African people the Turkana of Kenya

The Pastoral Continuum Paul Spencer, 1998-01-29 Paul Spencer presents the definitive study of the ways of life of the cattle herding peoples of East Africa drawing on many years of research This region has offered a prime example of a traditional culture resisting the inevitability of change it provides the best known and most extensive instance both of cattle pastoralist society and of social organization based primarily on age

Pastoral peoples were once dominant in the East African interior but development of the market economy has progressively polarized the region and forced them into the most marginal drought ridden areas in this ecological trap they have become a peripheral underclass The Pastoral Continuum examines the richness and resilience of their cultures and illuminates the role of indigenous practices and institutions in adaptation and survival The pastoralists systems of age organization in particular are notable for their resilience it is demonstrated that these are bound up with problems of growth and succession in family enterprises and that marriage is a critical link in the web of alliance that governs the problematic relations between old and young Spencer s exploration of the development of the pastoralist phenomenon yields a unique view of its place in the modern world and its prospects for the future This landmark work by a leading authority will be of lasting value to any reader interested in traditional social systems of this kind

Killing Your Neighbors Jon Holtzman, 2017 One of the most disturbing spectacles of recent decades has been brutal acts of genocidal violence committed among neighboring communities who once lived together in peace ethnic cleansing in the former Yugoslavia the slaughter of Tutsis in Rwanda or the Sunni versus Shia violence in today s Iraq As these cases illustrate lethal violence does not always come at the hands of outsiders or foreigners Rather it can just as easily come at the hand of someone who once was considered a friend Killing Our Neighbors employs a multi sited approach and multi vocal ethnography to examine how once peaceful neighbors become transformed into perpetrators and victims of lethal violence It engages with a set of interlocking case studies in northern Kenya focusing on sometimes peaceful sometimes violent interactions between Samburu herders and neighboring groups interweaving Samburu narratives of key violent events with the narratives of neighboring groups on the other side of the same encounters The book is on one hand an ethnography of particular people in a particular place vividly portraying the complex and confusing dynamics of interethnic violence through the lives words and intimate experiences of individuals variously involved in and affected by these conflicts At the same time the book aims to use this particular case study to illustrate how the dynamics in northern Kenya provides comparative insights to well known compelling contexts of violence around the globe

Provided by publisher Resilience and Collapse in African Savannahs Michael Bollig, David M. Anderson, 2018-10-11 This book assesses the causes and consequences of environmental change in East Africa asking whether local African communities are sufficiently resilient to cope with the ecological and social challenges that confront them It focuses on the savannahs of the Baringo Bogoria basin and the surrounding highlands of Kenya s northern Rift Valley that form the social ecological system of the specialised cattle pastoralists and niche agricultural farmers who occupy these semi arid lands Historical studies of resilience spanning the past two centuries are linked with analysis of current environmental challenges and the ecological social economic and political responses mounted by local communities The authors question whether the most recent challenges confronting the peoples of eastern Africa s savannahs intensified conflicts mounting poverty driven by demographic pressures and dramatic ecological changes brought by invasive species might soon lead to a collapse in essential elements of the specialised cattle pastoralism that dominates the region requiring a re orientation of the social ecological system This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Eastern African Studies Contemporary Africa T. Falola,E. Mbah,2014-08-20 60 years after independence African nations still find it difficult to face a number of challenges from establishing meaningful democratic institutions to establish social structures centered on the advancement of gender equality This volume approaches these contemporary African challenges while combating a reflexive and facile Afro Pessimism From Divided Pasts to Cohesive Futures Hiroyuki Hino,Arnim Langer,John Lonsdale,Frances Stewart,2019-08-22 Offers an insightful yet readable study of the paths and challenges to social cohesion in Africa by experienced historians economists and political scientists Honour in African History John Iliffe,2005 This is the first published account of the role played by ideas of honour in African history from the fourteenth century to the present day It argues that appreciation of these ideas is essential to an understanding of past and present African behaviour Before European conquest many African men cultivated heroic honour others admired the civic virtues of the patriarchal householder and women honoured one another for industry endurance and devotion to their families These values both conflicted and blended with Islamic and Christian teachings Colonial conquest fragmented heroic cultures but inherited ideas of honour found new expression in regimental loyalty respectability professionalism working class masculinity the changing gender relationships of the colonial order and the nationalist movements which overthrew that order Today the same inherited notions obstruct democracy inspire resistance to tyranny and motivate the defence of dignity in the face of AIDS

Dynamics of Identification and Conflict Markus Virgil Hoehne,Echi Christina Gabbert,John R. Eidson,2025-03-01 Dealing with the dynamics of identification and conflict this book uses theoretical orientations ranging from political ecology to rational choice theory interpretive approaches Marxism and multiscalar analysis Case studies set in Africa Europe and Central Asia are grouped in three sections devoted to pastoralism identity and migration What connects all of these anthropological explorations is a close focus on processes of identification and conflict at the level of particular actors in relation to the behaviour of large aggregates of people and to systemic conditions Being Maasai Thomas Spear,Richard Waller,1993-04-01 Everyone knows the Maasai as proud pastoralists who once dominated the Rift Valley from northern Kenya to central Tanzania But many people who identity themselves as Maasai or who speak Maa are not pastoralist at all but farmers and hunters Over time many different people have become something else And what it means to be Maasai has changed radically over the past several centuries and is still changing today This collection by historians archaeologists anthropologists and linguists examines how Maasai identity has been created evoked contested and transformed from the time of their earliest settlement in Kenya to the present as well as raising questions about the nature of ethnicity generally

New Directions in African Military History Timothy J. Stapleton,2025-06-02 New Directions in African Military History takes a thematic approach to the history of war and military structures in Africa and highlights the under researched areas

African Military History represents a relatively new and fast growing sub field bridging the previously wide gap between the well established genres of African History and Military History Based on a synthesis of existing literature and aimed at a wide readership this book adopts a broad temporal range and uses select examples to highlight a series of points to cover the pre colonial to post colonial eras and offer examples from various parts of the continent This volume evaluates controversial academic debates examining evidence research methods approaches and changing historiographical contexts as well as pointing to potential new areas of research It comprises seven thematic chapters on ways of war weapons technology navies air power battles women combatants and genocide in African history This volume will be of value to students and scholars alike interested in Modern History Military History and African History

Risk and Social Change in an African Rural Economy John G. McPeak, Peter D. Little, Cheryl R. Doss, 2011-07-21 Pastoralists role in contemporary Africa typically goes underappreciated and misunderstood by development agencies external observers and policymakers Yet arid and semi arid lands ASAL which are used predominantly for extensive livestock grazing comprise nearly half of the continent's land mass while a substantial proportion of national economies are based on pastoralist activities Pastoralists use these drylands to generate income for themselves through the use of livestock and for the coffers of national trade and revenue agencies They are frequently among the continent's most contested and lawless regions providing sanctuary to armed rebel groups and exposing residents to widespread insecurity and destructive violence The continent's millions of pastoralists thus inhabit some of Africa's harshest and most remote but also most ecologically economically and politically important regions This study summarizes the findings of a multi year interdisciplinary research project in pastoral areas of Kenya and Ethiopia The cultures and ecology of these areas are described with a particular focus on the myriad risks that confront people living in these drylands and how these risks are often triggered by highly variable rainfall conditions The authors examine the markets used by residents of these areas to sell livestock and livestock products and purchase consumer goods before turning to an analysis of evolving livelihood strategies Furthermore they focus on how well being is conditioned upon access to livestock and access to the cash economy gender patterns within households and the history of development activities in the area The book concludes with a report on how these activities are assessed by people in the area and what activities they prioritize for the future Policy in pastoral areas is often formulated on the basis of assumptions and stereotypes without adequate empirical foundations This book provides evidence on livelihood strategies being followed in pastoral areas and investigates patterns in decision making and well being It indicates the importance of livestock to the livelihoods of people in these areas and identifies the critical and widespread importance of access to the cash economy concluding that future development activities need to be built on the foundation of the livestock economy instead of seeking to replace it

Disaster and Development in the Horn of Africa John Sorenson, 2016-07-27 The Horn of Africa has suffered repeated disasters wars drought famine mass refugee movements and environmental decline This book explains the historical and political background to these crises and outlines the prospects for development in the region Experts on the Horn cover a broad range of topics including ethnic conflict gender and refugees food security the survival of pastoralism the future of independent Eritrea operations of intelligence agencies and the possibilities for regional cooperation Historical Studies and Social Change in Western Kenya William Robert Ochieng',2002 Animal Oppression and Human Violence David Nibert,2013-04-30 By comparing practices of animal exploitation for food and resources in different societies over time David A Nibert finds in the domestication of animals which he renames domesecration a perversion of human ethics the development of large scale acts of violence disastrous patterns of destruction and epidemics of infectious disease Youth and Experiences of Ageing among Maa Paul Spencer,2014-01-01 The Maa of East Africa are a cluster of related pastoral peoples who share a social organization based on age This groups men into life long cohorts from their initiation in youth regardless of family wealth Historically this type of pre market society has been described in every continent but East Africa provides the principal surviving region of age based societies among whom the Maasai are the best known In this volume comparison between three branches of Maa highlights different aspects of their society the dynamics of power with age and gender among the Maasai of ritual performance and belief among the Samburu and of historical change among the Chamus Here it is argued that understanding another culture can only be approached through models derived in the first instance from the representations conveyed by members of that culture The social anthropologist may then elaborate these images through the choice of analytical parallels even extending to other disciplines and personal experience Each chapter in this volume views Maa institutions through a different lens exploring models relevant to a comprehensive analysis of their social life Expedition from Uganda to Abyssinia (1898) Frederic A. Sharf,2005 This book covers Bright s participation in African exploration expeditions from June 1897 to September 1908 He was a candid observer of places which were at the time largely unknown to the outside world He was a meticulous record keeper with a keen eye for details His diaries thus offer an unusual insider s look at the evolution of British colonial policy as well as providing a factual account of daily life on these expeditions In presenting one section of the first diary it is the editor s hope that an obscure but important aspect of the history of East Africa in the late 19th century will be illuminated The introductory material is designed to make its significance more apparent to those who are not familiar with the times and places involved
