Reframing Difference:

Reframing Difference Carrie Tarr, 2005-09-17 This is the first major study of two overlapping strands of contemporary French cinema: cin ma beur films by young directors of Maghrebi immigrant origin and cin ma de banlieue films set in France's disadvantaged outer city estates. Carrie Tarr's insightful account draws on a wide range of films from directors such as Mehdi Charef, Mathieu Kassowitz, and Djamel Bensalah. Foregrounding such issues as the quest for identity, the negotiation of space, and the recourse to memory and history, she argues that these films challenge and reframe the symbolic spaces of French culture, addressing issues of ethnicity and difference which are central to today's debates about what it means to be French. Making a Difference in the Lives of Infants and Toddlers and Their Families John M. Bridging Differences: Understanding Cultural Interaction in Our Globalized World Newtona (Tina) Johnson, Shawn Simpson, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Interdisciplinary Press in 2016. Cultural interaction in our worlds today is essential to building 21st century bridges between communities. The experiences and lessons learned from the authors of the articles herein are shared with empathy and humility across many disciplines. The creation and re-creation of individual identities and group identities due to migrations throughout history is an ongoing story. Never does one cultural profile remain constant. On the contrary, as boundaries change, so do people, and therefore cultures. Interculturalism is the one valid approach to understanding these changes but should be used with great sensitivity. And sensitivity is the overriding emotion emanating from the different studies in this volume: the search for one's identity when the latter has been lost or has become difficult to recognize; the attempts to erase identities so as to conform to national unity; the will to create new identities to fit in with new environments; the need to re-evaluate oneself so as to remain true to oneself. These endeavors are subtly described in this vibrant compendium of intercultural monographies.

Re-hybridizing Transnational Domesticity and Femininity Stacey Weber-Fève, 2010-01-05 Re-hybridizing Transnational Domesticity and Femininity examines the problems of voicing the personal when considering the role and place of women in the home. Analyzing a collection of first-person cinematic and literary narratives by Assia Djebar, Annie Ernaux, Simone de Beauvoir, Raja Amari, Coline Serreau, Leïla Sebbar, and Yamina Benguigui, Weber-Fève explores the transnational processes of identity formation, gender performance, and construction of culture and society. Through a closer look at contemporary representations of French Algerian and Tunisian women on the page and on the screen, this study discusses the ways in which homemaking, nation, and gender are intricately bound to one another and situated in personal history. Working within as well as beyond so-called national systems of visual and written representation, these women artists challenge inherited and monolithic performances, definitions, and discourses of femininity. In doing so, they create re-hybridized subjects that begin to recognize and embrace the differences within themselves. The authors and filmmakers in this study through their female protagonists the protagonists homes and homemaking acts and the investigative lens of the interrogation of the personal are interested in exploring how the process of uncovering or articulating new and other identities and subjectivities ushers in new and re hybridized ways of seeing knowing and being female Early Head Start Research, Making a Difference in the Lives of Infants and Toddlers and Their Families...
