Making Change Happen Kevin Cook, Heather Goodall, 2013-09-11. This book is a unique window into a dynamic time in the politics and history of Australia. The two decades from 1970 to the Bicentennial in 1988 saw the emergence of a new landscape in Australian Indigenous politics. There were struggles, triumphs and defeats around land rights, community control of organisations, national coalitions and the international movement for Indigenous rights. The changes of these years generated new roles for Aboriginal people. Leaders had to grapple with demands to be administrators and managers as well as spokespeople and lobbyists. The challenges were personal as well as organisational, with a central one being how to retain personal integrity in the highly politicised atmosphere of the Aboriginal Industry. Kevin Cook was in the middle of many of these changes as a unionist, educator, land rights campaigner, cultural activist and advocate for liberation movements in Southern Africa, the Pacific and around the world. But Cookie has not wanted to tell the story of his own life in these pages. Instead, with Heather Goodall, a long time friend, he has gathered together many of the activists with whom he worked to tell their stories of this important time. Readers are invited into the frank and vivid conversations Cookie had with forty-five black and white activists about what they wanted to achieve, the plans they made and the risks they took to make change happen. You never doubted Kevin Cook. His very presence made you confident because the guiding hand is always there. Equal attention is given to all. I am one of many who worked with Cookie and Judy through the Tranby days and in particular the 1988 Bicentennial March for Freedom, Justice and Hope. What days they were! I'm glad this story is being told. Linda Burney, MLA New South Wales. Kevin Cook was a giant in the post-war struggle for Aboriginal rights. His ability to connect the dots and make things happen was important in both the political and cultural resurgence of the 1970s onwards. Meredith Burgmann, former MLC New South Wales. Kevin has had a transformative effect on the direction of my life and the lives of so many other people. This book is an important contribution to understanding not only Kevin's life but also the broader struggles for social and economic justice, for community empowerment and of the cooperative progressive movement. It will greatly assist the ongoing campaign for full and sustainable reconciliation Paddy Crumlin National Secretary Maritime Union of Australia Cookie has made great contributions in enhancing the struggles of our people He is a motivator an astute strategist and an excellent communicator with wonderful people skills It s a pleasure to be able to call him a mate and a brother John Ah Kit former MLA Northern Territory Chinese Leadership Barbara Xiaoyu Wang, Harold Chee, 2011-09-08 the key decisions about public policies are gradually transferred to the European level or for new policy areas emerge at the European level This is in contrast to definitions of Europeanization which focus on the adaption of member states to European public policies Thus the main focus is whether a European Union policy making state is being created via changes in the distribution of power between member states and the European level institutions over time In addition to several overview chapters such as on agenda setting in the EU there are twelve sectoral studies which analyse the differing trajectories and outcomes of the Europeanization process and the extent to which the European Union can make authoritative allocations The case studies have been selected in order to illustrate the degree of cross sectoral variation in the process of Europeanization from sectors which have yet to see very much Europeanization such as health to sectors such as competition policy which are almost fully Europeanized The book is consciously multi theoretic in its approach drawing on a range of theories and concepts from theories of European integration to theories of public policy processes
