People and Production in Late Precolonial Tanzania Juhani Koponen, 1988 People and Production in Late Precolonial Tanzania Juhani Koponen, 1988 A New History of Tanzania Kimambo, Isaria N., Maddox, Gregory H., 2019-04-15 Tanzania the land and the people have been subject of a great deal of historical research but there remains no readily accessible and concise history of the country The aim of this volume is to fill that void A New History of Tanzania takes its name from a lecture series introduced at the University of Dar es Salaam by Professor Isaria Kimambo in 2002 Prior to that a book titled A History of Tanzania had been published in 1969 by East African Publishing House in Nairobi for the Tanzania Historical Association That book is currently out of print and this is not a reprint In this book Prof Kimambo has been joined by two other colleagues Prof Gregory H Maddox of Texas Southern University Houston USA and Salvatory S Nyanto a Tanzanian Lecturer at the University of Dar es Salaam and a Ph D candidate at the University of Iowa USA together they have produced an outline history of Tanzania that covers all important aspects from antiquity to the present that is different from and richer than its predecessor Sources from the fields of archaeology anthropology biology genetics and oral tradition have been used to produce this excellent book A New History of Tanzania is a timely contribution to academic requirements for teaching and learning Tanzania s history It is also a possible exemplar to the writing of other countries histories departing as it does from the traditional historiography that is influenced by colonial and postcolonial apologists of nefarious external influences on Africa s history It will also interest other Tanzanians and visitors to Tanzania who are interested in understanding the country from when it was a territory with more than one hundred and twenty ethnic groups to a nation with an unmistakable identity as it marches forward Plants and People in the African Past Anna Maria Mercuri, A. Catherine D'Andrea, Rita Fornaciari, Alexa Höhn, 2018-07-31 There is an essential connection between humans and plants cultures and environments and this is especially evident looking at the long history of the African continent This book comprising current research in archaeobotany on Africa elucidates human adaptation and innovation with respect to the exploitation of plant resources In the long term perspective climatic changes of the environment as well as human impact have posed constant challenges to the interaction between peoples and the plants growing in different countries and latitudes This book provides an insight into overview of the manifold routes people have taken in various parts Africa in order to make a decent living from the provisions of their environment by bringing together the analyses of macroscopic and microscopic plant remains with ethnographic botanical geographical and linguistic research The numerous chapters cover almost all the continent countries and were prepared by most of the scholars who study African archaeobotany i e the complex and composite history of plant uses and environmental transformations during the Holocene Rural Wage Employment in Developing Countries Carlos Oya, Nicola Pontara, 2015-05-22 There is a striking scarcity of work conducted on rural labour markets in the developing world particularly in Africa This book aims to fill this gap by bringing together a group of contributors who boast substantial field experience researching rural wage employment in various developing countries. It provides critical perspectives on mainstream approaches to rural agrarian development and analysis of agrarian change and rural transformations from a long term perspective. This book challenges the notion that rural areas in low and middle income countries are dominated by self employment. It purports that this conventional view is largely due to the application of conceptual frameworks and statistical conventions that are ill equipped to capture labour market participation. The contributions in this book offer a variety of methodological lessons for the study of rural labour markets focusing in particular on the use of mixed methods in micro level field research and more emphasis on capturing occupation multiplicity. The emphasis on context history and specific configurations of power relations affecting rural labour market outcomes are key and reoccurring features of this book. This analysis will help readers think about policy options to improve the quantity and quality of rural wage employment, their impact on the poorest rural people and their political feasibility in each context.

The Oxford Handbook of Modern African History John Parker, Richard Reid, 2013-10-10 The Oxford Handbook of Modern African History represents an invaluable tool for historians and others in the field of African studies. This collection of essays produced by some of the finest scholars currently working in the field provides the latest insights into and interpretations of the history of Africa, a continent with a rich and complex past. An understanding of this past is essential to gain perspective on Africa's current challenges and this accessible and comprehensive volume will allow readers to explore various aspects: political, economic, social and cultural of the continent's history over the last two hundred years. Since African history first emerged as a serious academic endeavour in the 1950s and 1960s, it has undergone numerous shifts in terms of emphasis and approach, changes brought about by political and economic exigencies and by ideological debates. This multi-faceted Handbook is essential reading for anyone with an interest in those debates and in Africa and its peoples. While the focus is determinedly historical, anthropology, geography, literary criticism, political science and sociology are all employed in this ground breaking study of Africa's past.

Human Portage and Colonial State Formation in German East Africa, 1880s-1914 Andreas Greiner, 2022-11-07 This book explores the role of caravan transport and human portage in the colony of German East Africa, present day mainland Tanzania, Rwanda and Burundi. With caravan mobility being of pivotal importance to colonial rule during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, the exploration of vernacular transport and its governance during this period sheds new light on the trajectories of colonial statehood. The author addresses key questions such as the African resilience to colonial interventions the issue of labor recruitment and the volatility of colonial infrastructure This book unveils a fundamental contradiction in the way that German administrators dealt with precolonial modes of transport in East Africa While colonizers championed for the abolishment of caravan transport they strongly depended on porters in the absence of pack animals or railways To bring this contradiction to the fore the author studies the shifting role of caravans in East Africa during the era of high imperialism Uncovering the extent to which porters and caravan entrepreneurs challenged and shaped colonial policymaking this book provides an insightful read for historians studying German Empire and African history as well as those interested in the history of transport and infrastructure Migration in Africa Michiel de Haas, Ewout Frankema, 2022-03-30

This book introduces readers to the age of intra African migration a period from the mid 19th century onward in which the center of gravity of African migration moved decisively inward Most books tend to zoom in on Africa's external migration during the earlier intercontinental slave trades and the more recent outmigration to the Global North but this book argues that migration within the continent has been far more central to the lives of Africans over the course of the last two centuries The book demonstrates that only by taking a broad historical and continent wide perspective can we understand the distinctions between the more immediate drivers of migration and deeper patterns of change over time During the 19th century Africa's external slave trades gradually declined whilst Africa's expanding commodity export sectors drew in domestic labor This led to an era of heightened mobility within the region marked by rapidly rising and vanishing migratory flows increasingly diversified landscapes of migration systems and profound long term shifts in the wider patterns of migration This era of inward focused mobility reduced with a resurgence of outmigration after 1960 when Africans became more deliberate in search of extra continental destinations with new diaspora communities emerging specifically in the Global North Broad ranging in its temporal spatial and thematic coverage this book provides students and researchers with the perfect introduction to age of intra African migration Slave Emancipation, Christian Communities, and Dissent

in Post-Abolition Tanzania, 1878-1978 Salvatory S Nyanto, 2024-11-19 The first historical account of the dramatic growth of Christianity in Western Tanzania during the twentieth century and of the role of former slaves in this process Examining the intersection of post slavery and evangelism this book shows the ways that former slaves from a variety of linguistic and cultural backgrounds came together to create new communities in the Christian missions of western Tanzania It shows how converts adapted to Christianity and at the same time shaped it through their translations of the Bible and other religious texts into the Kinyamwezi language integrating concepts from their own cultures and experiences of slavery Working as teachers pastors and catechists former slaves and their descendants laid the basis for the growth of African Christianity in the region and the book pays particular attention to women's agency in creating spaces for negotiating kinship ties and mutual relations with the wider communities It also delves into the range of missionary sources to show the experience of lay Christians who opposed religious authority in Catholic and Moravian missions examining the division caused by catechists demands for equality of status recognition and appropriate pay in the context of ujamaa and the turmoil brought about by the revival movement Through narratives of religious experience from multiple missions and village outstations the book shows how former slaves created a Kinyamwezi speaking Christian culture taking inspiration both from European missionaries and neighbouring African villagers and became part of evolving rural communities in the inter war period enabling their descendants to achieve a significant degree of social mobility

Memories of German Colonialism in Tanzania Reginald Elias Kirey, 2023-08-21 German colonial history in today Tanzania Mainland is extensively documented but it has not been studied from its memory perspective despite it being widely remembered among the Tanzanians This book documents German colonial memories as shared cultural legacy that exists in forms of monuments archives and historical sites It also presents them as trans generational memory narratives that live in people s memories that are also commemorated in different ways like erection of war monuments The book analyzes memories of colonialism from the historical perspective showing how the collective memories like monuments and commemorations have undergone structural and institutional changes over time The study uses Michael Rothberg s multi directional theory together with other theoretical approaches to analyze various forms of German colonial memories in Tanzanian context The findings which are analyzed historically indicate that the collective memories of the Germans are cultural communicative commemorative functional and topographical They are also traumatic as well as nostalgic

Sub-Saharan Africa Gregory H. Maddox, 2006-03-24 A wealth of information and analysis on the environmental forces that have helped shaped the cultures of the African continent A scholarly reference work that will also appeal to the general reader Sub Saharan Africa sets the story of the African environment within the context of geological time and shows how the continent s often harsh conditions prompted humans to develop unique skills in agriculture animal husbandry and environmental management Part of ABC CLIO s Nature and Human Societies series this book enables readers to better grasp the extent of humanity s effect on our world Of particular interest are the book's sections dealing with the impact of the Biafran famine of the 1960s the Sahelian drought of the 1970s population growth and the ongoing challenges of war and HIV AIDS Crucially the book also shows how despite their relative poverty many African states have coped admirably with rapid urbanization and have developed world class conservation and sustainability programs in order to protect and harness some of the most endangered species in the world Custodians of the Land Gregory H. Maddox, James L. Giblin, Isaria N. Kimambo, 1996-04-15 Farming and pastoral societies inhabit ever changing environments This relationship between environment and rural culture politics and economy in Tanzania is the subject of this volume which will be valuable in reopening debates on Tanzanian history In his conclusion Isaria N Kimambo a founding father of Tanzanian history reflects on the efforts of successive historians to strike a balance between external causes of change and local initiative in their interpretations of Tanzanian history He shows that nationalist and Marxist historians of Tanzanian history understandably preoccupied through the first quarter century of the country's post colonial history with the impact of imperialism and capitalism on East Africa tended to overlook the initiatives taken by rural societies to transform themselves Yet there is good reason for historians to think about the causes of change and innovation in the rural communities of Tanzania because farming and pastoral people have constantly changed as they adjusted to shifting environmental conditions Visions for an African Valley DR JONATHAN M. JACKSON, 2025-03-11 What was the effect of the numerous albeit often unsatisfied plans for development on the land and communities of the Kilombero valley throughout the colonial period and into the first decades of independence This book traces histories of development in and crucially visions of development for the Kilombero valley of south central Tanzania Taking the notion of development planning as a form of future making the book examines the many visions or past futures projected onto Kilombero by colonial and national governments by international organisations syndicates and individuals It examines how such plans were conceived evaluates their successes and analyses their shortcomings against changing political and economic landscapes Four key themes agricultural intensification ecology control infrastructure and re settlement are shown to persistently surface and continue to shape the valleyscape today By considering past future visions for the reorganisation of rural life in Tanzania the book reveals how even recent initiatives have suffered through their failure to learn from this history Offering fresh insights and approaches to the historiography of development Visions for an African Valley shows Kilombero to be a prism which refracts broader phenomena across more than a century Cattle Plague Clive A. Spinage, 2003 Cattle Plague A History is the most comprehensive general study of the history of cattle plague or rinderpest yet attempted of which there has not been a book in English since 1866 With its stranglehold on the economy of Europe until the later 19th century rinderpest has been the most neglected study in history The most virulent and dreaded animal disease to affect Europe and Asia from ancient times with up to 95 percent mortality of affected cattle in the 18th century it is estimated to have carried off more than 200 million head of cattle in Europe exclusive of Siberia and Tartary Germany alone lost 28 million between 1711 and 1865 3 in every 4 animals dying Following its introduction into Britain in 1745 the losses in 1745-57 were estimated at in excess of half a million head Its introduction in 1865 with a dozen oxen led to the death including those which were slaughtered of 278 943 animals some estimates putting the loss as high as 420 000 representing 7 per cent of the national herd according to some affecting livestock farming and the meat trade for the next 25 years It was responsible for a major panzootic in Africa at the turn of the 19th century devastating domestic and wild animals alike and affecting the ecology of Africa to the present Confined today to one known remaining focus in Africa the Food and Agricultural Organisation of the United Nations hopes to eradicate this disease entirely by 2010 which if successful will be t Makran, Oman and Zanzibar Beatrice

Nicolini,2004-06-01 Winner of the Society for Arabian Studies Grant in 2003 This study examines a view from outside of the three terminals Makran Muscat and Zanzibar which is a partial one in the history of the western Indian Ocean Such themes are however essential when viewed against the background of Anglo French rivalry in the Gulf and Indian Ocean during the first half of the nineteenth century and are central to numerous debates The methodological perspective therefore whilst concerned with oriental figures and events is still largely based on sources in western languages precisely because it concentrates on the relations between Sa d bin Sul n l B Sa d r 1806 1856 the Arab Omani sovereign of Muscat and Zanzibar and Europe and on Baluch presence in Oman and in East Africa The Persistence of Subsistence Agriculture Tony

Waters,2008-01-01 This book is about how the modern market world transformed the lives of remote agricultural farmers Waters uses diverse examples to illustrate how the modern market economy captured persistent subsistence farms in 18th century Scotland 19th century United States 20th century Tanzania and indeed the entire modern world Routledge

seven cholera pandemics since 1817 particularly the current impact of cholera on such major countries as Senegal Angola Mozambique Congo Zimbabwe and South Africa Myron Echenberg highlights the irony that this once terrible scourge having receded from most of the globe now kills thousands of Africans annually Africa now accounts for more than 90 percent of the world's cases and deaths and leaves many more with severe developmental impairment Responsibility for the suffering caused is shared by Western lending and health institutions and by often venal and incompetent African leadership If the threat of this old scourge is addressed with more urgency great progress in the public health of Africans can be achieved
