Docufictions Gary D. Rhodes, John Parris Springer, 2014-10-01 Through most of the 20th century the distinction between the fictional narrative film and the documentary was vigorously maintained The documentary tradition developed side by side with but in the shadow of the more commercially successful feature film In the latter part of the century however the two forms merged on occasion and mockumentaries fictional works in a documentary format and docudramas reality based works in a fictional format became part of the film and television landscape The 18 essays here examine the relationships between narrative fiction films and documentary filmmaking focusing on how each influenced the other and how the two were merged in such diverse films and shows as Citizen Kane M A S H This Is Spinal Tap and Destination Moon Topics include the docudrama in early cinema the industrial film as faux documentary the fear evoked in 1950s science fiction films the selling of reality in mockumentaries and reality television and documentary forms The essays provide a foundation for significant rethinking of film history and criticism offering the first significant discussion of two emerging and increasingly important genres Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here
