New Generic Technologies in Developing Countries M.R. Bhagavan, 2016-07-27 An examination of developing countries ability to benefit from new generic technologies in the realms of information communication biotechnology and new materials The book demonstrates why some developing countries have made considerable progress in absorbing the new technologies while most are still at the starting blocks and draws on the international donor community s experience to analyse appropriate aid policies and strategies Arab Development Challenges of the New Millennium Belkacem Laabas, 2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2002 In 2000 a major international conference was organized by the Arab Planning Institute to identify analyze and compare development challenges facing Arab countries at the dawn of the new millennium An interdisciplinary team of scholars were brought together from the fields of regional science development studies economics business and government policy and together they addressed global regional and domestic challenges and their impact on the Arab region This volume brings together the best papers presented at this conference In doing so it offers up to date insights into and a clearer understanding of this region It highlights issues including economic and social implications of globalization strategic alliances the implications for Arab countries of emerging technological patterns the impact of the European Monetary Union and the euro Arab regional integration education and the development of individual Arab country s economies Globalization of Technology Prasada Reddy, 2009-08-25 Globalization of Technology is a component of Encyclopedia of Technology Information and Systems Management Resources in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias This book on Globalization of Technology provides the essential aspects and fundamentals of Issues in Technology Transfer and Technological Capability Building such as Techno Economic Paradigms and Latecomer Industrialization Knowledge Networks and the Internet Technology Transfer Vehicles Conditions Spillovers and Policy Challenges The Social Implications of Technological Development Industrialization and Innovation as a Collective Process This volume is aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College students Educators Professional practitioners Research personnel and Policy analysts managers and decision makers and NGOs Issues in Web-Based Pedagogy Robert A. Cole, 2000-06-30 There has been an explosion of Web based courses in higher education Aiming at an interdisciplinary audience the contributors draw upon diverse philosophical and empirical backgrounds to make claims about Web based pedagogy Among the points they raise is the concern that education is more easily commodified through Internet technologies implying that traditional faculty roles in teaching and research are at risk Moreover current understandings of what it means to be a teacher or a student are undergoing redefinition as a result of these new distance learning technologies The contributors note that Web based pedagogy is associated with sound instruction when particular strategies are adopted As a corollary this form of teaching is least effective when attempts are made to directly translate traditional styles of teaching Political social and economic interests are competing to shape the direction that online education will take The authors argue that opportunities exist for administrators and faculty to define the terms under which Web based learning will occur in their institutions Intellectual Property, Biogenetic Resources and Traditional Knowledge Graham Dutfield,2010-09-23 Biogenetic resources the critical biological and chemical materials that underpin so much of medicine both modern and traditional agriculture and wider economic activity in so many fields are at the centre of heated debate regarding their use development and ownership and the issues of ethics and equity that impinge on all of these factors This book is a comprehensive examination of the key issues institutions and ideologies in this area presenting definitions and explanations of the fundamentals of intellectual property rights IPRs biogenetic resources and traditional knowledge It uses the insights from this to build a picture of how these factors interact in practice bringing to the surface issues such as the conservation and sustainable use of biodiversity benefit sharing from the commercial use of biodiversity biotechnological innovation and the transfer of technology agriculture food security rural development health and international justice Part 1 describes the relevant international IPR laws highlights the extent to which modern commerce depends on such resources and traces the way in which modern IPR law has evolved to accommodate this dependence Part 2 shows how stronger IPR protection in the area of life science innovation has given rise to controversies such as biopiracy terminator genes and genetic uniformity Part 3 focuses on traditional knowledge its nature its importance and the applicability of IPR style protection Part 4 covers the international negotiation and policy making of the WTO WIPO and CBD and the legislative initiatives of national governments of Asia Africa and Latin America Finally Part 5 focuses on two developing country case studies of India and Kenya assessing whether they will be able to gain economic benefit from development of their natural resources within the current regulatory system and whether this will encourage the conservation and sustainable use of the resource base With its multidisciplinary approach and breadth of coverage this book will appeal both to those new to the subject and to those with professional and specialist interest including students academics legal practitioners government policy makers and the private sector Proceedings of the International Conference on Environmental Management in Metallurgical Industries (EMMI-2000) ,2000 Bridging the Digital Divide Angathevar Baskaran,2006-01-31 The impressive advances of information and communication technologies ICT in some Asian countries have led some people to proclaim a fundamental change in the world economy It is essential still to study the experience of developing countries thoroughly and critically The authors and editors have made an admirable contribution to make such an evaluation and fill a big gap in our knowledge But it is still relatively difficult to find reliable information about the changes taking place in China or any other developing country One of the many good features of this evaluation is that it takes into account the specific relationship of ICT with the wider social and economic system and the national system of innovation of each country China's Transition to a Global Economy Michael Webber,2002-12-13 How has China approached the global economy Webber Wang and Zhu attempt to answer this question through analysis of the concepts of

Nagy Hanna, Sandor Boyson, 1993-01-01 This study describes a strategy to reduce poverty by boosting labor productivity and economic growth. It focuses on Uganda's two key sectors: agriculture and industry. The strategy seeks to make Uganda a self-sufficient food producer and a major crop exporter. It also advocates policies that would make the nation less dependent on imports and better at marketing its own products. Some suggestions include ways to improve labor markets, raise agricultural output, and broaden the tax base. Other recommendations discuss ways to develop the financial sector and spur savings and investment. Also examined are the government's economic adjustment policies and their effects on the poor. Analysts point out the different ways that poverty affects men and women. The study also discusses how to increase public funds for social services that would improve the labor force. It recommends policies that will help women become full partners in Uganda's development. Tables and other illustrations throughout the text provide detailed statistics on Uganda's economic status. Topics include crop yields, poverty indicators, gross domestic product, and public sector expenses. Business and the Environment Richard Welford, Richard Starkey, 1996 This Reader brings together in one volume the most important and innovative articles written on the interaction of business and the environment.
