

The background of the book cover is a repeating pattern of stylized, smiling faces. Each face has a simple, curved line for a mouth and two dots for eyes. The faces are rendered in various colors, including green, blue, and yellow, and are scattered across the entire cover. Interspersed among the faces are dollar signs ($) in the same color palette. The overall effect is a playful yet somewhat ironic visual representation of wealth and consumerism.

Luxury Fever Money And Happiness In An Era Of Excess:

Luxury Fever Robert H. Frank, 2000 Noting that America is in the grip of a luxury buying fever the author offers the first comprehensive and accessible summary of scientific evidence suggesting America's spending choices are unhealthy as people are working more and socializing less Frank proposes ways to curb the excess Luxury Fever Robert H. Frank, 1999

Luxury Fever Robert H. Frank, American College (Bryn Mawr, Penns.), 2000 Confronting Consumption Thomas Princen, Michael Maniates, Ken Conca, 2002 Essays that offer ecological social and political perspectives on the problem of overconsumption The Oxford Handbook of Behavioral Economics and the Law Eyal Zamir, Doron Teichman, 2014 The Oxford Handbook of Behavioral Economics and Law brings together leading scholars of law psychology and economics to provide an up to date and comprehensive analysis of this field of research including its strengths and limitations as well as a forecast of its future development Its twenty nine chapters are organized into four parts Time, Consumption and Everyday Life Elizabeth Shove, Frank Trentmann, Richard Wilk, 2009-10-15 Everyday practice and the production and consumption of time Elizabeth Shove Timespace and the organization of social life Ted Schatzki Re ordering temporal rhythms coordinating daily practices in the UK in 1937 and 2000 Dale Southerton Disruption is normal blackouts breakdowns and the elasticity of everyday life Frank Trentmann My soul for a seat commuting and the routines of mobility Tom O Dell Routines made and unmade Billy Ehn and Orvar Lfgren Calendars and clocks cycles of horticultural commerce in nineteenth century America Marina Moskowitz Fads fashions and real innovation novelties and social change Jukka Gronow The edge of agency routine habits and volition Richard Wilk Buying time Daniel Miller Seasonal and commercial rhythms of domestic consumption a Japanese case study Inge Daniels Special and ordinary times tea in motion G liz Ger and Olga Kravets Making time reciprocal object relations and the self legitimizing time of wooden boating Mikko Jalas The ethics of routine consciousness tedium and value Don Slater Perfect Madness Judith Warner, 2006-02-07 A lively and provocative look at the modern culture of motherhood and at the social economic and political forces that shaped current ideas about parenting What is wrong with this picture That's the question Judith Warner asks in this national bestseller after taking a good hard look at the world of modern parenting at anxious women at work and at home and in bed with unhappy husbands When Warner had her first child she was living in Paris where parents routinely left their children home with state subsidized nannies to join friends in the evening for dinner or to go on dates with their husbands When she returned to the States she was stunned by the cultural differences she found toward how people think about effective parenting in particular assumptions about motherhood None of the mothers she met seemed happy instead they worried about the possibility of not having the perfect child panicking as each developmental benchmark approached Combining close readings of mainstream magazines TV shows and pop culture with a thorough command of dominant ideas in recent psychological social and economic theory Perfect Madness addresses our cultural assumptions and examines the forces that have shaped them

Working in the tradition of classics like Betty Friedan's The Feminine Mystique and Christopher Lasch's The Culture of Narcissism and with an awareness of a readership that turned recent hits like The Bitch in the House and Allison Pearson's I Don't Know How She Does It into bestsellers Warner offers a context in which to understand parenting culture and the way we live as well as ways of imagining alternatives actual concrete changes that might better our lives

Fashion Marketing Tony Hines, Margaret Bruce, 2007-02-07 A collection of international contributions from renowned academics and practitioners from the US UK China the second edition of Fashion Marketing has been completely updated revised and expanded to reflect the major changes in the fashion industry since 2001 and covers all of the key themes and issues of the area Key themes and areas covered include globalization fast fashion luxury fashion offshoring business to business forecasting sourcing supply chain management new product development design management logistics range planning color prediction market testing e commerce and strategy

Emplotting Virtue Brian Treanor, 2014-05-19 A rich hermeneutic account of the way virtue is understood and developed Despite its ancient roots virtue ethics has only recently been fully appreciated as a resource for environmental philosophy Other approaches dominated by utilitarian and duty based appeals for sacrifice and restraint have had little success in changing behavior even to the extent that ecological concerns have been embraced Our actions often do not align with our beliefs Fundamental to virtue ethics is an acknowledgment that neither good ethical rules nor good intentions are effective absent the character required to bring them to fulfillment Brian Treanor builds on recent work on virtue ethics in environmental philosophy finding an important grounding in the narrative theory of philosophers like Paul Ricoeur and Richard Kearney Character and ethical formation Treanor argues are intimately tied to our relationship with the narratives through which we view the human place in the natural world By reframing environmental questions in terms of individual social and environmental narratives about flourishing Emplotting Virtue offers a powerful vision of how we might remake our character so as to live more happily more sustainably and more virtuously in a diverse beautiful wondrous and fragile world

Hooked on Growth Douglas E. Booth, 2004-05-03 Challenging conventional wisdom on the virtues of a consumer economy this provocative book explores the nexus between growth and environment sustainability The miracle of the modern affluent economy is an ever swelling cornucopia of consumer goods leading to expanding consumption as the essential underpinning of economic growth in more and more parts of the globe Douglas Booth contends that expansion in this form amounts to an addiction Are we as a society hooked on economic growth of a kind that carries with it significant threats to the natural environment A critical dilemma for the modern economy is that growth is required to prevent the pain of unemployment As growth continues the environment declines but if growth slows unemployment rises We seem trapped in a spiraling predicament like that of the addict This accessible work explores whether getting unhooked from growth to meet the needs of the environment is possible Giving the environment priority over growth may seem to some like a radical idea yet the author argues that it can be accomplished using marketable emissions allowances transferable development rights and other tools popular with conventional economists It can also be achieved by creating more interesting and environmentally friendly urban landscapes less beholden to the automobile The key problem a less growth oriented society will face is ensuring that everyone who wants employment can find it This will require something that many people wish for anyway a shorter workweek More leisure a higher quality environment and more attractive cities and towns are the potential rewards of a less consumption oriented society Yet powerful economic interests that benefit from a high growth economy are arrayed against changes in the status quo Under what circumstances can the power of special interests be overcome in the name of environmental conservation This is the author's critical final question as he offers a clear path to a sustainable economic and environmental future

Consumer Capitalism Gunnar

Trumbull, 2018-07-05 The unfettered marketplace in which uncertainty rules and the admonition caveat emptor let the buyer beware dictates each consumer decision has today virtually disappeared Consumers have become the focus of intensive economic policymaking designed to protect them from the risks and disappointments of the market Today arguably no other economic actor in the advanced industrial countries not the investor not the worker not the welfare recipient enjoys a more thorough set of legal and institutional protections than the modern consumer when he or she enters the corner store from the Introduction Gunnar Trumbull investigates the origins of national systems of consumer protection in France and Germany where in the early 1970s consumer groups and producers organized to advance their own ideas about the identity and interests of the affluent consumer Through a comparison of eight areas of policy product liability law product safety standards and recall misleading advertising comparative product tests product labeling quality standards consumer contracts and pricing Trumbull shows that different conceptions of the consumer interest emerged in the two countries The result was the development of distinctive national consumption regimes which have in turn influenced the market strategies of domestic producers Trumbull's findings help to clarify distinctive national approaches to recent product crises including cases of BSE and genetically modified foods His research suggests that in the age of consumer capitalism national competitiveness may hinge not only on endowments of labor and capital but also on the institutional forms of national consumption

Handbook of Consumer Psychology Curtis P. Haugtvedt, Paul M. Herr, Frank R. Kardes, 2018-12-07 This Handbook contains a unique collection of chapters written by the world's leading researchers in the dynamic field of consumer psychology Although these researchers are housed in different academic departments ie marketing psychology advertising communications all have the common goal of attaining a better scientific understanding of cognitive affective and behavioral responses to products and services the marketing of these products and services and societal and ethical concerns associated with marketing processes Consumer psychology is a discipline at the interface of marketing advertising and psychology The research in this area focuses on fundamental psychological processes as well as on issues associated with the use of theoretical principles in applied contexts The Handbook presents state of the art research as well as providing a place for authors to put forward suggestions for future research and practice The Handbook is most appropriate for graduate level courses in marketing psychology communications consumer behavior and advertising

Commonwealth and Covenant Marcia

Pally,2016-03-02 In Commonwealth and Covenant Marcia Pally argues that in order to address current socioeconomic problems we need not more economic formulas but rather a better understanding of how the world is set up an ontology of how we and the world work Without this good proposals that arise lack political will and go unimplemented Pally describes our basic setup as separability amid situatedness or distinction amid relation Though we are all unique individuals we become our singular selves through our relations and responsibilities to the people and environments around us Pally argues that our culture s overemphasis on separability individualism run amok results in greed adversarial and deceitful political discourse and chicanery resource grabbing broken relationships and anomie Maintaining that separability and situatedness can and must be considered together in public policy Pally draws on intellectual history philosophy and especially historic Christian and Jewish theologies of relationality to construct a new framework for addressing present economic and political ills

Reintroducing Macroeconomics Steven Mark Cohn,2015-01-28

This lively introduction to heterodox economics provides a balanced critique of the standard introductory macroeconomic curriculum In clear and accessible prose it explains many of the key principles that underlie a variety of alternative theoretical perspectives including institutionalist economics radical economics Post Keynesian economics feminist economics ecological economics Marxist economics social economics and socioeconomics Because the book s structure parallels the chapters and subject matter presented in a typical introductory macroeconomics textbook Reintroducing Macroeconomics provides readers with a running commentary on the standard approach while simultaneously introducing them to a broader range of ideas about the causes and appropriate policy responses to a wide range of common economic problems Although designed primarily as a companion volume for students in introductory economics courses the book can also be used effectively for more targeted applications that highlight a particular economic issue or approach It will be of particular interest to students in related disciplines such as American Studies anthropology black studies environmental studies gender studies history political science and sociology who may be required to take introductory economics classes and who are interested in gaining an alternative perspective By demonstrating the vitality and common ground underlying a broad spectrum of heterodox approaches Reintroducing Macroeconomics brings alternative perspectives into the classroom in an accessible way that empowers students to think about the economy in new and exciting ways The text includes end of chapter study questions as well as a detailed note to instructors
