Islamist Populism in Turkey and Indonesia: A Comparative Analysis Mustafa Demir, Greg Barton, 2023-12-30 This book focuses on the dynamics of democracy and populism in Muslim majority countries such as Turkey and Indonesia It does so by examining the complexities of democratic development in these areas ranging from flawed to hybrid regimes Despite the aspirations for democratic progress recent democracy indices reveal a concerning trend of backsliding particularly in the last decade This regression can be attributed in part to the ascendancy of populist politics Populist movements have adeptly exploited both real and perceived cultural insecurities to acquire consolidate and maintain political power This phenomenon is especially pronounced in flawed democracies and hybrid regimes within Muslim majority countries such as Turkey and Indonesia Notably religion specifically Islam has emerged as a central tool within the populist playbook Populist actors have constructed a religious civilizational framework that leverages political binaries manipulates insecurities and fosters traditional anti elite and anti other sentiments In this book the authors advance the notion that populism is a multifaceted phenomenon that relies on various pre existing fractures within societies and cultures Once in power populism intensifies these differences to further consolidate its position utilizing various state apparatuses such as state controlled religious institutions This comprehensive analysis offers insights into the growing trend of populism in the Muslim world and its impact on contemporary politics

Schooling Islam Robert W. Hefner, Muhammad Qasim Zaman, 2010-12-16 Since the Taliban seized Kabul in 1996 the public has grappled with the relationship between Islamic education and radical Islam Media reports tend to paint madrasas religious schools dedicated to Islamic learning as medieval institutions opposed to all that is Western and as breeding grounds for terrorists Others have claimed that without reforms Islam and the West are doomed to a clash of civilizations Robert Hefner and Muhammad Qasim Zaman bring together eleven internationally renowned scholars to examine the varieties of modern Muslim education and their implications for national and global politics The contributors provide new insights into Muslim culture and politics in countries as different as Morocco Egypt Pakistan India Indonesia Iran and Saudi Arabia They demonstrate that Islamic education is neither timelessly traditional nor medieval but rather complex evolving and diverse in its institutions and practices They reveal that a struggle for hearts and minds in Muslim lands started long before the Western media discovered madrasas and that Islamic schools remain on its front line Schooling Islam is the most comprehensive work available in any language on madrasas and Islamic education

Ethnizität, Islam, Reformasi Andreas Ufen, 2011-12-12 Das malaysische Parteiensystem wurde im Laufe der letzten Jahrzehnte von mehreren Konfliktlinien geprägt Andreas Ufen zeigt dass zunächst ein ethnischer Gegensatz vorherrschend war der sich im Zusammenhang mit dem elektoralen Autoritarismus also aufgrund der strikten Kontrolle der Arbeiterbewegung und prodemokratischer Kräfte und aufbauend auf einer frühzeitig ins Leben gerufenen interethnischen Elitenkoalition entfalten und stabilisieren konnte Dieser Gegensatz wurde von einem solchen zwischen Sultanklaristen und Anhängern eines politisch interpretierten Islam zunehmend überformt Seit 1998/99 hat sich quer zu den ethnischen und religiösen Konfliktlinien erstmals ein Gegensatz zwischen Status quo und Reformasi herausgebildet der die Auseinandersetzungen im Parteiensystem heute dominiert und das gesamte politische System transformieren kann

Index Islamicus, 2007 Muslim Politics Dale F. Eickelman, James Piscatori, James P. Piscatori, 2004-08-15 In this updated paperback edition Dale Eickelman and James Piscatori explore how the politics of Islam play out in the lives of Muslims throughout the world They discuss how recent events such as September 11 and the 2003 war in Iraq have contributed to reshaping the political and religious landscape of Muslim majority countries and Muslim communities elsewhere As they examine the role of women in public life and Islamic perspectives on modernization and free speech the authors probe the diversity of the contemporary Islamic experience suggesting general trends and challenging popular Western notions of Islam as a monolithic movement In so doing they clarify concepts such as tradition authority ethnicity protest and symbolic space notions that are crucial to an in depth understanding of ongoing political events This book poses questions about ideological politics in a variety of transnational and regional settings throughout the Muslim world Europe and North America for example have become active Muslim centers profoundly influencing trends in the Middle East Africa Central Asia and South and Southeast Asia The authors examine the long term cultural and political implications of this transnational shift as an emerging generation of Muslims often the products of secular schooling begin to reshape politics and society sometimes in defiance of state authorities Scholars mothers government leaders and musicians are a few of the protagonists who invoking shared Islamic symbols try to reconfigure the boundaries of civic debate and public life These symbolic politics explain why political actions are recognizably Muslim and why Islam makes a difference in determining the politics of a broad swath of the world Islam, Secularism, and Liberal Democracy Nader

Hashemi,2009-04-08 Islam's relationship to liberal democratic politics has emerged as one of the most pressing and contentious issues in international affairs In Islam Secularism and Liberal Democracy Nader Hashemi challenges the widely held belief among social scientists that religious politics and liberal democratic development are structurally incompatible This book argues for a rethinking of democratic theory so that it incorporates the variable of religion in the development of liberal democracy In the process it proves that an indigenous theory of Muslim secularism is not only possible but is a necessary requirement for the advancement of liberal democracy in Muslim societies Muslim Democracy Edward Schneier,2015-10-23 Muslim Democracy explores the relationship between politics and religion in forty seven Muslim majority countries focusing especially on those with democratic experience such as Indonesia and Turkey and drawing comparisons with their regional non Islamic counterparts Unlike most studies of political Islam this is a politically focused book more concerned with governing realities than ideology By changing the terms of the debate from theology to politics and including the full complement of Islamic countries Schneier shows that the boundaries between church and state in the Islamic world are more variable and diverse than is commonly assumed Through case studies and statistical comparisons between Muslim majority countries and their regional counterparts Muslim Democracy shows that countries with different religions but similar histories are not markedly different in their levels of democratization What many Islamists and western observers call Islamic law moreover is more a political than a religious construct with religion more the tool than the engine of politics Women who drive in Saudi Arabia as the author says are not warned they will go to hell but that they will go to jail With the political salience of religion rising in many countries this book is essential reading for students of comparative politics religion and democratization interested in exploring the shifting boundaries between faith and politics

Democratization in the Muslim World Frederic Volpi, Francesco Cavatorta, 2013-09-13 This book examines the role that political Islam plays in processes of democratization in the Muslim world detailing the political processes that facilitate the collective learning of democratic ways of solving the practical problems of those polities Democratization in the Muslim World represents an important contribution to the debate on democratization and political Islam that emphasises the synergetic effects and global reach of both Islamist and democratic politics It comes to terms with the problematic relationship between Islam and democracy in the uncertain post Cold War post 9 11 world order by highlighting the malleability of Islamic discourses and of its institutional resources as well as the diversity of the political strategies of incumbent regimes to remain in power It combines key theoretical issues and country specific studies of some of the most relevant Muslim polities of the post Cold War and post 9 11 era This text was previously published as a special issue of Democratization and will be of interest to students of Middle East politics governance democracy and human rights

Princeton Readings in Islamist Thought Roxanne L. Euben, Muhammad Qasim Zaman, 2009-10-11 An anthology of key primary texts that offer an introduction to Islamist political thought since the early twentieth century

The Making of the Modern Muslim State Malika Zeghal, 2024-03-26 An innovative analysis that traces the continuity of the state s custodianship of Islam as the preferred religion in the Middle East and North Africa In The Making of the Modern Muslim State Malika Zeghal reframes the role of Islam in modern Middle East governance Challenging other accounts that claim that Middle Eastern states turned secular in modern times Zeghal shows instead the continuity of the state s custodianship of Islam as the preferred religion Drawing on intellectual political and economic history she traces this custodianship from early forms of constitutional governance in the nineteenth century through post Arab Spring experiments in democracy Zeghal argues that the intense debates around the implementation and meaning of state support for Islam led to a political cleavage between conservatives and their opponents that long predated the polarization of the twentieth century that accompanied the emergence of mass politics and Islamist movements Examining constitutional projects public spending school enrollments and curricula Zeghal shows that although modern Muslim majority polities have imported Western techniques of governance the state has continued to protect and support the religion community and institutions of Islam She finds that even as Middle Eastern states have expanded their nonreligious undertakings they have dramatically increased their per capita supply of public religious provisions especially Islamic education further feeding the political schism between Islamists and their adversaries Zeghal illuminates the tensions inherent in the partnerships between states and the body of Muslim scholars known as the ulama whose normative power has endured through a variety of political regimes Her detailed and groundbreaking analysis which spans Tunisia Morocco Egypt Turkey Syria and Lebanon makes clear the deep historical roots of current political divisions over Islam in governance
