Special Religious Education in Australia and its Value to Contemporary Society Zehavit Gross,Suzanne D.

Rutland,2021-02-22 This book explores the advantages of and challenges concerning Special Religious Education SRE in multicultural Australia and argues for the need for General Religious Education GRE as well. Through the lens of the most recent scholarship and drawing on an in depth qualitative study and specific case studies the book examines the current debate on the role of religious education within government schools. It addresses key concepts of values education spirituality health and wellbeing and cultural and religious identity. It analyses why it is important to retain SRE together with GRE as government policy. It explores highly relevant controversial and contested issues regarding SRE including the 30% of Australia's population who declare themselves as having no religion and brings fresh insights to the table. While secularization has increased in both the national and international spheres there has also been an increase in fundamentalism within religious beliefs. Events such as the September 11 terror attacks and the more recent mass shootings by white supremacists and eco fascists in Christchurch New Zealand and Pittsburgh and San Diego in the USA are reminders that religion is still a major actor in the twenty first century. This poses new challenges for the relationship between church and state and demonstrates the need to revisit the role of religious education within government schools. While the importance of GRE is generally acknowledged SRE has increasingly come under attack by some researchers and teacher and parent bodies as being inappropriate and contradictory to the values of the postmodern world. On the other hand the key stakeholders from all the faith traditions in Australia wish to retain the SRE classes in government schools. The book addresses this burning issue and shows that it is relevant not only for Australia but also globally.

Values, Human Rights and Religious Education Jeff Astley, Leslie J. Francis, David W. Lankshear, 2018. This volume brings together three key and contested areas facing educationalists within schools colleges and universities: values education religious education and human rights education. Challenges and opportunities within each of these three areas may be illuminated and explored by bringing them into creative dialogue. These core constructs were explored in a recent seminar convened by the International Seminar on Religious Education and Values the leading international association for religious educators and values educators across the world. This volume presents twenty one key contributions made to the seminar spanning both conceptual and empirical perspectives and rooted in both religious and secular traditions. It draws together a unique collection of international perspectives on the interlocking themes of values human rights and religious education.
