R. Rodrigues, 2013-05-22 This book is very useful for it is not just descriptive in its nature but prescriptive too It is descriptive in the sense that it describes the process of developing or using a metric in a problem situation and prescriptive as it clearly prescribes how a beginner can put the theory into practice In this globalized economy maintaining quality of products and services has been the thrust area of interest among academicians and practitioners Today there are quite a good number of books and research articles available Nevertheless service quality measurement has always posed problems particularly in the context of service industries due to the difficulty in the measurement of the intangibles and implied needs of the customers. The research literature is filled with articles on how to quantify the services and there are several streams of arguments on the choice of the most ideal approach. However, the research gap lies in the answer to the question: Do these measurement instruments concur in their measurement outcomes or do they give different results in the same situation? This book primarily makes an attempt to answer this question through a case study approach. Even though there are several instruments for the measurement of service quality, the two most widely used instruments are SERVQUAL and SERVPERF metrics. Comprehensively, this book explains the systematic procedure of using both the instruments in a service sector and further the procedure for conducting a statistical analysis so that one will be able to apply the same in any service sector. It then takes the reader through a series of tests in order to compare the two metrics and to prove statistically if there is the same outcome in a problem situation. The results are sure to surprise the reader and trigger the research bent of mind to undertake a similar study of such metrics and gain mastery over performing an independent research with very minimal guidance from a professional guide.

Understanding Green Consumer Behaviour Sigmund A. Wagner, 2003 Through the study of green environmentally friendly consumers, this book incorporates original groundbreaking anthropological and cognitive research to examine basic aspects of the workings of the human mind. Services Marketing: Text and Cases, 2/e Harsh V. Verma, 2012 Value in Marketing Marin A. Marinov, 2019-11-21 The concept of value has been at the heart of marketing thought and practice. Marketers strive to develop a unique value proposition to satisfy the needs of customers in order to create a differentiated offering to targeted customers, be they end consumers or business users. It is the unique value delivered by products and services that defines a firm's competitive market positioning. Recent advances in marketing theory have enhanced the interpretation of value in terms of its types, manifestations, and determinants. Value in marketing is delivered to customers, stakeholders, shareholders, ecosystems, and society. While the literature has been unanimously emphasizing the economic interpretation of value measured in money terms, marketing has been at the forefront of critical thinking, bringing to the fore new meanings and interpretations of value that have unlocked the psychological, emotional, social, and ecological value of products and services to customers. It is the marketing thought that has extended the understanding of value in use and has indisputably positioned value in context. Marketing has developed the notion of value delivered by intangible assets that can create much greater value than the tangible product and/or service. Marketing has unravelled the multi-layered nature of value to the customer and thus augmented the meanings and interpretations as well as the analytical and practical potential of this notion. Consequently, we see the need to revisit the concept of value in marketing in order to address its complexity. This book sets to provide an insight in the concept of value in marketing in its contemporary interpretation and level of development. The aim is to offer an overview of debates and developments in our understanding of value in marketing that can raise the awareness of the scholarly and business communities of its pivotal importance for businesses and consumers. Value in Marketing presents reflections and analysis of value in marketing by consecutive generations of scholars who have made theoretical contributions to the contemporary understanding of the concept, its interpretations, dimensions, and importance. The chapters address various issues including customer value development, implications, and trajectories, intra-variable and inter-variable perspectives of value, the importance of the value concept in the international marketing context, value developed in networks that is intrinsically associated with knowledge creation in the internationalization meanings and interpretations of value in diverse contexts that help us develop further the dimensions of the concept. We trust the book will
