Remembering Babylon:

Remembering Babylon David Malouf, 1993 David Malouf's novel shortlisted for the 1993 Booker Prize is a masterpiece. In the mid 1840s a thirteen year old boy is cast ashore in the far north of Australia and taken in by aborigines. Sixteen years later when settlers reach the area he moves back into the world of Europeans men and women who are staking out their small patch of security in an alien half mythological land hopeful yet terrified of what it might do to them. And the Birds Began to Sing, 2022-06-08 Taking as its starting point the ambiguous heritage left by the British Empire to its former colonies dominions and possessions And the Birds Began to Sing marks a new departure in the interdisciplinary study of religion and literature. Gathered under the rubric Christianity and Colonialism essays on Brian Moore Timothy Findley Margaret Atwood and Marian Engel Thomas King Les A Murray David Malouf Mudrooroo and Philip McLaren R A K Mason Maurice Gee Keri Hulme Epeli Hau'ofa J M Coetzee Christopher Okigbo Chinua Achebe Amos Tutuola and Ngugi wa Thiong'o explore literary portrayals of the effects of British Christianity upon settler and native cultures in Northern Ireland Canada Australia New Zealand and the South Pacific and the Africas. These essays share a sense of the dominant presence of Christianity as an inherited system of religious thought and practice to be adapted to changing post colonial conditions or to be resisted as the lingering ideology of colonial times. In the second section of the collection Empire and World Religions essays on Paule Marshall and George Lamming Jean Rhys Olive Senior and Caribbean poetry V S Naipaul Anita Desai Kamala Markandaya and Bharati Mukherjee interrogate literature exploring relations between the scions of British imperialism and religious traditions other than Christianity. Expressly concerned with literary embodiments of belief systems in post colonial cultures particularly West African religions in the Caribbean and Hinduism on the Indian subcontinent these essays also share a sense of Christianity as the pervasive presence of an ideological rhetoric among the economic social and political dimensions of imperialism. In a polemical Afterword the editor argues that modes of reading religion and literature in post colonial cultures are characterised by a theodical preoccupation with a praxis of equity. On Post-Colonial Futures Bill Ashcroft, 2001-09-01 In this groundbreaking work Bill Ashcroft extends the arguments posed in The Empire Writes Back to investigate the transformative effects of postcolonial resistance and the continuing relevance of colonial struggle. He demonstrates the remarkable capacity for change and adaptation emanating from postcolonial cultures both in everyday life and in the intellectual spheres of literature history and philosophy. The transformations of postcolonial literary study have not been limited to a simple rewriting of the canon but have also affected the ways in which all literature can be read and have led to a more profound understanding of the network of cultural practices that influence creative writing. After The Celebration Ken Gelder, Paul Salzman, 2009-01-01 After the Celebration explores Australian fiction from 1989 to 2007 after Australia's bicentenary to the end of the Howard government. In this literary history Ken Gelder and Paul Salzman combine close attention to Australian novels with a vivid depiction of their contexts cultural social political historical national and

Transformation and growth of the McIvor family in David Malouf's "Remembering Babylon" Anja Schulte, 2014-02-26 Seminar paper from the year 2012 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Literature Works grade 1 7 Carl von Ossietzky University of Oldenburg course David Malouf's Remembering Babylon language English abstract David Malouf's Remembering Babylon takes place in the 19th century in the outback of Queensland Australia The main character Gemmy a dark and uncivilised creature appears out of nowhere one day and brings a lot of tension into the white settlers village He moves in with the Mc Ivor family whose daughter Janet and adopted nephew Lachlan were amongst those who found Gemmy Both children form a strong bond with Gemmy though in very different ways as does Mrs Ivor who accepts him with much love from day one Only Mr Ivor is sceptical at the beginning but also grows to like the new family member eventually According to Doty and Risto 1996 p 102 the main subject Malouf portrays in this novel is what they call the characters struggling to achieve wholeness Furthermore Gemmy accordingly acts as a catalyst for the other characters growth and transformative experience This essay explores some of the main characters transformation throughout the novel as well as how their relationship to each other changes This transformation is found to take place partly through Gemmy coming into their lives as well as due to the originally Scottish family having immigrated to Australia

Missions of Interdependence Gerhard Stilz, 2002 At the beginning of the twenty first century it is necessary to combine into a productive programme the striving for individual emancipation and the social practice of humanism in order to help the world survive both the ancient pitfalls of particularist terrorism and the levelling tendencies of cultural indifference engendered by the renewed imperialist arrogance of hegemonial global capital In this book thirty five scholars address and negotiate in a spirit of learning and understanding an exemplary variety of intercultural splits and fissures that have opened up in the English speaking world Their methodology can be seen to constitute a seminal field of intellectual signposts They point out ways and means of responsibly assessing colonial predicaments and postcolonial developments in six regions shaped in the past by the British Empire and still associated today through their allegiance to the idea of a Commonwealth of Nations They show how a new ethic of literary self assertion interpretative mediation and critical responsiveness can remove the deeply ingrained prejudices silences and taboos established by discrimination against race class and gender

The Politics of Identity in Australia Geoff Stokes, 1997-06-30 Issues of identity are central to many historical and current debates in Australia This superb collection of essays represents a significant rethinking of received ideas on identity and reveals how issues of identity lie at the heart of Australian political thought and form the foundation of Australian society and culture. It provides a comprehensive introduction to the political discourse surrounding Australian identity through key themes including identity theory, the manipulation of identity for political ends, gender and sexuality, immigration and national identity, citizenship and Aboriginality, and literature and film. The book rejects many of the assumptions underlying contemporary political debates, including the promulgation of a singular national identity in historical fact or as a political goal. This is a thought-provoking study of identity, its links with nationalism, and its potentially divisive effects.

Beyond Postmodernism Klaus Stierstorfer, 2003. After the veritable hype concerning postmodernism in the 1980s and early 1990s, when questions about when it began, what it means, and which texts it comprises were apt to trigger heated discussions, the excitement has notably cooled down at the turn of the century. Voices are now beginning to be heard which seem to suggest a new episteme in the making, which points beyond postmodernism while it remains at the same time very uncertain whether what appears as newness is not rather a return to traditional concepts, theoretical premises, and authorial practices. Contributors to this volume propose to explore new openings and recent developments in anglophone literatures and cultural theories, which engage with issues seen to be central in the construction of a postmodern paradigm but deal with them in ways that promise new openings or a new Zeitgeist.

Cultural Studies 10.3 Lawrence Grossberg, 2005-08-08. Cultural Studies is an international journal committed to exploring the relationships between cultural practices and everyday life, economic relations, the material world, the State, and historical forces and contexts.

The Pain of Unbelonging Sheila Collingwood-Whittick, 2007. Beyond the obvious and enduring socio-economic ravages it unleashed on indigenous cultures, white settler colonization in Australasia also inflicted profound damage on the collective psyche of both of the communities that inhabited the contested space of the colonial world. The acute sense of alienation that colonization initially provoked in the colonized and colonizing populations of Australia and New Zealand has, recent studies indicate, developed into an endemic existential pathology. Evidence of the psychological fallout from the trauma of geographical deracination, cultural disorientation, and ontological destabilization can be found not only in the state of anomie and self-destructive patterns of behaviour that now characterize the lives of indigenous Australian and Maori peoples but also in the perpetually faltering identity discourse and cultural rootlessness of the present descendants of the countries' Anglo-Celtic settlers. It is with the literary expression of this persistent condition of alienation that the essays gathered in the present volume are concerned. Covering a heterogeneous selection of contemporary Australasian literature, what these critical studies convincingly demonstrate is that more than two hundred years after the process of colonisation was set in motion, the experience that Germaine Greer has dubbed the pain of unbelonging continues unabated, constituting a dominant thematic concern in the writing produced today by Australian and New Zealand authors.

Cultural Memory and Literature Diane Molloy, 2015-10-20. Cultural memory involves a community's shared memories, the selection of which is based on current political and social needs A past that is significant to a national group is re imagined by generating new meanings that replace earlier certainties and fixed symbols or myths This creates literary syncretisms with moments of undecidability The analysis in this book draws on Renate Lachmann s theory of intertextuality to show how novels that blur boundaries without standing in for history are prone to intervene in cultural memory A brief overview of Aboriginal politics between the 1920s and the 1990s in relation to several novels provides historical and political background to the links between and problems associated with cultural memory testimony trauma and Stolen Generations narratives which are discussed in relation to Sally Morgan s My Place and Doris Pilkington s Rabbit Proof Fence There follows an analysis of novels that respond to the history of contact between Aboriginal and settler Australians including Kate Grenville s historical novels The Secret River The Lieutenant and Sarah Thornhill as examples of a traditional approach David Malouf s Remembering Babylon charts how language and naming defined our early national narrative that excluded Aboriginal people Intertextuality is explored via the relation between Thea Astley s The Multiple Effects of Rainshadow Chloe Hooper s The Tall Man and the Royal Commission into Aboriginal Deaths in Custody Kim Scott s Benang from the heart and That Deadman Dance and Alexis Wright s Carpentaria reflect a number of Lachmann s concepts syncretism dialogism polyphony Menippean satire and the carnivalesque Suggested is a new way of reading novels that respond to Australia s violent past beyond trauma studies and postcolonial theory to re imagine a different syncretic past from multiple perspectives
