Work in Studying, Thinking, and Reading Rollo La Verne Lyman, 1924 The Secret of Natural Readers Ada Anbar, 2004-10-30 It has been recognized since the 1980s that literacy begins to develop a long time before formal schooling begins In today's literate environment children start learning to read much as they learn to speak through playful print interactions with their parents older siblings or other adults beginning in year one A sharp debate about the best approach to developing early childhood literacy is now brewing between reading instruction experts who tend to advocate direct instruction of skills and preschool educators who know that preschoolers learn best through play This book provides a model for action that may help to settle the debate Interactions that involve the printed word occur spontaneously between young children and adults in the context of daily life activities This is true to a greater or lesser degree in essentially all socioeconomic and cultural environments Recognizing the critical importance of the early years for the development of literacy the National Association for the Education of Young Children NAEYC and the International Reading Association IRA formulated in 1998 a joint position statement regarding early literacy That statement included a set of general recommendations for teaching practice But following the Bush administration's No Child Left Behind legislation of January 2002 and the establishment of the Reading First and Early Reading First programs early childhood educators are now under heavy pressure to be more specific and to issue standards or shared expectations for the literacy development of all children below kindergarten age Utilizing the actual experiences of six preschool children The Secret of Natural Readers documents the process of reading development through stories of their early years The author discusses the implications of natural reading development and its feasibility among preschoolers from different segments of the population She also spells out for parents and early childhood teachers critical information on how preschool children should learn to read Collage Quest Donna L. Thompson, 2015-11-12 Come voyage through lost roots of the multi dimensional artistry of collage This seemingly simple method leads you on an adventure of self discovery developing your innate abilities for shapes shifting using paper scissors and glue Author and artist Donna Thompson shares her wisdom and stories as she leads you on a journey through time From caves of old to collaging in your own home this colorful adventure is an in depth exploration of humanity's ancient connections to making art This triple layered approach is actually three books in one It begins by guiding you through the mystical Doorway of Color where you learn the Celtic ways of sensing gathering and envisioning with images Next comes the Doorway of Ceremonies where you unearth indigenous ways of communing with collage And finally the Doorway of Dreams leading to the most ancient ways of remembering who you truly are Learning to quest with collage is all about playing with colors signs and synchronicity It is also a metaphor for the ongoing journey of each human life You are invited to come along in search of multi hued elements to weave into an ever unfolding landscape of your own design Collage Quest is a guide for tracing these deep roots and translating them into modern day materials and language It is a unique and powerful 21st century tool of co creation Close Reading New Media Jan van Looy, Jan Baetens, 2003 Close Reading New Media is the first publication to apply the method of close analysis to new media Since the early nineteen nineties electronic art and literature have continually gained importance in artistic and academic circles Significant critical and theoretical attention has been paid to how new media allow the text to break traditional power relations and boundaries The passive reader becomes an active participant choosing his own path and assembling not just his own interpretation of the text level of the signified but also his own text level of the signifier Texts no longer have a beginning or an ending being a web of interlinked nodes The decentered nature of electronic text empowers and invites the reader to take part in the literary process Poststructuralist theorists predicted a total liberation of textual restrictions imposed by the medium of print However while these are culturally significant claims little attention has been paid to their realization The goal of this volume is twofold Our aim is to shed light on how ideas and theories have been translated into concrete works and we want to comment on the process of close reading and how it can be applied to electronic literature While all contributions deal with particular works their aim is always to provide insight into how electronic fiction and new media can be read This book proposes close readings of work by Mark Amerika Darren Aronofsky M D Coverley Raymond Federman Shelley Jackson Rick Pryll Geoff Ryman and Stephanie Strickland
