

Stages of Reading Development

by Jeanne S. Chall

stage Zero: Pre-reading/Pseudo reading (6 mos.-6 years old) the child understands thousands of words but can read few if any of them

how to acquire:

- provide with books
- dialogic reading

stage One: initial reading and decoding (6-7 years old)

-child learns relation between letters and sounds, printed and spoken words and can read simple text, sound out new syllable words

-child understands 4000 words when heard but can read about 600

how to acquire:

- direct instruction and practice
- reading of simple stories with words of high frequency (most used words)

stage Two: Confirmation & fluency (7-8 yrs old)

-The child can read simple, familiar & selection with increasing fluency

- listening is still more effective than reading

How to acquire:

- Provide with direct instruction in advance decoding skills through vocabulary activities stage Three: reading for learning the new (9-13 yrs old)

A learner learns new ideas given new knowledge and experiences new feelings

-at the beginning of this stage listening is more comprehensive and at the end, reading is more comprehensive

How to acquire:

- Provide materials with increasingly more complex texts

stage Four: reading at multiple view points (15-17 years old)

Readers read from broad range of complex materials

Reading comprehension at this stage is better than listening comprehension

How to acquire:

- through reading magazines and biological references
- through studying about words and word parts

stage Five: construction-reconstruction (18 years old and up)

Readers read for one's own purposes

Reading at this stage is more efficient than listening

How to acquire:

- through reading more difficult materials
- graphic organizers are very good help for college students
- through context clues

Reading Development And Continuum

Diana Hiatt-Michael

Reading Development And Continuum:

Reading Developmental Continuum Diana Rees, 1994 Learning and assessment strategies are linked to chart each child's individual development through the phases of learning to read from role play experimental reading early and transitional reading to independent and advanced reading Teaching strategies notes on how parents can help and behaviours to be encouraged are included for each phase The emphasis is on children's development of sight words using context but with increasing awareness of complementary strategies With profiles of reading development for students and classes and a bibliography This First Steps project was developed by the Education Department of Western Australia
