People And Plans Herbert J. Gans, 1968-01-21 Sociological study of community development objectives of urban planning in the USA and of urban area poverty and racial segregation discrimination covers the importance of social structure and economic structure issues neighbourhood and cultural factors in modern society the processes by which environment influences behaviour Blacks in slum areas etc and suggests that planners must pay more attention to people's primary values and to the obstacles in the community and in society to what they consider the good life References People and plans Herbert Julius Gans, 1972 People and Plans Herbert J. Gans, 1972 Intergenerational Space Robert Vanderbeck, Nancy Worth, 2015-06-03 Intergenerational Space offers insight into the transforming relationships between younger and older members of contemporary societies The chapter selection brings together scholars from around the world in order to address pressing questions both about the nature of contemporary generational divisions as well as the complex ways in which members of different generations are and can be involved in each other's lives These questions include how do particular kinds of spaces and spatial arrangements e.g. cities neighbourhoods institutions leisure sites facilitate and limit intergenerational contact and encounters What processes and spaces influence the intergenerational negotiation and contestation of values beliefs and social memory producing patterns of both continuity and change And if generational separation and segregation are in fact significant social problems across a range of contexts as a significant body of research and commentary attests how can this be ameliorated The chapters in this collection make original contributions to these debates drawing on original research from Belgium China Finland Poland Senegal Singapore Tanzania Uganda the United States and the United Kingdom The Routledge Handbook of Australian Urban and Regional Planning Neil Sipe, Karen Vella, 2017-08-25 Where is planning in twenty first century Australia What are the key challenges that confront planning What does planning scholarship reveal about the state of planning practice in meeting the needs of urban and regional Australians The Routledge Handbook of Australian Urban and Regional Planning includes 27 chapters that answer these and many other questions that confront planners working in urban and regional areas in twenty first century Australia It provides a single source for cutting edge thinking and research across a broad range of the most important topics in urban and regional planning Divided into six parts this handbook explores contexts of urban and regional planning in Australia critical debates in Australian planning planning policy climate change disaster risk and environmental management engaging and taking planning action planning education and research This handbook is a valuable resource for advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students in urban planning built environment urban studies and public policy as well as academics and practitioners across Australia and internationally The Human Experience of Space and Place Anne Buttner, David Seamon, 2015-06-03 Humanistic geography is one of the major emerging themes which has recently dominated geographic writing Anne Buttner has been one of the leading figures in the rise of humanistic geography and the research students she collected round her at Clark University in the 1970s constituted something of a school of humanistic geographers This school developed a significantly new style of geographical inquiry giving special emphasis to people s experience of place space and environment and often using philosophical and subjective methodology This collection of essays first published in 1980 brings together this school and offers insight into philosophical and practical issues concerning the human experience of environments An extensive range of topics are discussed and the aim throughout is to weave analytical and critical thought into a more comprehensive understanding of lived experience This book will be of interest to students of human geography

The No-growth Imperative Gabor Zovanyi,2013 More than two decades of mounting evidence confirms that the existing scale of the human enterprise has surpassed global ecological limits to growth Based on such limits The No Growth Imperative discounts current efforts to maintain growth through eco efficiency initiatives and smart growth programs and argues that growth is inherently unsustainable and that the true nature of the challenge confronting us now is one of replacing the current growth imperative with a no growth imperative Gabor Zovanyi asserts that anything less than stopping growth would merely slow today s dramatic degradation and destruction of ecosystems and their critical life support services Zovanyi makes the case that local communities must take action to stop their unsustainable demographic economic and urban increases as an essential prerequisite to the realization of sustainable states The book presents rationales and legally defensible strategies for stopping growth in local jurisdictions and portrays the viability of no growth communities by outlining their likely economic social political and physical features It will serve as a resource for those interested in shifting the focus of planning from growth accommodation to the creation of stable sustainable communities While conceding the challenges associated with transforming communities into no growth entities Zovanyi concludes by presenting evidence that suggests that prospects for realizing states of no growth are greater than might be assumed

Chasing the American Dream William M. Rohe,Harry L. Watson,2018-07-05 Providing decent safe and affordable housing to low and moderate income families has been an important public policy goal for more than a century In recent years there has been a clear shift of emphasis among policymakers from a focus on providing affordable rental units to providing affordable homeownership opportunities Due in part to programs introduced by the Clinton and Bush administrations the nation s homeownership rate is currently at an all time high Does a house become a home only when it comes with a deed attached Is participation in the real estate market a precondition to engaged citizenship or wealth creation The real estate industry s marketing efforts and government policy initiatives might lead one to believe so The shift in emphasis from rental subsidies to affordable homeownership opportunities has been justified in many ways Claims for the benefits of homeownership have been largely accepted without close scrutiny But is homeownership always beneficial for low income Americans or are its benefits undermined by the difficulties caused by unfavorable mortgage terms and by the poor condition or location of the homes bought Chasing the American Dream provides a critical assessment of affordable homeownership policies and goals Its contributors represent a variety of disciplinary perspectives and offer a thorough understanding of the economic social political architectural and cultural effects of homeownership programs as well as their history The editors draw together the assessments included in this book to prescribe a plan of action that lays out what must be done to make homeownership policy both effective and equitable

Interior Urbanism Charles Rice, 2016-02-25 Vast interior spaces have become ubiquitous in the contemporary city The soaring atriums and concourses of mega hotels shopping malls and transport interchanges define an increasingly normal experience of being inside in a city Yet such spaces are also subject to intense criticism and claims that they can destroy the quality of a city's authentic life on the outside Interior Urbanism explores the roots of this contemporary tension between inside and outside identifying and analysing the concept of interior urbanism and tracing its history back to the works of John Portman and Associates in 1960s and 70s America Portman increasingly recognised as an influential yet understudied figure was responsible for projects such as Peachtree Center in Atlanta and the Los Angeles Bonaventure Hotel developments that employed vast internal atriums to define a world of possibilities not just for hotels and commercial spaces but for the future of the American downtown amid the upheavals of the 1960s and 70s The book analyses Portman's architecture in order to reconsider major contexts of debate in architecture and urbanism in this period including the massive expansion of a commercial imperative in architecture shifts in the governance and development of cities amid social and economic instability the rise of postmodernism and critical urban studies and the defence of the street and public space amid the continual upheavals of urban development In this way the book reconsiders the American city at a crucial time in its development identifying lessons for how we consider the forces at work and the spaces produced in cities in the present

Social Work and the City Charlotte Williams, 2016-07-18 This book critically explores ways of thinking about the city and its relevance for the profession of social work It provides a colourful illustration of practice drawing on examples of social work responses to a range of issues emerging from the unprecedented scale density and pace of change in cities The associated challenges posed for social work include the increased segregation of the poor the crisis of affordable housing homelessness gentrification ageing displacement as a result of migrations and the breakdown of social support and care Drawing on multiple disciplines this groundbreaking work shows that these familiar features of the twenty first century can be counteracted by the positive aspects of the city its innovation creativity and serendipity It has a redistributive caring and cohesive potential The city can provide new opportunities and resources for social work to influence to collaborate to foster participation and involvement and to extend its social justice mandate The book shows that the city represents a critical arena in terms of the future of social work intervention and social work identity In doing so it will be of great interest to students and scholars of social work social policy community work and urban studies      Politics and Conflict in Governance and Planning Ayda Eraydin,Klaus Frey,2018-09-18 Politics and Conflict in Governance and Planning offers a critical evaluation of manifold ways in which the political dimension is reflected in contemporary planning and governance While the theoretical debates on post politics and the wider frame of post foundational political theory provide substantive explanations for the crisis in planning and governance still there is a need for a better understanding of how the political is manifested in the planning contents shaped by institutional arrangements and played out in the planning processes This book undertakes a reassessment of the changing role of the political in contemporary planning and governance Employing a wide range of empirical research conducted in several regions of the world it draws a more complex and heterogeneous picture of the context specific depoliticisation and repoliticisation processes taking place in local and regional planning and governance It shows not only the domination of market forces and the consequent suppression of the political but also how political conflicts and struggles are defined tackled and transformed in view of the multifaceted rules and constraints recently imposed to local and regional planning Switching the focus to how strategies and forms of depoliticised governance can be repoliticised through renewed planning mechanisms and socio political mobilisation Politics and Conflict in Governance and Planning is a critical and much needed contribution to the planning literature and its incorporation of the post politics and post democracy debate      National Urban Recreation Study United States. Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service,1978      National Urban Recreation Study ,1978      Research in Urban Sociology Mark Clapson,Ray Hutchison,2010-12-14 Presents contributions in comparative suburban studies for urban regions not just in Europe and the United States but also metropolitan regions in China India and other areas of the world This title examines the patterns of suburban development in metropolitan regions around the globe      National Urban Recreation Study: Technical report 13 ,1978      Reader's Guide to the Social Sciences Jonathan Michie,2014-02-03 This 2 volume work includes approximately 1 200 entries in A Z order critically reviewing the literature on specific topics from abortion to world systems theory In addition nine major entries cover each of the major disciplines political economy management and business human geography politics sociology law psychology organizational behavior and the history and development of the social sciences in a broader sense
