attempts to explore the problematics of Victorian subjectivity bringing into focus the ways in which both her realistic and Gothic texts undercut and interrogate post Romantic assumptions about an autonomous and coherent speaking and or narrating subject The essential argument of the book is that the mid nineteenth century narrating I in its communal voyeuristic and Gothic manifestations emerges as painfully divided lacking unstable ailing and hence unreliable pre figuring at the same time later forms of self conscious narration in fiction Furthermore it is also exposed as performative one that can be seen as a simulacrum without an original and consequently at odds with post Romantic empiricist assumptions about the factuality centrality and rationality of the human subject while at the same time clinging to illusions of autonomy Plagued by its own self awareness the narrating I is alienated both from itself as well as from those it attempts to represent including its own narrated counterpart To this effect it argues that throughout a trajectory of configurations psychic investments and imaginary identifications embedded in and conditioned by the workings of desire and ideology both of which underpin discursive and representational practices narrative subjectivity in Gaskell s first person fiction manifests itself as the product of a misrecognized encounter between the subject who narrates and that which is being narrated Both are essentially unable to see their split character and the alienating chasm opened up between them for the former on the level of narration and for the latter on a thematic level

Marginalisation and Aggression from Bullying to Genocide Stephen James Minton,2016-09-26 In this book the author proposes the existence of a continuum of aggressive marginalisation phenomena ranging from the unfortunately commonplace experiences of prejudice discrimination and bullying behaviour through to genocide Attempts made by researchers and practitioners to understand counter and prevent bullying behaviour are reviewed A key finding has been that the success that has been accrued has been limited especially when the case of those who belong to so called minority groups who are often the target of prejudice outside of the school gates is considered it is suggested that future anti bullying actions should meaningfully engage with prejudice as an underlying factor After a critical consideration of the various psychological understandings of aggression aggressive behaviour and marginalisation has been made the author goes on to introduce and assess an eight stage model of physical genocide based primarily on insights from social cognitive psychology and exemplified in the history of the Lakota Cheyenne Campaign 1864 1890 This is followed by a consideration of the cultural genocide levelled against indigenous peoples exemplified in the Sami people in Norway and indigenous peoples of North America as implemented through the actions of educational systems and educators The book ends with some suggestions being made regarding our potential to address the One and Other mindset that is proposed as underlying the continuum of aggressive marginalisation phenomena through the psychological understandings that we can offer the educational practice that we can provide and in the conscious acts of the affirmation of humanity we can make in our individual and collective choices Stephen James Minton is a lecturer in the psychology of education at the School of Education Trinity College Dublin Ireland He has extensive experience in the fields of anti bullying research and practice and is interested in the histories and psychosocial situations and especially the educational experiences of marginalised people and groups

The Politics of Time Peter Osborne, 2020-05-05 If Aristotle sought to understand time through change might we not reverse the procedure and seek to understand change through time Once we do this argues Peter Osborne it soon becomes clear that ideas such as avant garde modern postmodern and tradition which are usually only treated as markets for empirically discrete periods movements or styles are best understood as categories of historical totalization More specifically Osborne claims such ideas involve distinct temporalizations of history giving rise to conflicting politics of time His book begins with a consideration of the main aspects of modernity and develops through a series of critical engagements with the major twentieth century positions in the philosophy of history He concludes with a fascinating history of the avant garde intervention into the temporality of everyday life in surrealism the situationists and the work of Henri Lefebvre

Embodied Theories Ernesto Spinelli, Sue Marshall, 2001-01-30 I think this book may well act as both a stimulus for therapists and an important reminder of the vulnerabilities that we all have but do not always choose to share Journal of the Society for Existential Analysis This book sets out to explore the various ways in which a therapist can be a living expression or embodiment of his or her chosen theoretical approach The book consists of expert practitioners articulating their own particular embodied theory answering the questions how do we live different psychotherapeutic theories How do they guide or clarify the lives of therapists What aspects of theory resonate with the ways therapists understand themselves and relate to others Contributors Michael Jacobs Windy Dryden MalcoLm Partlett Dorothy Rowe Miles Gorth Anthony Stevens John Rowan and Alvin Mahrer

Spaces of Women's Cinema Sue Thornham, 2019-03-21 Sue Thornham explores issues of space place time and gender in feminist filmmaking through an examination of a wide range of films by contemporary women filmmakers ranging from the avant garde to mainstream Hollywood Beginning from questions about space itself and the way it has been gendered she asks how representation functions in relation to space and time and how this too is gendered before moving to an exploration of how such questions might be considered in relation to women s filmmaking In sections dealing with spaces from wilderness to city she analyses in detail how these issues have been dealt with by women filmmakers addressing the work of filmmakers such as Jane Campion Kathryn Bigelow Julie Dash Maggie Greenwald Patricia Rozema and Carol Morley and films including An Angel at My Table 1990 Daughters of the Dust 1991 The Ballad of Little Jo 1993 Winter s Bone 2010 Zero Dark Thirty 2012 and The Falling 2014

Mood and Mobility Richard Coyne, 2016-01-22 An argument that as we engage with social media on our digital devices we receive modify intensify and transmit moods We are active with our mobile devices we play games watch films listen to music check social media and tap screens and keyboards while we are on the move In Mood and Mobility Richard Coyne argues that not only do we communicate process information and entertain ourselves through devices and social media we also receive modify intensify and transmit moods Designers practitioners educators researchers and users should pay more attention to the moods created around our smartphones tablets and laptops Drawing on research from a range of disciplines including experimental psychology phenomenology cultural theory and architecture Coyne shows that users of social media are not simply passive receivers of moods they are complicit in making moods Devoting each chapter to a particular mood from curiosity and pleasure to anxiety and melancholy

Coyne shows that devices and technologies do affect people's moods although not always directly. He shows that mood effects are transitional, different moods suit different occasions and derive character from emotional shifts. Furthermore, moods are active; we enlist all the resources of human sociability to create moods. And finally, the discourse about mood is deeply reflexive in a kind of meta-moodiness: we talk about our moods and have feelings about them. Mood in Coyne's distinctive telling provides a new way to look at the ever-changing world of ubiquitous digital technologies.

EBOOK: The Presenting Past: The Core of Psychodynamic Counselling and Therapy Michael Jacobs, 2012-09-16

This text is characterised by the insight and authority of practice-based evidence rather than being primarily theory applied to practice. It is also written accessibly, with sometimes difficult psychodynamic concepts rendered into plain but elegant prose. Convincing case studies are used throughout and summaries helpfully link practice issues with theory.

Therapy Today May 2013

This new edition of The Presenting Past is a wonderfully readable overview of the developmental principles underlying psychodynamic counselling. Theories of Freud, Klein, Bowlby, Winnicott, Kohut and others are organized into three broad developmental themes: trust and attachment, authority and autonomy, and cooperation and competition. It is illuminated with rich clinical examples which bring alive how theory is helpful to understanding clients. Jacobs' lucid, lively style makes the connection between theory and practice clear and accessible. This outstanding book will appeal to established clinicians as well as students training in counselling and psychotherapy.

Jan Grant, Associate Professor, Counselling Psychology, Curtin University, Western Australia

Michael Jacobs is a free spirit who roams purposefully in the often contentious world of the rival psychoanalytic traditions.

Brian Thorne, Centre for Counselling Studies, University of East Anglia, UK

An original and reliable approach to the development of personality that every therapist and student therapist should possess.

Jacobs, one of the founders of psychodynamic therapy and counselling, avoids the twin perils of unimaginative, meaningless causality on the one hand and indifferent, irresponsible reference to fate on the other.

Andrew Samuels, Professor of Analytical Psychology, University of Essex, UK

In this fourth edition of what is a seminal text on psychodynamic ways of working, Michael Jacobs has managed to take the reader through the complex and intricate ways of thinking about what it is to be human from a psychodynamic view of the world. This text has been recommended reading for undergraduates that I teach who are studying the world of counselling and helping, and it continues to be a text that they draw on when faced with a difficulty in understanding the ideas and concepts of the psychodynamic approach.

Michael Jacobs has that rare ability to make complicated ideas and concepts seem understandable and yet leave the reader in no doubt that they are complicated. The use of case material brings the theory to life and mirrors Michael's commitment to practice that is informed by theory. This is a vade mecum and Michael has done the job.

Sue Sully, Senior Lecturer in Counselling and Psychotherapy, University of Brighton, UK

A person's past is ever present from infancy to old age and it affects the dynamics of therapy and the therapist-patient relationship. Written by a key founding figure of psychodynamic counselling and one of the most cited counselling authors.

in Europe the bestselling The Presenting Past gives practicing therapists and students keen insight into the subject. The theories of Freud, Winnicott, Klein, and attachment theorists are organized into three main categories: trust and attachment, authority and autonomy, and cooperation and competitiveness. In this new edition, Michael Jacobs gives psychodynamic counselling and therapy a truly human face. He brings practice to the forefront in a new three-part structure. This is realized through the swift introduction of the themes in the therapeutic relationship throughout the book, making integration of theory and practice clearer than ever. Looking at what the client presents as troubling them, what the therapist experiences about the client, and their relationship in therapy, and exploring theories to throw light on these themes, now lies firmly at the core of the book. Fully updated with new references, The Presenting Past stays wonderfully readable. The book shows Jacobs at his best and is a testimony to his lifetime of experience.

Germinal Life Keith Ansell-Pearson, Keith Ansell-Pearson, 2012-10-12
Germinal Life is the sequel to the highly successful Virroid Life. Where Virroid Life provided a compelling reading of Nietzsche's philosophy of the human, Germinal Life is an original and groundbreaking analysis of little-known and difficult theoretical aspects of the work of French philosopher Gilles Deleuze. In particular, Keith Ansell-Pearson provides fresh and insightful readings of Deleuze's work on Bergson and Deleuze's most famous texts, Difference and Repetition and A Thousand Plateaus. Germinal Life also provides new insights into Deleuze's relation to some of the most original thinkers of modernity, from Darwin to Freud and Nietzsche, and explores the connections between Deleuze and more recent thinkers such as Adorno and Merleau-Ponty.
