New Food Chain:

New Food Product Development Gordon W. Fuller, 1994-02-23 This book provides an objective overview of the hectic often chaotic and frequently unpredictable new food product development process The stages of development are described from the vantage points of the technologist marketer and senior management by an author who has worn all three hats The book covers the various stages of product development including generating and sifting ideas against the company's objectives the consumers perceived needs and expectations the competitiveness of the marketplace the technologist's ability to create and manufacture a safe product within budget and test marketing Problems facing both small and large companies are confronted and solutions are proposed Test marketing and the evaluation of such tests are discussed with some new suggestions for interpreting the criteria used A chapter on organization presents ideas for fostering creativity and avoiding communication and personality conflicts Trends in new ingredients and technologies to assist in the design of new products are given full coverage The last chapter is devoted to the future with stimulating discussion of new challenges to current trends in the industry

Radionuclides in the Food Chain John H. Harley, Gail D. Schmidt, Giovanni Silini, 2012-12-06 The Symposium on Radionuclides in the Food Chain sponsored by the International Life Sciences Institute in association with the International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis was intended to bring together policymakers and other representatives of the food industry with radiation experts involved in measuring and assessing radioactivity in foodstuffs The symposium was made timely by the problems arising from the nuclear reactor accident at Chernobyl in the USSR which brought out the lack of international agreement on guidance for responding to such radionuclide contamination of food and foodstuffs The presentations by the radiation experts covered the sources of radionuclides natural radioactivity fallout from nuclear weapons tests routine releases from nuclear facilities and various nuclear accidents The speakers represented a broad distribution in both scientific disciplines and international geographic origin They summarized the available data on measurements and indicated the current procedures for assessing radiation exposure It was hoped that the food industry representatives would bring out the problems posed to industry and governments by the presence of radioactivity in food
