Reference And Consciousness:

Reference and Consciousness John Campbell, 2002-06-06 Campbell investigates how consciousness of the world explains our ability to think about the world. He illuminates problems about thought, reference, and experience by looking at the psychological mechanisms on which conscious attention depends. Classification Systems Prophet Andromeda, 1999-06-01 Classification Systems Branching Leaf Publications, 1999-10-01 Logic and Time K. Michalski, 2001-11-30 The subject of this study is Husserl's theory of meaning as it appears in his writings from the Logical Investigations to the Crisis of the European Sciences. The first chapter focuses on Husserl's critique of psychologism and the theory of meaning that stems from it. The second chapter takes its departure from the question of Husserl's attitude towards the Cartesian tradition; then it presents the transcendental noematic theory of meaning represented by the Idea of Phenomenology, Ideas, and Cartesian Meditations. The third chapter deals with Husserl's interpretation of time consciousness against the background of the development of the problem of time in modern philosophy. Husserl often changed his views regarding the question of meaning. I have tried to understand the reasons for these changes. To do this, I have occasionally disturbed the chronological order of his arguments in favour of a consideration of their logical development and coherence. Throughout this study, but especially in the digression on consciousness and speech and the Postscript, I have also attempted to bring to the fore a tension in Husserl's thought between two interpretative strategies: the first I call Cartesian; the other, non-Cartesian or hermeneutical.

Consciousness in Locke Shelley Weinberg, 2016-01-07 Shelley Weinberg argues that the idea of consciousness as a form of non-evaluative self-awareness runs through and helps to solve some of the thorniest issues in Locke's philosophy: in his philosophical psychology and in his theories of knowledge, personal identity, and moral agency. Central to her account is that perceptions of ideas are complex mental states wherein consciousness is a constituent. Such an interpretation answers charges of inconsistency in Locke's model of the mind and lends coherence to a puzzling aspect of Locke's theory of knowledge: how we know individual things, particular ideas, ourselves, and external objects when knowledge is defined as the perception of an agreement or relation of ideas. In each case, consciousness helps to forge the relation resulting in a structurally integrated account of our knowledge of particulars, fully consistent with the general definition. This model also explains how we achieve the unity of consciousness with past and future selves, necessary for Locke's accounts of moral responsibility and moral motivation. And with help from other of his metaphysical commitments, consciousness so interpreted allows Locke's theory of personal identity to resist well-known accusations of circularity, failure of transitivity, and insufficiency for his theological and moral concerns. Although virtually every Locke scholar writes on at least some of these topics, the model of consciousness set forth here provides for an analysis of all of these issues as bound together by a common thread. Proceedings of the Aristotelian Society, Aristotelian Society (Great Britain), 1894. having to do with one's own perspective on the kind of person one is and the life one is leading The third meaning has reference simply to one being occurrently aware of something or as though of something The fourth narrows the preceding sense to one having direct occurrent awareness of happenings in one's own experiential stream The fifth is the unitive meaning of consciousness and has reference to those portions of one's stream that one self appropriates to make up one's conscious being The last is the general state meaning and picks out the general operating mode in which we most often function The Journal of the British Homoeopathic Society British Homoeopathic Society, 1904 Includes list of members

Current Issues in Computing and Philosophy Adam Briggie, Philip A.E. Brey, 2008-06-15 The theme of this volume is the multi-faceted computational turn that is occurring through the interaction of the disciplines of philosophy and computing In computer and information sciences there are significant conceptual and methodological questions that require reflection and analysis Moreover digital information and communication technologies have had tremendous impact on society which raises further philosophical questions This book tries to facilitate the task to continuously work to ensure that its diversity of perspectives and methods proves a source of strength and collaboration rather than a source of instability and disintegration The first three contributions explore the phenomenon of virtual worlds The next four focus on robots and artificial agents Then a group of chapters discusses the relation between human mentality and information processing in computers and the final section covers a broad range of issues at the interface of computers and society Studies in Philosophy Krishnachandra Bhattacharyya, Gopinath Bhattacharyya, 2017-01-01 These Studies in Philosophy represents all the published and only a few unpublished writings of Krishnachandra Bhattacharyya These published writings date back to 1908 but his characteristic philosophical position assumes definite shape in the writings during the year 1928-36 The publications of the period outnumber and far outweigh those that fall during the previous twenty years Of the twenty-one tracts published first in two separate Volumes which in this edition appear as bound together in one fourteen belong to this period the others covering the previous years Prof Bhattacharyya had a deep study of ancient Indian Philosophy particularly of Advaita Vedanta Sankhya Yoga and Jain Philosophies Vol I contains Prof Bhattacharyya's constructive interpretation of these systems He was also well-versed in classical German Philosophy particularly that of Kant His vast and deep study provided the intellectual background in the light of which his profoundly original mind could go on with the work of construction He constructed a new system of his own which however is not easy to comprehend Vol II contains all the basic writings in which Prof Bhattacharyya's philosophy has been formulated In the Introduction to this Volume the Editor has usefully analysed the Author's philosophical position in some details Consensus and Conflict Seymour Martin Lipset, 1985-01-01 The first of two volumes of Seymour Martin Lipset's major papers deals with social and political conflict and to a lesser extent the way in which value systems and political institutions maintain order and consensus Together these papers expound Lipset's thesis that although all complex societies are characterized by a high degree of internal tension and conflict consensual institutions and values are necessary conditions for their persistence Between Kant and Hegel Dieter Henrich, 2009-07-01 Dieter Henrich's lectures on German idealism were the first contact a major German philosopher had made with an American audience since the onset of World War II. They remain one of the most eloquent interpretations of the central philosophical tradition of Germany and the way in which it relates to the concerns of contemporary philosophy The Self-Aware Universe Amit Goswami, 1995-03-21 In this stimulating and timely book Amit Goswami PhD shatters the widely popular belief held by Western science that matter is the primary stuff of creation and proposes instead that consciousness is the true foundation of all we know and perceive. His explanation of quantum physics for lay readers called a model of clarity by Kirkus Reviews sets the stage for a voyage of discovery through the common ground of science and religion, the entwined nature of mind and body and our interconnectedness with all of creation Beyond Boundaries Melanie Barbato, Mathias Schneider, Fabian Völker, 2024 Perry Schmidt Leukel has made significant contributions to the academic study of religion and religious diversity through his innovative work in Theology and Religious Studies. In his publications he has not only overcome apologetic barriers between Buddhism and Christianity and demonstrated the potential for mutual enrichment of various religious traditions in dialogue but also championed a pluralist Theology of Religions. On this pluralist basis Schmidt Leukel has developed the vision of a theology beyond boundaries which takes the form of interreligious discourse and draws on the rich resources and insights of the global history of religions. This Festschrift in honor of Perry Schmidt Leukel on the occasion of his seventieth birthday brings together essays that constructively engage with his erudite and wide-ranging contributions to the fields of Theology of Religions, Interreligious Theology, Philosophy of Religion, Buddhist and Religious Studies, Buddhist-Christian Relations and Interreligious Dialogue. Contributions by Melanie Barbato, Reinhold Bernhardt, Thomas Cattoi, Catherine Cornille, Rose Drew, Joachim Gentz, Elizabeth J. Harris, Stephen E. Harris, Paul Hedges, Dennis Hirota, Christopher V. Volume 1: Selected Essays from Asia, part 1 Cheung, Chan-fai, Yu, Chung-Chi, 2007-01-01 Moments of Disruption Kris Sealey, 2013-12-01 Explores the ethical and political implications of Levinas's and Sartre's accounts of human existence. In Moments of Disruption Kris Sealey considers Emmanuel Levinas and Jean-Paul Sartre together to fully realize the ethical and political implications of their similar descriptions of human existence. Focusing on points of contact and difference between their writings on transcendence, identity, existence, and alterity, Sealey presents not only an understanding of Sartrean politics in which Levinas's somewhat apolitical program might be taken into the political but also an explicitly political reading of Levinas that resonates well with Sartre's work. In bringing together both thinkers' accounts of disrupted existence in this way, a theoretical place is found from which to question the claim that politics and ethics are mutually exclusive.
