Reorganizing Our Universities Alan H. Levy, 2006-05-01 Many books have been written outlining problems with higher education in America Many have been written in broad strokes Where specific many others have tended to focus on some of the nation s most famous schools The average American family sends their children not to the Ivy League but to less noteworthy state schools where quality could prevail but is often compromised It is in such schools that many of the problems of American education continue to thrive without any meaningful reform Levy s book endeavors to explain many of the problems which plague our schools and which shortchange students and their parents who pay the ever higher costs Looking in depth at a typical university Levy reveals the ways that silly at times corrupt administrative and union games marginal disciplines and mediocre at times fraudulent academics have gained unjustifiably significant positions in schools and have needlessly truncated valuable resources which could otherwise be used to promote genuine quality and make universities serve the students and citizens who foot the bills

Climate Change in Bangladesh Margaret Alston, 2015-02-11 Bangladesh is by no means a high emitter of carbon but it is nevertheless one of the countries most critically affected. There is a significant risk of damage to lives and livelihoods due to climate change in the form of cyclones, flooding and storm surges and slow onset impacts such as droughts, sea level rises and river basin erosion. Moreover, Bangladeshis are especially vulnerable as a high proportion of people live in extreme poverty. This book assesses the impact of climate change in Bangladesh and presents the findings of a three year in depth study undertaken at village level in different districts of the country. It examines national policies contrasting them with what is actually happening at village level. It outlines the impact of climate change on livelihood strategies and health and focuses particularly on the impact on gender relations showing that although women have a significant role to play in helping communities cope with the effects of climate change, cultural customs and practices often work against this. The book argues for and puts forward policy proposals for recognising women's active contribution and supporting gender equality as a critical strategy in global adaptation to climate challenges.

Cultural Dynamics of Women's Lives Ana Clara S. Bastos, Jaan Valsiner, Kristiina Uriko, 2012-12-01 This book explores the diverse landscapes wherein women struggle for their personal and social identities and lives between biology and culture, destiny and choice, shared and individual worlds, tradition and modernity. Their peripheral lives have central meaning. Chaudhary, this volume in any society and as such are approached as a primary subject in this book as the chapters traverse ten different countries on three continents: North America, United States, Latin America, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Asia, India and Europe, United Kingdom, Ireland, Portugal, Finland, Estonia. Throughout these different places, women's lives are an interesting stage for observing the interaction between biology and culture, e.g. sex vs gender, pregnancy and childbirth vs transition to motherhood. The focus on the cultural variability of human experience opens the door for the search of commonalities so needed in psychological theorizing. Here this search is directed by how cultural models of womanhood and motherhood constrain personal experiences, especially through developmental transitions. This book is ultimately an opportunity to approach women's lives from the perspective of the women themselves, particularly making audible and explicit their voices and the axis of logic that structures their world. Undoubtedly it is a valuable opportunity for women and men interested in understanding and constructing human experience inside better worlds.

Women's Ways of Making Maureen Daly Goggin, Shirley K Rose, 2021-04-21 Women's Ways of Making draws attention to material practices, those that the hands perform, as three epistemologies: an episteme, a techne and a phronesis that together give pointed consideration to making as a rhetorical embodied endeavor. Combined, these epistemologies show that making is a form of knowing that episteme, knowing how, techne and wisdom, making, phronesis. Since the Enlightenment, embodied knowledge creation has been overlooked, ignored or disparaged as inferior to other forms of expression or thinking that seem to leave the material world behind. Privileging the hand over the eye, as the work in this collection does, thus problematizes the way in which the eye has been co-opted by thinkers as the mind's tool of investigation. Contributors to this volume argue that other senses touch taste smell hearing are keys to knowing one's materials Only when all these ways of knowing are engaged can making be understood as a rhetorical practice In Women's Ways of Making contributors explore ideas of making that run the gamut from videos produced by beauty vloggers to zine production and art programs at women's correctional facilities Bringing together senior scholars new voices and a fresh take on material rhetoric this book will be of interest to a broad range of readers in composition and rhetoric Contributors Angela Clark Oates Jane L Donawerth Amanda Ellis Theresa M Evans Holly Fulton Babicke Bre Garrett Melissa Greene Magdelyn Hammong Helwig Linda Hanson Jackie Hoermann Christine Martorana Aurora Matzke Jill McCracken Karen S Neubauer Daneryl Nier Weber Sherry Rankins Roberson Kathleen J Ryan Rachael Ryerson Andrea Severson Lorin Shellenberger Carey Smitherman Clark Emily Standridge Charlese Trower Christy I Wenger Hui Wu Kathleen Blake Yancey
