Advances in Emotion Regulation: From Neuroscience to Psychotherapy Alessandro Grecucci, Remo Job, Jon J. Frederickson, 2017-08-24

Emotions are the gift nature gave us to help us connect with others Emotions do not come from out of nowhere Rather they are constantly generated usually by stimuli in our interpersonal world They bond us to others guide us in navigating our social interactions and help us care for each other Paraphrasing Shakespeare Our relationships are such stuff as emotions are made of Emotions express our needs and desires When problems happen in our relationships emotions arise to help us fixing those problems However when emotions can become dysregulated pathology begins Almost all forms of psychopathology are associated with dysregulated emotions or dysregulatory mechanisms These dysregulated emotions can become regulated when the therapist helps clients express face and regulate their emotions and channel them into healthy actions This research topic gathers contributions from affective neuroscientists and psychotherapists to illustrate how our emotions become dysregulated in life and can become regulated through psychotherapy New Feminist Stories of Child Sexual Abuse Paula Reavey, Sam Warner, 2003 Child sexual abuse is a multifaceted event interpreted in many different ways in many different contexts In New Feminist Stories of Child Sexual Abuse contributors try to untangle some of the complex ways in which stories of child sexual abuse are translated through and into personal professional and social politics The first section of the book explores the cultural and political landscape of child sexual abuse in Western and non Western contexts It examines the ways in which radical aspects of feminism can be undermined in Western cultures and how Westernised ideologies of childhood sex and gender have been used to structure discussions about child sexual abuse across the world The second section traces the effects of these wider cultural and political narratives through the various contexts in which child sexual abuse is theorised and around which interventions in the lives of women are structured It provides insights into how traditional approaches to understanding harm can be challenged and reworked in practice using alternative therapeutic models based on feminist post structuralist agendas Reworking earlier feminist analyses New Feminist Stories of Child Sexual Abuse asks pertinent questions about how child sexual abuse is produced rather than merely represented in the ways we speak about it The Limits of Rational Choice Or why Do Economists Become Parents? Susan Himmelweit, 1999
