Reframing Of Realism:

The Reframing of Realism Hazel Gold, 1993 In the writing of Benito Pérez Galdós Spain's most prolific and innovative nineteenth century novelist Hazel Gold finds the act of framing insistently at work By exploring Galdós's methods of structuring and evaluating literary and historical experience Gold illuminates the novelist's art and uncovers the far reaching narratological social and epistemological implications of his framing strategies A close look at Galdós's novels reveals the artist at pains to contain and interpret what he perceived to be the distinctive and often disheartening experience of bourgeois liberalism of his day Looking beyond text to context Gold examines the ways in which Galdós's work itself has been framed by readers and critics in accordance with changing allegiances to contemporary literary theory and the canon The highly ambiguous status of the frame in Galdós's fiction confirms the author's own signal position as a writer poised at the limits between realism and modernity

Sounding Authentic Joshua S. Walden, 2014 Sounding Authentic considers the intersecting influences of nationalism modernism and technological innovation on representations of ethnic and national identities in twentieth century art music Author Joshua S. Walden discusses these forces through the prism of what he terms the rural miniature short violin and piano pieces based on folk song and dance styles This genre mostly inspired by the folk music of Hungary the Jewish diaspora and Spain was featured frequently on recordings and performance programs in the early twentieth century Furthermore Sounding Authentic shows how the music of urban Romany ensembles developed into nineteenth century repertoire of virtuosic works in the style hongrois before ultimately influencing composers of rural miniatures Walden persuasively demonstrates how rural miniatures represented folk and rural cultures in a manner that was perceived as authentic even while they involved significant modification of the original sources He also links them to the impulse toward realism in developing technologies of photography film and sound recording Sounding Authentic examines the complex ways the rural miniature was used by makers of nationalist agendas who sought folkloric authenticity as a basis for the construction of ethnic and national identities The book also considers the genre's reception in European diaspora communities in America where it evoked and transformed memories of life before immigration and traces how many rural miniatures were assimilated to the styles of American popular song and swing Scholars interested in musicology ethnography the history of violin performance twentieth century European art music the culture of the Jewish Diaspora and more will find Sounding Authentic an essential addition to their library

The Art of Political Framing Hans Bruijn, 2025-10-01 Politicians employ a wide range of strategies to achieve their goals and language is one of them What impact does their language have on us on their opponents on the public opinion If language matters then the interesting question naturally arises how politicians use language to their advantage How do they use it to convince us of the truth of their views These questions take us into the world of political framing which has attracted a lot of attention in recent times and forms the subject of this book Framing is obviously not a new phenomenon nor is it the preserve of right wing politicians as is sometimes suggested The author discusses both old and new examples of framing as well as various left and right wing frames The examples presented in this book have been carefully selected in the hope that they will not only help you understand the game of framing and reframing but also show you how much impact you can have by using the right words Postcolonial Historical Materialism Filippo

Menozzi,2025-03-27 Through a reappraisal of the work of four major figures in critical theory Ernst Bloch Georg Luk cs Theodor Adorno and Walter Benjamin Filippo Menozzi rethinks the tradition of critical theory in relation to pressing concerns in postcolonial studies Revealing these authors continued relevance to urgent issues in the 21st century from struggles against racism to social movements and the transmutations of global capitalism Menozzi reimagines them as central to an alternative genealogy of critical theory that moves beyond their European provenance and the limitations of Western Marxism In doing so this book challenges more broadly the view of critical theory as steeped in Eurocentrism culturally conservative and politically defeatist Contesting this in four chapters Postcolonial Historical Materialism inserts Adorno Luk cs Bloch and Benjamin into key contemporary sites of militancy and debate Engaging with a wide range of European and non European sources Menozzi proposes a new concept of postcolonial historical materialism indicating how the heritage of critical theory can reopen global possibilities of utopia and revolution in a non utopian age of global emergencies social unrest and the unfinished history of decolonisation Reframing Bodies Roger Hallas,2009-12-02 Examines how queer filmmakers and viedographers bore witness to the historical trauma of the AIDS epidemic in the late 1980s and 1990s

Indie Reframed Linda Badley, 2017-02-07 Explores the films practitioners production and distribution contexts that currently represent American women's independent cinema. With the consolidation of indie culture in the 21st century, female filmmakers face an increasingly indifferent climate. Within this sector, women work across all aspects of writing, direction, production, editing, and design, yet the dominant narrative continues to construe an over-represented white male auteurs such as Quentin Tarantino or Wes Anderson as the face of indie discourse. Defying the formulaic myths of the mainstream chick flick and the ideological and experimental radicalism of feminist counter cinema alike, women's indie filmmaking is neither ironic popular nor political enough to be readily absorbed into pre-existing categories. This groundbreaking collection, the first sustained examination of the work of female practitioners within American independent cinema, reclaims the difference of female indie filmmaking. Through a variety of case studies of directors, writers, and producers such as Ava DuVernay, Lena Dunham, and Christine Vachon, contributors explore the innovation of a range of female practitioners by attending to the sensibilities, ideologies, and industrial practices that distinguish their work while embracing the aim between space in which the narratives they represent and embody can be revealed.

Key Features: Covers American women's independent cinema since the late 1970s. Analyses the work of acclaimed but critically overlooked female practitioners such as Kelly Reichardt, Christine Vachon, Miranda July, Kasi Lemmons, Nicole Holofcener, Mira Nair, Lisa Cholodenko, Megan Ellison, Lynn Shelton, Ava DuVernay, Mary Harron, and Debra Granik. Distinguishes four different approaches to analysing women's independent cinema through production and industry perspectives, genre, and other classificatory modalities: political, cultural, social, and professional identities, and collaborative and collectivist practices.

The Cambridge Companion to the Spanish Novel Harriet Turner, Adelaida López de Martínez, 2003-09-11. The Cambridge Companion to the Spanish Novel presents the development of the modern Spanish novel from 1600 to the present. Drawing on the combined legacies of Don Quixote and the traditions of the picaresque novel, these essays focus on the question of invention and experiment on what constitutes the singular features of evolving fictional forms. It examines how the novel articulates the relationships between history and fiction, high and popular culture, art and ideology, and gender and society. Contributors highlight the role played by historical events and cultural contexts in the elaboration of the Spanish novel, which often takes a self-conscious stance toward literary tradition. Topics covered include the regional novel, women writers, and film and literature. This companionable

Reframing Personalism in Karl Barth Sara Mannen, 2025-10-13 Sara Mannen in her book rejects the notion that Karl Barth's theology makes God in the image of the modern autonomous subject and argues that his concept of divine personhood is best understood when reframed through the intellectual context that resulted from the Pantheism Controversy which explicitly revolved around issues of the knowledge and nature of God and divine personhood. The work of Mendelssohn, Jacobi, Fichte, Herder, and Schelling created an environment that necessitated theologians address the concepts of divine personhood, divine absoluteness, and modern questions of theological epistemology. Mannen argues that Barth's distinctly modern conception of divine personhood reflects and responds to this environment by providing the necessary divine ontological foundation that establishes God is capable of self-revelation without detriment to God's absoluteness and that Barth's motivation for the occasional use of counterfactual language is to maintain God's personal nature and identity.

The Brentano Puzzle Roberto Poli, 1998 This book reconstructs Brentano's and his pupils' main achievements, revitalizing knowledge of their analyses, debates, and style. The relevance of those discussions for contemporary philosophical debate are also considered.
