Reading Humility in Early Modern England Jennifer Clement, 2016-03-03 While humility is not especially valued in modern Western culture Jennifer Clement argues here it is central to sixteenth and seventeenth century understandings of Christian faith and behavior and is vital to early modern concepts of the self As this study shows early modern literary engagements with humility link it to self knowledge through the practice of right reading and make humility foundational to any proper understanding of human agency Yet humility has received little critical interest and has often been misunderstood as a false virtue that engenders only self abjection This study offers an overview of various ways in which humility is discussed deployed or resisted in early modern texts ranging from the explicitly religious and autobiographical prose of Katherine Parr and John Donne to the more politically motivated prose of Queen Elizabeth I and the seventeenth century reformer and radical Thomas Tryon As part of the wider turn to religion in early modern studies this study seeks to complicate our understanding of a mainstream early modern virtue and to problematize a mode of critical analysis that assumes agency is always defined by resistance Shakespeare and Posthumanist Theory Karen Raber,2018-04-05 Shakespeare and Posthumanist Theory charts challenges in the field of Shakespeare studies to the assumption that the category human is real stable or worthy of privileging in discussions of the playwright's work Drawing on a variety of methodologies cognitive theory systems theory animal studies ecostudies the new materialisms the volume investigates the world of Shakespeare's plays and poems in order to represent more thoroughly its variety its ethics of inclusion and its resistance to human triumphalism and exceptionalism Karen Raber a leading scholar in the field clearly and cogently guides the reader through complex theoretical terrain providing fresh exciting readings of plays including Othello The Tempest Titus Andronicus Troilus and Cressida and Henry IV Part 1 The Cambridge Companion to Literature and Animals Derek Ryan,2023-11-09 The Cambridge Companion to Literature and Animals surveys the role of animals across literary history and opens conversations on what literature can teach us about more than human life Leading international scholars comprehensively explore how engaging with creatures of various kinds alters our understanding of what it means to write and read and why this is important for thinking about a series of cultural ethical political and scientific developments and controversies The first part of the book offers historically rooted arguments about medieval metamorphosis early modern fleshiness eighteenth century imperialism Romantic sympathy Victorian racial politics modernist otherness and contemporary forms The second part poses questions that cut across periods concerning habitat and extinction captivity and spectatorship race and post coloniality sexuality and gender religion and law health and wealth In doing so this companion places animals at the centre of literary studies and literature at the heart of urgent debates in the growing field of animal studies The Routledge Handbook of Shakespeare and Animals Karen Raber,Holly Dugan,2020-08-10 Shakespeare's plays have a long and varied performance history The relevance of his plays in literary studies cannot be understated but only recently have scholars been looking into the presence and significance of animals within the canon Readers will quickly find without having to do extensive research that the plays are teeming with animals In this Handbook Karen Raber and Holly Dugan delve deep into Shakespeare's World to illuminate and understand the use of animals in his span of work This volume supplies a valuable resource offering a broad and thorough grounding in the many ways animal references and the appearance of actual animals in the plays can be interpreted It provides a thorough overview demonstrates rigorous original research and charts new frontiers in the field through a broad variety of contributions from an international group of well known and respected scholars The Anthropomorphic Lens Walter Melion,Bret Rothstein,Michel Weemans,2014-11-06 Anthropomorphism the projection of the human form onto the every aspect of the world closely relates to early modern notions of analogy and microcosm What had been construed in Antiquity as a ready metaphor for the order of creation was reworked into a complex system relating the human body to the body of the world Numerous books and images cosmological diagrams illustrated treatises of botany and zoology maps alphabets collections of ornaments architectural essays are entirely constructed on the anthropomorphic analogy Exploring the complexities inherent in such work the interdisciplinary essays in this volume address how the anthropomorphic model is fraught with contradictions and tensions between magical and rational speculative and practical thought Contributors include Pamela Brekka Anne Laure van Bruaene Ralph Dekoninck Agn s Guiderdoni Christopher P Heuer Sarah Kyle Walter S Melion Christina Normore Elizabeth Petcu Bertrand Prevost Bret Rothstein Paul Smith Miya Tokumitsu Michel Weemans and Elke Werner
