Legends of New-England John Greenleaf Whittier,2017-07-31 Legends of New England was John Greenleaf Whittier's first book published in 1831 It includes Whittier's retelling of eighteen legends that were current in his time some in prose and some in poetry It is of interest because it is Whittier's earliest work because it lets us look at early American folk legends and because the stories themselves are fascinating. It has some of the earliest tales of the supernatural in American literature which compare with Poe's and Hawthorne's stories Given Whittier's importance as an American writer it is surprising that this book has long been out of print We are proud to make it available to the public once again John Greenleaf Whittier was one of the most beloved American poets Every school child learned his poems and lines such as Blessings on thee little man Barefoot boy with cheek of tan and Shoot if you must this old gray head But spare your country's flag she said were widely quoted Whittier was a Quaker and became an active abolitionist when he was in his twenties He was the editor of two abolitionist newspapers. The Pennsylvania Freeman and The National Era and was a founding member of the Liberty Party He wrote two volumes of anti slavery poetry. In 1866 just after slavery was abolished Whittier published the book length poem. Snow Bound the best seller that established his reputation as a poet.
