Religious Education In A Time Of Rapid Change:

Global Perspectives on Catholic Religious Education in Schools Michael T. Buchanan, Adrian-Mario Gellert, 2019-03-01 This book shares global perspectives on Catholic religious education in schools chiefly focusing on educational and curriculum issues that take into account the theology and the pedagogy which support learning in connection with Catholic religious education. Further, it offers insights into the distinctive contribution that Catholic religious education makes to religious education and education in general across diverse schooling contexts. Bringing together insights from leading scholars and experts on Catholic religious education around the globe, the book offers an essential reference guide for all those involved in researching, planning and designing curricula for Catholic religious education as well as developing related theories in the field.

Special Religious Education in Australia and its Value to Contemporary Society Zehavit Gross, Suzanne D. Rutland, 2021-02-22 This book explores the advantages of and challenges concerning Special Religious Education (SRE) in multicultural Australia and argues for the need for General Religious Education (GRE) as well. Through the lens of the most recent scholarship and drawing on an in-depth qualitative study and specific case studies, the book examines the current debate on the role of religious education within government schools. It addresses key concepts of values education, spirituality, health and wellbeing, and cultural and religious identity. It analyses why it is important to retain SRE together with GRE as government policy. It explores highly relevant, controversial and contested issues regarding SRE, including the 30% of Australia's population who declare themselves as having no religion, and brings fresh insights to the table. While secularization has increased in both the national and international spheres, there has also been an increase in fundamentalism within religious beliefs. Events such as the September 11 terror attacks and the more recent mass shootings by white supremacists and eco-fascists in Christchurch, New Zealand, and Pittsburgh and San Diego in the USA are reminders that religion is still a major actor in the twenty-first century. This poses new challenges for the relationship between church and state and demonstrates the need to revisit the role of religious education within government schools. While the importance of GRE is generally acknowledged, SRE has increasingly come under attack by some researchers and teacher and parent bodies as being inappropriate and contradictory to the values of the postmodern world. On the other hand, the key stakeholders from all the faith traditions in Australia wish to retain the SRE classes in government schools. The book addresses this burning issue and shows that it is relevant not only for Australia but also globally.

Reasons for Living Marisa Crawford, Graham Rossiter, 2006-11-01 Reasons for Living begins by exploring the development and psychological function of meaning, identity and spirituality in the lives of young people. This exploration can contribute significantly to the professional background of those engaged in the education and care of youth in various contexts. The book then focuses on what it means to educate young people in meaning, identity and spirituality. Implications are considered for three school contexts: the spiritual and moral dimension to the general curriculum in public and independent schools; religious education in religious schools and state based Religion Studies courses Reasons for Living makes a much needed contribution to the philosophy of education by discussing the links between education and young people s spiritual and moral development It also provides new insights and approaches to values education and religious education Areas of fundamental importance in Australian education have long been held back not only by the gap between theory and practice but also by the very complexities of young people s personal development in contemporary Western Culture Reasons for Living offers a constructive and practical way forward Missionaries to a Teenage Culture Marisa L. Crawford, Graham M. Rossiter, 1988

Steward of a Living Tradition John Sullivan, 2025-05-05 This book explores what is entailed in serving as a steward of the living tradition of the Christian faith in the world of education It examines tradition as a resource leadership education as a spiritual endeavor curriculum and Christian learning and the task of connecting tradition to culture John Sullivan engages with historical perspectives and contemporary professional and cultural realities in addressing intellectual and spiritual dimensions of Christian education and the endeavor to make tradition both accessible and meaningful to those for whom it is unfamiliar Themes pervading the book include fostering a critical appreciation for and a creative appropriation of the living tradition of Christianity fluency and flexibility in sharing that tradition vocation and vulnerability and a striving for interconnectedness and integration in teaching and learning at school and university Does Religious Education Matter?

Mary Shanahan, 2016-07-28 In the current climate and in an age of increasing hostility towards religion and the study of religion religious education is a much debated area Bringing together an interdisciplinary team of contributors from the USA Britain and Ireland and Australia representing a variety of religious perspectives Does Religious Education Matter provocatively demonstrates that it is vital that religious education is presented as it really is a valuable and rich resource that when taught and engaged with appropriately stimulates essential qualities for global and responsible citizenship critical thinking tolerance respect and mutual understanding Inspiring Faith in Schools Marius Felderhof, 2016-05-23

Inspiring Faith in Schools addresses the privileging of secularism that appears to affect RE in countries influenced by modern western thought The authors argue that a more engaging form of RE would emerge if religious life were to inhabit centre stage Currently religious faith is made to hover in the wings awaiting the call to face the inquisitorial challenge of the modern day enquirer The consequent relationship between pupil and the Divine as the purpose of study is then already intrinsically irreligious as indicated in the Book of Job by putting God in the dock whereas it is the pupil who should be cross examining his or her life What are the ways of exciting and engaging the young so that they begin to entertain the possibility of religious life as a genuine option for themselves Leading scholars in philosophy and theology from the UK Australia Canada and the USA come together to address these questions together with RE experts Marius Felderhof writes an Afterword summing up the challenges faced by such a re visioning of RE Religious Education, 1913 Available on microfilm from University
