Demography Evelyn Lehrer, 2008-10-27 Using the tools of economics this book analyses how religion affects decisions and outcomes in a wide range of areas including education employment family size entry into cohabitation and formal marriage the choice of spouse and divorce In each case the relationships are rigorously quantified based on multivariate statistical analyses of large scale US data The results show for example that when people marry outside their faith there is an increase in the probability of divorce the magnitude of the adverse effect depending in part on the ecumenical exclusivist nature of the two religions Other analyses show that youth who grow up with some religion in their lives are less likely than their counterparts with little or no religious involvement to drop out of high school or enter cohabiting arrangements at a young age Overall both religious affiliation and the extent of participation in religious activities are found to have far reaching implications for economic and demographic behaviour The book contains a wealth of data illustrating how the religious and secular realms of people s lives are intimately intertwined With its economic perspective it offers new ways of thinking about these relationships and is a valuable resource for students and scholars interested in the role of religion in education work and the family Gender Stereotyping Rebecca J. Cook, Simone Cusack, 2011-07-19 Drawing on domestic and international law as well as on judgments given by courts and human rights treaty bodies Gender Stereotyping offers perspectives on ways gender stereotypes might be eliminated through the transnational legal process in order to ensure women s equality and the full exercise of their human rights A leading international framework for debates on the subject of stereotypes the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women was adopted in 1979 by the UN General Assembly and defines what constitutes discrimination against women It also establishes an agenda to eliminate discrimination in all its forms in order to ensure substantive equality for women Applying the Convention as the primary framework for analysis this book provides essential strategies for eradicating gender stereotyping Its proposed methodology requires naming operative gender stereotypes identifying how they violate the human rights of women and articulating states obligations to eliminate and remedy these violations According to Rebecca J Cook and Simone Cusack in order to abolish all forms of discrimination against women priority needs to be given to the elimination of gender stereotypes While stereotypes affect both men and women they can have particularly egregious effects on women often devaluing them and assigning them to subservient roles in society As the legal perspectives offered in Gender Stereotyping demonstrate treating women according to restrictive generalizations instead of their individual needs abilities and circumstances denies women their human rights and fundamental freedoms
