emergence and upgrading of local production In instances where donors were willing to procure local drugs they created new markets that gave local entrepreneurs an incentive to produce new types of drugs In turn when donors enforced exacting standards as a condition to access those markets they gave these producers an incentive to improve quality standards And where technical know how was not readily available and donors provided mentoring local producers received the guidance necessary for improving production processes Without losing sight of domestic political economic conditions historical legacies and foreign aid s own internal contradictions Give and Take presents groundbreaking insights into the conditions under which foreign aid can be effective Business Marketing ,1991 Tobacco ,1923
