School Change The Personal Development Of A Point Of View:

School Change Seymour Bernard Sarason,1995 In this text Professor Sarason has responded to the request to track the evaluation of his ideas about school change by selecting papers and excerpts from his books that illustrate where his ideas come from Introductions are provided for each selection Failing at School Camille A. Farrington,2014-02-14 About half of all incoming ninth graders in urban districts will fail classes and drop out of school without a diploma Failing at School starts with the premise that urban American high schools generate such widespread student failure not because of some fault of the students who attend them but because high schools were designed to stratify achievement and let only the top performers advance to higher levels of education This is particularly true for low income racial ethnic minority students To get different results Farrington proposes fundamental changes based on what we now know about how students learn what motivates them to engage in learning and what kinds of educational systems and structures would best support their learning

McDonald, 2015-04-26 The use of protocols has spread from conferences and workshops to everyday school and university settings Featuring seven protocols this teaching and professional development tool is useful for those working with collaborative groups of teachers on everything from school improvement to curriculum development to teacher education at all levels

Schools Making a Difference Martin Thrupp, 1999-05-16 Does an effective school really come about through the actions of teachers and school leaders or does it also require an advantaged student intake This question reflects a longstanding research debate about whether or not the social class mix of a school s student intake has much effect on individual achievement Schools Making a Difference Let s Be Realistic presents new evidence which suggests that school mix is likely to be important because of the way many school processes are deeply influenced by student intake characteristics Low socioeconomic schools face numerous intake related constraints which make them highly resistant to improvement efforts By suggesting that failing schools are often overwhelmed rather than ineffective this book provides a sympathetic reappraisal of the performance of teachers and school leaders in such schools It also offers a critical response to the often unrealistic claims of the school effectiveness and school improvement movement and a fresh critique of market reforms in education

Authentic Assessment in Action Linda Darling-Hammond, Beverly F. Falk, Jacqueline Anness, 2017-10-05 This book examines through case studies of elementary and secondary schools how five schools have developed authentic performance based assessments of students learning and how this work has interacted with and influenced the teaching and learning experiences students encounter in school This important and timely book reveals the changing dynamics of classroom life as it moves from more traditional pedagogy to one that asks students to master intellectual and practical skills that are eminently transferable to real life social settings and workplaces The issue of assessment comes first but we see in the following case studies how it becomes powerfully enveloped in the processes of learning and teaching of informing students teachers parents and others of how the children are doing The portraits explicitly and implicitly suggest a deep fair and defensible way to answer the question How m I doing in a manner that helps this child and eventually every child From the Foreword by Theodore R Sizer Informative and thought provoking American Journal of Education

Organizing Schools for Productive Learning Shlomo Sharan, Ivy Geok Chin Tan, 2008-06-27 A major problem confronting schools is that many students are turned off from learning and are bored Boredom is destructive of learning The No Child Left Behind NCLB initiative of the US government 2001 stemmed from the claim accompanied by sharp debates pro and con that many schools in the United States fail to achieve basic educational objectives and that many schools are doing a poor job for a wide variety of reasons and surely not just because of student boredom Brigham Gustashaw Wiley Essex 2006 Goodman Shannon Goodman Sunderman Tracey Jr Kim Orfield 2004 The model of school organization and instruction presented here seeks to provide an effective plan for significant improvement in secondary school education one of whose central aims is to make students genuinely engaged in what they are learning The NCLB legislation emphasizes inter alia the need for school improvement Without it one cannot reasonably anticipate improvement over current levels in student engagement in learning and in academic achievement The NCLB literature frequently employs the term school improvement to refer to the quality of the teachers such as their academic credentials instructional competence and their knowledge of subject matter Similarly school restructuring is said to include steps such as transforming the school into a charter school replacing the teaching staff or inviting a private company to administer the school The use of those terms in this work is distinctly different

School Buddy System Gail Bush, 2003 If you're involved in K-12 education whether as librarian, school media specialist, teacher, administrator, or policymaker The School Buddy System will give you a framework of outcomes-driven strategies that will help you to build relationships and open the classroom door BOOK JACKET

The Skeptical Visionary Seymour Bernard Sarason, 2003 Seymour Sarason in the words of Carl Glickman is one of America's seminal thinkers about public education For over four decades he has been a voice of much needed skepticism about our plans for school reform, teacher training, and educational psychology Now for the first time Sarason's essential writings on these and other issues are collected together offering student and researcher alike with the range, depth, and originality of Sarason's contributions to American thinking on schooling As we go from debate to debate on issues such as school choice, charter schools, inclusive education, national standards, and other problems that seem to drag on without solution Sarason's critical stance on the folly of many of our attempts to fix schools has always had at the center a concern for the main players in our educational institutions: the students, the teachers, and the parents Any plans that cannot account for their well-being are doomed to failure And in the face of such failure the clarity of Sarason's vision for real educational success is a much needed antidote to much of the rhetoric that currently passes for substantial debate A wide-ranging and comprehensive selection of Sarason's most significant writings The Skeptical Visionary should find a prized space on any student's or teacher's bookshelf Author note Robert Friedis Associate Professor in the School of Education at Northeastern University and is the author of The Passionate Teacher: A Practical Guide and The Passionate Learner: How Teachers and Parents Can Help Children Reclaim the Joy of Discovery Seymour Sarason is Professor Emeritus in the Department of Psychology at Yale University He is the author of over forty books and is considered to be one of the most significant researchers in education and educational psychology in the country

School Jeff Gregg, 2021-02-10 This book encourages readers to think about and discuss the purpose of education It provides an opportunity to consider how the way in which purposes are framed has consequences for student, teacher, relationships and teacher administrator relationships The author introduces a moral ethical dimension into the consideration of purposes Why would anyone do that to kids This book suggests that failure to reflect on the purpose of education underlies the lack of impact of many education reform efforts The author presents a fictional roundtable discussion of educational issues The participants include teachers school administrators state politicians and bureaucrats parents community members and business people
