Theodore R. Marmor

Remunerating General Practitioners In Western Europe:

Remunerating General Practitioners in Western Europe Peter P. Groenewegen, Jouke van der Zee, Rene van Haaften, 1991 An international comparative study of the earnings of general practitioners in 11 European countries taking into account aspects of the institutional structure such as the system of remuneration the activity profile of general practitioners and access to specialist care Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1992 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965-70 Health Care and General Practice Across Europe W. G. W. Boerma, 1993

National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1992 Health Care Financing Review, 1991 Primary Care and Home Care Scenarios 1990-2005 Steering Committee on Future Health Scenarios, 2012-12-06 CARE AT HOME HOME CARE Health care in the Netherlands looks to be a well structured system Supplementing the vital level of self care and informal care are four levels of professional care the public health service known in the Netherlands as basic health care is mainly concerned with preventive work aimed at the population at large individuals with problems can contact their general practitioner or other primary care provider who can depending on the problem refer them to specialists in the cure oriented and hospital centred secondary sector where necessary patients can then be referred on to the institutions of the tertiary sector with their role in mainly long term care On paper this pyramidal structure appears to work well in practice and in particular where complex forms of care are involved the boundaries become blurred Medical advances and social and economic developments may delay death to ever greater ages but disease is not defeated and since the risk of developing chronic conditions rises with age more and more people become incapacitated and those who do remain so for longer This leads to a growing demand for care and compels us to reconsider patterns of provision The need for such reconsideration is reinforced by users changing needs and aspirations as patients increasingly wish to be nursed and cared for in their own surroundings if at all possible Technological advances mean that wish can often be accommodated Political Analysis and American Medical Care Theodore R. Marmor, 1983 This book stems from Marmor's conviction that political science can provide answers to questions regarding the role of government in medical care Journal of the Royal Society of Medicine Royal Society of Medicine (Great Britain), 1992 Includes selected papers from meetings of the Society and of its sections Medical Responsibility in Western Europe Erwin Deutsch, Hans-Ludwig Schreiber, 2012-12-06 With contributions by numerous experts Comparison and Harmonisation of Denominator Data for Primary Health Care Research in Countries of the European Community Martin Schlaud, 1999 Used extensively in North America and Europe seminal practice networks also referred to as practice research networks recruit office based physicians to monitor defined events among their patients such as influenza mumps and asthma attacks at regional county and even national levels After adequate analysis these data indicate spatial and temporal trends in event frequencies comparability of national results is however limited partly due to the different national health systems influencing the demand of medical care More importantly the lack of comparable data on the population from which the cases arise denominator data obstructs the comparison of data from primary care research between different regions or countries
