The Politico-Legal Dynamics of Judicial Review Theunis Roux, 2018-09-06 Comparative scholarship on judicial review has paid a lot of attention to the causal impact of politics on judicial decision making However the slower moving macro social process through which judicial review influences societal conceptions of the law politics relation is less well understood Drawing on the political science literature on institutional change The Politico Legal Dynamics of Judicial Review tests a typological theory of the evolution of judicial review regimes complexes of legitimating ideas about the law politics relation The theory posits that such regimes tend to conform to one of four main types democratic or authoritarian legalism or democratic or authoritarian instrumentalism Through case studies of Australia India and Zimbabwe and a comparative chapter analyzing ten additional societies the book then explores how actually existing judicial review regimes transition between these types This process of ideational development Roux concludes is distinct both from the everyday business of constitutional politics and from changes to the formal constitution

When the State Speaks, What Should It Say?

Corey Brettschneider, 2016-05-31 How should a liberal democracy respond to hate groups and others that oppose the ideal of free and equal citizenship The democratic state faces the hard choice of either protecting the rights of hate groups and allowing their views to spread or banning their views and violating citizens rights to freedoms of expression association and religion Avoiding the familiar yet problematic responses to these issues political theorist Corey Brettschneider proposes a new approach called value democracy The theory of value democracy argues that the state should protect the right to express illiberal beliefs but the state should also engage in democratic persuasion when it speaks through its various expressive capacities publicly criticizing and giving reasons to reject hate based or other discriminatory viewpoints Distinguishing between two kinds of state action expressive and coercive Brettschneider contends that public criticism of viewpoints advocating discrimination based on race gender or sexual orientation should be pursued through the state s expressive capacities as speaker educator and spender When the state uses its expressive capacities to promote the values of free and equal citizenship it engages in democratic persuasion By using democratic persuasion the state can both respect rights and counter hateful or discriminatory viewpoints Brettschneider extends this analysis from freedom of expression to the freedoms of religion and association and he shows that value democracy can uphold the protection of these freedoms while promoting equality for all citizens
