New Forms Of Work Organisation:

Managing and Developing New Forms of Work Organisation George Kanawaty, 1981 New Forms of Work Organisation Lisl Klein, 1976-04-15 Monograph on new forms of work organisation and job design in connection with the quality of working life in Western Europe analyses individual Motivation and attitudes to work and job satisfaction and brief case studies on organisational choice etc and includes current trends and developments Bibliography p 103 to 106 The New Division of Labour Wolfgang Littek, Tony Charles, 2011-05-02 No detailed description available for The New Division of Labour Action Research in Workplace Innovation and Regional Development Werner Fricke, Peter Totterdill, 2004 The past is an increasingly unreliable guide to the future European workplaces and the regions in which they are located face unprecedented pressures and challenges Whereas in recent decades incremental adaptation has largely been sufficient to cope with external change it is no longer clear that this remains the case Globalisation technological development and dissemination political volatility patterns of consumption and employee expectations are occurring at a rate which is hard to measure The rate of change in these spheres is far outstripping the rate of organisational innovation in both European enterprises and public governance leading to a serious mismatch between the challenges of the 21st Century and the organisational competence available to deal with them In this context there is no clear roadmap The contributors to this volume address these issues and demonstrate that building the knowledge base required by actors in this volatile environment requires continuous dialogue and learning a context in which social partners regional policy makers and other participants share diverse knowledge and reflect on experience rather than seeking and imitating any notion of best practice Action Research has a crucial role to play embedding shared learning within the process of innovation New Forms of Work Organization in Europe Peter Grootings, Bjørn Gustavsen, Lajos Háchthy, A remarkable development in the sociology of work in recent years has been the explosion of brilliant cross national and cross cultural studies in Europe examining the conditions of labor against the background of different economic systems and differences within each of the major free market mixed welfare and planned economic systems that dot the European landscape In Vienna and Budapest in particular a group of intellectual workers have gotten together for what can only be described as breakthrough studies in the conditions and purposes of work in post industrial society The question of new forms of work organization focuses on job satisfaction participatory democracy in the work place levels of productivity and issues of health and safety in the occupational environment That these elements are important have long been known But what this collection of studies emphasizes is the specific mix that produced specific outcomes It does not shy away from dangerous and tough questions worker control and control of workers political participation in contexts of authoritarian regimes and personal rewards in contexts that once frowned upon private acquisition of capital The volume is rich in empirical studies and draws the theoretical implications that can and already have had vast policy consequences for workers in the modern context Issues relating to job rotation

enrichment enlargement and autonomy and others related to new forms of organization starting with the shop floor and extending throughout the management of the enterprise as a whole are dealt with candidly The social character of labor long frowned upon as a mechanism for evading bread and butter issues is now recognized East and West as a dimension of concern that is growing precisely as the size and character of the labor sector is diminishing This is must reading for those interested in new forms of social and policy synthesis and ways of meliorating competing claims of different sectors in modern societies

Building from the Rubble Lloyd Sachikonye, Brian Raftopoulos, 2018-09-23 Building from the Rubble is the latest volume to trace the history of Zimbabwe's labour movement following Keep on Knocking 1997 and Striking Back 2001 Even though it focuses on the period between 2000 2017 the analysis reviews the changes in trade unionism throughout the post colonial era For much of this period the unions faced massive challenges including state violence and repression funding limitations splits factionalism and problems of organising at factory level Perhaps the greatest challenge was the massive structural change in the economy Deindustrialisation and the informalisation of work decimated the potential membership of the unions and redefined the trajectory of the movement The growing precarity of work and the loss of formal employment placed the future of trade unions in great jeopardy Notwithstanding these challenges the importance of the labour movement continued to resonate with workers The editors conclude that the unions needs to reconnect with their social base at the workplace and rebuild structures and alliances in the informal economy the rural sector and with residents associations and social media movements This they write is a critical post Mugabe agenda that should be seized by the labour movement at all levels from shop floor to district regional and national spaces

Mobile Virtual Work J. H. Erik Andriessen, Matti Vartiainen, 2005-09-23 Dear Reader This is a book about mobile virtual work It aims at clarifying the basic concepts and showing present practices and future challenges The roots of the book are in the collaboration of few European practitioners and searchers who met each other under the umbrella of the Swedish SALTSA programme see next page in January 2002 in Stockholm The group was first called ICT Mobility and Work Organisation but redefined itself quickly as Mobile Virtual Cooperative Work group The change of the name reflects the development of reasoning in the group We could not find much material on mobile work certainly not systematic studies though a growing interest in mobile technologies and services could be found Practices of telework and virtual organizations were better known but we were convinced that the combination with mobile work was so thing different and new Our main target became to understand what it was all about The next step was an expert meeting in October 2004 at R n s Castle again in Sweden A wider group of experts was invited to present their views on mobile virtual work and ideas about book chapters from different perspectives of working life Some of the expertise could be found through the network of the AMI Work family created by the New Working En ronments unit of the European Commission s Information Society Directorate General Also close collaboration was developed with the related MOSAIC program

Industrial Policy in Europe Keith Cowling, 2003-09-02 After a decade or more of privatisation and deregulation there is a growing consensus that government can have a positive role in promoting industrial development This book explores a variety of ways in which this might be made to happen A common theme is the need for participation at the appropriate level too often industrial policy has been hampered by overcentralised decision making Containing contributions by some of Europe s leading industrial economists Industrial Policy for Europe covers subjects from small business to
